To The Voters of the First Middlesex Senatorial District.

Holliston, Mass., Nov. 1, 1899.

We, the undersigned, having read the statements published in a special edition of the Framingham Tribune under date of October 27, in relation to Mr. Henry E. Bullard of Holliston, the Republican candidate for Senator, knowing the facts and circumstances leading up to published statements, pronounce said statements false, misleading and malicious; and the fact that they are being distributed on the eve of an election, shows the injury they are intended to work, and we warn the voters of the Senatorial district, to treat them accordingly.

Mr. Bullard is worthy the hearty support of every Republican, and the outrage, perpetrated in the last hours of the campaign in the interest of the Democratic candidate, should meet the reception it deserves. You will make no mistake in giving your cordial support to Henry E. Bullard.

Yours respectfully, in behalf of Holliston Republicans.

H. L. ADAMS,
W. P. GAGE,
GEO. B. FISKE,
J. B. WALFORD.

Messrs. H. L. Adams and W. P. Gage are members Republican Town Committee Messrs. Geo. B. Fiske and J. B. Walford Trustees Savings Bank of Holliston.

—Miss Alice Sawin reported to the police Monday, that her room at her home on Elmwood street, had been entered by thieves, and a number of personal effects stolen.

—A sale of dolls and useful articles by the Farther Lights Society, and of homemade candy by the Young Women's Mission Club, will be held in the parlors of the Immanuel Baptist church, Monday, October 6th, from 3 to 10 o'clock. An entertainment will also be given under the direction of the Farther Lights Society.

—The recording secretary of the Newton Prayer Union would express her obligation to the author, for the loan of manuscript of article published in another column, upon the topic, "The Bible and Individual Christian Life." It was given at the Suffolk West Conference, held Oct. 18, at Congregational church at Newton Highlands.

—Dr. Shinn preached in Grace church last Sunday morning upon the question, "Is there less interest in religion now than formerly?" He gave the views held upon both sides of the question, and then said that the matter resolved itself into the pointed personal question which each one's conscience must settle, viz, "Am I less interested?"

—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tebbets (nee Miss Abbie L. Carpenter of Park street), were serenaded at their home on Summer street, Waltham, last Saturday evening, by about one hundred members of the Masonic fraternity representing Waltham and vicinity. Later the company were entertained in the house, when Mr. and Mrs. Tebbets were presented with a handsome upholstered Morris chair.

—The annual election of church officers for the year 1900, was held in Eliot chapel, Friday night, resulting in the following choice: Clerk, Louis C. Stanton; treas., George N. Putnam; auditor, Joshua W. Davis; councillor for two years, Herbert A. Wilder; trustee of Billings fund, J. Howard Nichols; deacon to fill place of Joshua W. Davis, Charles E. Eddy; president Christian Endeavor Society, Philip H. Robinson.

—The Lowell Sun pays Mr. Daniel J. Gallagher of this city a pretty compliment in its issue of Oct. 31. The Sun says: "The case of Briggs and Philipps of Bedford, charged with larceny of railroad tickets, went to the jury this forenoon. The argument of Lawyer Gallagher of Newton, who appears for Briggs, was one of the most interesting of the session. He went about it in a neat conversational way and illustrated his points with several good stories in striking relief to the ordinary run of minor criminal arguments."

—The meeting on Tuesday last of the Woman's Association of Eliot church was in charge of the literary committee, and a most pleasing program was presented. Readings were given by Miss Grace A. Holmes, a graduate of the Emerson School of Oratory. Miss Holmes delighted her audience with her vivid representation of a charming little romance, which included a race for a bride, and gave other pleasing selections. Music was furnished by a mandolin quartet of young ladies belonging to Newton. The program was followed by tea and refreshments which were served by members of the Eliot Guild, a society of young ladies.

—We wish to call your attention to the prices of provisions given by W. S. Hayden at the Newton Corner Market for Saturday, Nov. 4th.

—In the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening, the opening reception of the season was held and was attended by a large number of members and friends. The rooms were decorated with potted plants and cut flowers, and from 7.45 to 8.15, President S. M. Sayford and Mrs. Moses Clark, president of the Woman's Auxiliary, received informally under the direction of Mr. E. O. Childs, Jr., and a committee. Later in the hall a program was given consisting of vocal selections by the Alpine Male Quartet of Woburn, the Newton Choral Society under the direction of Mr. Henry T. Wade, readings by Mr. Walter H. Barker, and a brief address by President S. M. Sayford, who outlined the policy for the coming year, and by Mr. Philip H. Robinson for the junior department. Refreshments followed, served by the ladies of the Auxiliary.

HEARTY WELCOME GIVEN

TO LORD MAYOR TALLON AND HON. JOHN E. REDMOND, BY NEWTON PEOPLE SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE GIVEN TO THE PARNELL FUND.

Armory hall was crowded Monday evening with prominent citizens of Newton and Watertown, to welcome the Lord Mayor of Dublin, Rt. Hon. Daniel Tallon, and Hon. John E. Redmond. The affair was in charge of the John Boyle O'Reilly Literary Association of Newton and Watertown. The attendance exceeded the expectations and every seat was occupied. American flags and bunting decorated the hall, and on the stage stood a large picture of Charles Stewart Parnell, surrounded by palms and potted plants.

The sentiments of the speakers in the remarks which followed the banquet moved the large gathering, and before any of the company had left the hall a substantial purse was made up and given to the principal guests of the evening, with the request that it be turned over to the Parnell fund.

HEARTY WELCOME TO VISITORS.

It was after 7 when Lord Mayor Tallon and Hon. Mr. Redmond arrived in Newton. They drove out from Boston, and immediately went to the residence of Mr. P. A. Murray on Washington street. Here they were met by a committee of the John Boyle O'Reilly Literary Association, and later taken to Armory hall.

At 8.30 the large company formed in the lower hall of the armory, and to the music of an inspiring march, marched upstairs to the banquet hall.

Lord Mayor Tallon was leaning on the arm of Mr. E. J. Burke, president of the John Boyle O'Reilly Literary Association of Newton and Watertown, while Hon. Mr. Redmond was escorted by Mr. P. A. Murray the toastmaster.

At the conclusion of the banquet Mr. E. J. Burke called the gathering to order. In his remarks he referred to the organization of this society, made up of Newton and Watertown residents, saying that never did any of its members imagine that during its existence would the John Boyle O'Reilly Literary Association of Newton and Watertown entertain such distinguished guests as Lord Mayor Tallon and Hon. John E. Redmond.

"We heard all kinds of prophecies," said Mr. Burke, "but nothing ever led us to suppose that we would ever have as our guests Ireland's greatest living citizen, Lord Mayor Tallon, and Parnell's faithful lieutenant, Hon. John E. Redmond.

"I wish to welcome them. I wish to extend to them a hearty godspeed on the mission which has brought them here.

"Ingratitude has never been among the sins of an Irishman. An Irishman is ever ready to pay the debt of love and gratitude As president of the John Boyle O'Reilly Literary Association of Newton and Watertown I welcome you all tonight."

Concluding, Mr. Burke referred to the subscriptions for the Parnell fund, saying he hoped that those present would remember what was due the efforts of the two distinguished guests from Ireland. Mr. Burke introduced toastmaster P. A. Murray, who in a brief speech presented Mayor Edward B. Wilson of Newton. The toast was, "The city of Newton—its welcome."

MAYOR WILSON'S HEARTY GREETING.

Mayor Wilson said: "Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen, the official duty of Newton's chief executive is congenial tonight when he is called upon to exercise this prerogative of his office to extend the city's greetings to two high dignitaries from across the sea.

"To Rt. Hon. Daniel Tallon, lord mayor of Dublin, and Hon. John E. Redmond, M. P., in behalf of the city of Newton I extend to you both a sincere and cordial welcome and trust your stay with us will be both pleasant and profitable.

"The respect and courtesy so universally shown you, Lord Mayor Tallon, since your arrival in America must be a source of pleasure to you. Your enviable reputation as host, philanthropist and financier, together with your long tenure of office, have all contributed to give you this hearty welcome which you so well deserve.

"We are glad of the privilege of greeting you tonight. We welcome no stranger in the person of Hon. John E. Redmond. Many of us have formerly listened to your thrilling eloquence in behalf of the Irish people, whose cause you serve and love, and we but voice the sentiments of all when we accord you also the heartfelt welcome so deservedly your due.

"We bespeak for you both great sympathy in your mission, the perpetuation of the memory of Charles S. Parnell, the great Irish liberator.

"Ireland has great cause to be proud of Parnell and should properly erect some lasting tablet to his memory. The laying of a corner stone for such a purpose was, we are informed, your last public act before leaving your native shores.

"May such success attend your efforts as shall raise thereon a monument befitting both his character and his deeds."

When toastmaster Murray announced Lord Mayor Tallon as the next speaker the entire audience stood up and cheer after cheer greeted the venerable Irishman. Before Lord Mayor Tallon could speak he was forced to bow his acknowledgment of the continuous applause.

Lord Mayor Tallon made an eloquent address, thanking his hearers for their hearty welcome, and gracefully complimenting the ladies who were present. He referred to the life and character of John Boyle O'Reilly saying that in free America there is sure to come success to every one that deserves it.

Hon. John E. Redmond was the next speaker and made an eloquent speech. Referring to the war with the Boers he said:

"It has been said that England's difficulty is Ireland's opportunity. God grant that when it comes we may be able to take advantage of it.

"This difficulty of England, for which Irishmen have watched and prayed for generations, and which many of them like O'Reilly died without witnessing, may come before many of those in this hall tonight have gone to their graves. Indeed, watching the events that have been happening in South Africa within the past few days, it is difficult to avoid feeling that the crisis may have come upon her.

"And if out of these events should come disaster and dishonor to England, our feelings will be best described in the words of John Boyle O'Reilly, when he wrote that 'God send justice soon and sudden upon her, when the race she has sought to defame will laugh in her face at the black dishonor.'" (Great applause.)

Mr. Redmond then spoke in touching language of the work done for Ireland in his time by Charles Stewart Parnell, and said that although he had not visited the association for the purpose of putting his mission before them the words of the president encouraging and supporting the work himself and the lord mayor were very gratifying, and indicated the success which was already promised for the object which had brought them both to America.

PLEASANT CONCLUSION OF EXERCISES.

Following the remarks of Hon. Mr. Redmond, Mr. John Mulligan sang "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Hall's." Mr. John E Ryan of Boston responded to the toast, "The United States." His speech was followed by the reading of an original poem by Nicholas Dwyer Todd. Mr. Todd's composition was received with rounds of applause.

Ex-Mayor Henry E. Cobb of Newton was next introduced. His remarks were of a congratulatory nature, and were followed by the toast. "The town of Watertown," by James H. Vahey of the Watertown board of selectmen.

Hon. E. J. Slattery of South Framingham, in the course of his address on "Our Sister Cities," made an eloquent appeal for the Parnell fund, which he hoped the large company present would aid in materially increasing. He urged the ladies auxiliaries of Massachusetts to take immediate steps in the work.

Hon. Mr. Slattery's remarks were followed by an address by Mr. John O'Callaghan, who responded to the toast, "The press."

At the close of the speeches the guests of the evening returned to Boston. The floor of the hall, however, was cleared and dancing enjoyed by over 200 couples.

NEWTON'S GOLF CHAMPION.

IN FINAL MATCH FOR TITLE THE REV. E. M. NOYES BEAT E. A. WILKIE 8 UP, 6 TO PLAY.

The championship of Newton tournament, one of the most successful of its kind ever held in the city, was concluded last Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Edward M. Noyes winning the final match 8 up and 6 to play.

The match consisted of 27 holes medal play, and was held on the Centre street links of the Newton Golf club. Mr. Noyes' opponent was Mr. E. A. Wilkie, one of the best known golfers in this section.

Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather, the final match was an excellent contest from start to finish. It was witnessed by a large number of spectators. Play began shortly after noon, and lasted until about 4 o'clock. The following is the score by holes:

FIRST ROUND.

The Rev. E. M. Noyes	4 4 4 7 7 5 4 6 5—46
E. A. Wilkie	4 4 4 7 8 8 6 8 7—56

SECOND ROUND.

The Rev. E. M. Noyes	3 3 5 7 5 6 4 6 6—45
E. A. Wilkie	4 4 5 7 7 6 4 6 8—51

THIRD ROUND.

The Rev. E. M. Noyes	3 4 4 6 6 5 3 5 5—41
E. A. Wilkie	4 7 5 5 7 5 3 5 5—46

The last match in the consolation round was also played Saturday It was won by Percy Gilbert of the Newton Centre Golf club, who defeated Mr. G. H. Phelps of the Brae Burn club by a score of 8 up, 6 to play. Eighteen holes were played, and the score was as follows:

FIRST ROUND.

P. Gilbert—
Out	4	7	3	6	8	7	4	6	7—52
In	3	5	5	7	7	6	2	5	5—45— 97

G. H. Phelps—
Out	4	4	3	6	8	5	5	6	8—49
In	4	6	6	7	8	5	4	7	7—54—103

At the close of the day's play the various players gathered in the clubhouse where the prizes were awarded by Mr. A. B. Cobb as follows: Championship prize, silver loving cup, with elk horn handles, to the Rev. E. M. Noyes; runner-up prize, handsome silver cup, Mr. E. A. Wilkie; consolation prize, silver rimmed and ornamented jug, Percy Gilbert; best medal score prize, gold medal J. Dana Thomas.

The prize winners are all well known Newton golfers. The Rev. Mr. Noyes is pastor of the Newton Centre Congregational church, one of the oldest and largest churches in the city. As a member of the Newton Centre Golf club he has held the club championship prize for the past two years against all comers.

Mr. E. A. Wilkie is a member of the Newton Golf club. He has a wide reputation as an authority on golf, and has one of the largest golf libraries in the country.

Percy Gilbert is a member of the Newton Centre Golf club, and while only fifteen yeasrold, has made a fine showing on the links this year.

J. Dana Thomas, who is only a few years older than Gilbert, is a member of the Brae Burn Golf club. He is considered one of the best players for his age in Newton.

ON THE BRAE BURN LINKS.

A number of matches in the various tournaments now in progress on the Brae Burn links were played off Saturday as follows:

Women's tournament—Mrs. L. Fowle beat Mrs. E. C. Fletcher, 6 up, 5 to play; Mrs. A. B. Cobb beat Miss M. Phelps, 5 up 3 to play; Miss Cobb beat Miss Sanborn, 2 up, 1 to play.

Founder's cup tournament—F. H. Hovey beat E. C. Fletcher, 7 up, 6 to play.

ONE MATCH AT NEWTON CENTRE.

The links of the Newton Centre Golf club were almost deserted Saturday, owing to attractions elsewhere. In the consolation round of the club championship E. H. Kidder defeated Henry Baily 3 up, 2 to play.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.—ADOLPH L. BURIAL OF A PRIEST.

FUNERAL OF THE REV. EDMUND T. BUTLER AT ST. MARY'S IN CAMBRIDGEPORT.

A marked tribute of respect to the memory of a worthy young priest was bestowed last Saturday morning, at the funeral services of the Rev. Edmund T. Butler, which took place at St. Mary's Church of the Annunciation, Cambridgeport. Nearly 100 clergymen from all parts of the state took part in the ceremony.

The Rev. Fr. Butler died on Wednesday of last week, aged 33 years, at the home of his parents, 267 Prospect street, Cambridgeport. Of late he was assistant rector of the Church of Our Lady, Newton. He was a Cambridge boy, and was brought up in St. Mary's parish. The body lay in state all last Friday night, and hundreds of friends from Cambridge and Newton paid their respects to the dead.

The church was decorated in black and white streamers, and the altar was also draped, the marble tabernacle standing out in bold relief.

The Rev. Michael Dolan, rector of the Church of Our Lady, was unable to be present at the services, on account of slight illness. The exercises began at 10 o'clock, when the mass for the dead was chanted by the clergymen, with the Rev. John O'Neill of Manchester, N. H., as celebrant; the Rev. Fr. Anderson of St. Joseph's church, Boston, as deacon; the Rev. Francis X. Dolan of the Cathedral, Boston, as sub-deacon, and the Rev. James Walsh of Roxbury as master of ceremonies. The music was by the sanctuary boys' choir, led by the Rev. Fr. Riley. "Pie Jesu" was sung by Miss M. Aley of Charlestown. Miss McCarthy was the organist.

A eulogy was delivered by the Rev. Thomas Scully, who had known Fr. Butler since childhood.

The pallbearers were the Rev. Fr. Dermody of East Boston, the Rev. Francis Walsh of Salem, the Rev. John Deagan of Milton, the Rev. Daniel Horgan of East Cambridge, the Rev. M. J. Sullivan of Boston, the Rev. James Stanton of Norwood.

The burial was at Holyhood cemetery, Brookline.

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself. A remedy for Nasal Catarrh which is drying or exciting to the diseased membrane should not be used. Cream Balm is recognized as a specific. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail. A cold in the head immediately disappears when Cream Balm is used. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

MR. HANO'S CHARGES.

A HEARING HELD AT CITY HALL LAST FRIDAY EVENING.

The hearing on the charges made against Constable Laffie by Mr. Samuel Hano, was held at City Hall last Friday evening. Mr. Hano asserts that he paid his dog tax to Mr. Laffie and the latter denies it. The many continuances of the case in court were not the fault of Mr. Hano, who was in court each time, with his witnesses, but of his counsel, Alderman J. C. Ivy, who was engaged on a case in the Superior Court, on each day set for the hearing, and could not get away.

At the hearing Mr. Hano claimed that he had given Mr. Laffie $4 to pay the cost of licensing two dogs, and that he had not received any receipts, but had been brought into court for keeping an unlicensed dog. Mr. Hano said that he paid the money at the Readville track, some time in August.

Mr. James F. Mullen of Boston, a friend of Mr. Hano's, testified that he witnessed the transaction and saw the money paid.

Dr. McCauley of Brighton testified that he was at the Readville track last August, and saw Mr. Laffie in conversation with Mr. Hano, and also saw Mr. Hano holding money in his right hand.

Mr. Laffie told Mayor Wilson that his only visit to the Readville track, this year, was on July 13, and on that date he met Mr. Hano, and had a conversation with him about personal and real estate taxes, but received no money. He also stated that he had never received any money from Mr. Hano. At the time he thought Mr. Hano had been drinking.

Mr. John Beals of Newtonville and Mr. John A. Nugent of West Newton, testified to having been at Readville, July 13, and saw Mr. Laffie in conversation with Mr. Hano, but saw no money paid.

Dr. F. W. Webber was called in rebuttal, and said that he had been Mr. Hano's family physician for 12 years, and was convinced by professional investigation that he never drank liquor of any kind. This fact is also well known to all Mr. Hano's friends.

The counsel for both sides made their arguments, and Mayor Wilson took the case under consideration, and will announce his decision later.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR MEMBERS.

NEWTON CLUB ASSEMBLY HALL HOLDS ABOUT 100 OF THEM.

The members of the Newton Club enjoyed a supper and entertainment last Saturday evening, in the club's assembly hall, which was handsomely decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. About 100 members were present.

After supper the company were entertained by Mr. Thomas E. Stutson, and later the Dewey quartet furnished music.

Among those present were: Messrs. Samuel L. Powers, W. H. Pulsifer, J. A. Fenno, E. K. Hall, E. F. Shirley, G. W. Jewett, S. W. Jones, C. C. Butler, C. M. Merriam, A. S. Norris, H. S. Langdon, W. F. "You see, madam, Ivory Soap is really the most economical. The cake is so large that it easily divides into two cakes of the ordinary size. There is twice as much soap as you get in the usual cake of toilet soap. Then it is very economical in use, for although it lathers quickly, it is always firm and hard, even in hot water. As it floats, you can not lose it or leave it to waste in the bowl. We sell it to all of our best trade for general use."

Sarah Hull Chapter.

With a large attendance of members and guests, the Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, opened its season of meetings and social gatherings on Tuesday, Oct. 31, at the Newton Club, Newtonville. The assembly hall at that place was prettily decorated with silk flags, and buff and blue bunting. Potted plants, palms and cut flowers were tastefully arranged about the hall.

The hostesses of the day were Mrs. C. A. Clark, Mrs. J. B. Sanborn, Mrs. G. B. King, Mrs. S. D. Whittemore, Mrs. F. W. Webber and Miss E. J. Wheelock.

The regent, Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris, presided and cordially welcomed the chapter after so many weeks of separation.

There was a pleasing program of vocal and instrumental music, participated in by Mrs. Allan Hubbard, Mrs. Tewksbury and Miss Metzger. Mrs. Ferris read a paper on "My Experiences in the Civil War," and at its conclusion, the vice regent, Mrs. Hornbrooke, in a few earnest words expressed in behalf of the members their warm appreciation of it. Mrs. E. W. Ireland read an entertaining paper, the subject of which was "My Acquaintance with Lincoln, Grant and Farragut in '64–'65."

During the social hour refreshments were served in the ladies' cafe, under the supervision of Mrs. Sanborn and Mrs. Whittemore, assisted by Misses Langford, Coburn, Davis, Clark, Emery, Stanley, Whittemore and Edith Whittemore.

An Old Letter of Talleyrand.

"Private Smith at the Philippines" is a book by a western journalist, which is finding many readers, and it contains the famous letter of Talleyrand, written Nov. 25, 1782, in which that great statesman shows how foolish it would be for France to allow the American colonies to set up as an independent nation. Evidently Talleyrand was an imperialist of the kind familiar with us today, as he uses the same arguments, and treats the matter just as Roosevelt for instance, would treat the Philippine question. The Frenchman writes:

You have doubtless heard of the arrival of M. John Adams, who claims to be an envoy of the American people, but is, of course, a mere tool of that ambitious soldier of fortune, Washington. We are making history today, and it will record the disgraceful policy of the government in completely abandoning French sovereignty in the American colonies, wrested by France from the grasp of England. You will ask why the triumph of our army and navy, and not least of all our diplomacy, should have such a miserable result.

First, this M. Adams, who to the manner of a Cossack joins both ruse and talents and "Yankee" shrewdness, appeals to French honor. He claims that M. de Lafayette assured the rebels that his majesty would allow them to establish their independence, not merely of England, but of all governments such as are recognized among the enlightened nations. Such an assurance would be quite characteristic of the Quixotic marquis, but he neither affirms nor denies making it, probably following some one's advice.

Then the envoy skilfully touches the chord of sentiment, especially when, among his friends the disciples of Rousseau, he quotes from the Declaration of Independence that governments "derive their just powers from the consent of the governed." What madness to pretend to govern with abstract ideas, rhetorical generalities and incomplete notions of equality! These sophistries are always on the lips of subverters of social order. Calonne says that M. de Lafayette considers chivalry a part of the law of nations, and we all know that such theories hold firm possession of his wooden head.

But M. Adams reaches the climax of impudence in asserting that the ragged and half-starved guerrillas under Washington, armed with rusty firelocks and pitchforks, except a small nucleus equipped by our bounty, overcame the disciplined forces of England. While it seems to be true that the English (with a view, doubtless, to render our position harder) made some important surrenders to the rebels in the absence of our forces, yet all was due to the intervention of France, and it was an act of treachery to deny her sovereignty. In fact, it has always existed by virtue of the discoveries of Cartier.

. . . But, in addition, the interests of humanity required that we take possession and guarantee to the ignorant and disorderly population, so long in a chronic state of rebellion, the blessings of a stable government. They are a widely separated, dissimilar, and discordant community, few of which could govern themselves under any circumstances, and an independent nation composed of such elements is an Utopian dream. If left to themselves they would degenerate to the condition of the aborigines, Illini Indians, but they will doubtless fall a prey to some nation not possessed of the fantastic notions of honor which seem to inspire M. de Vergennes.

Green, Newton Highlands, guarantee every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and will refund the money to any one who is not satisfied after using two thirds of the contents. This is the best remedy in the world for la grippe, coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough and is pleasant and safe to take. It prevents any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia.

RALLY IN NEWTON.

LEON EYGES SPEAKS TO THE JEFFERSON CLUB ON EXPANSION AND THE DANGER OF TRUSTS.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Jefferson club was held Monday evening in Newtonville, at which Mr. W. H. Baker presided. Mr. Leon Eyges of Roxbury was the invited speaker of the evening, and he treated the issues of the campaign forcibly, stating that this year was just as important as the presidential year.

Mr. Eyges said: The Democracy is once more united on the great questions of trusts and expansion. Imperialism and monopoly go together. Trusts are private exploitation; imperialism is national despoliation. Trusts enslave us within national limits, while expansion endeavors to carry it beyond the sea. It behooves every citizen to vote with the party that refuses assent to the exchange of the Declaration of Independence for the greed of empire. All other issues bow before these two. "How shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" was the divine sentiment preached once; and, as applied to us, what shall it profit us as a nation to subjugate the whole world and lose the inspired blessing won for us by the constitutional fathers?

The Democratic party stands independent and united again for the grand principles of Jefferson, who prayed for "friendship with all, entangling alliances with none"—principles which should be our daily political cathechism, the disregard of which will belie the existence of this republic.

The Feeling in the West.

Capt. Edwin C. Bennett writes in the Somerville Citizen, of a recent trip in the far West, and some passages in his letter are of general interest, as follows:—

Politically I found the people thoughtful and reticent, and temperate generally in expressions of opinions when drawn out. In St. Louis there has been a consolidation of several German newspapers, under the lead of the Westliche Post, edited by Emil Pretorius, who opposes the policy of the president in the Philippines. This paper will wield a great influence, not only in Missouri, but also in southern Illinois and Iowa, and it is conceded, is in line with the German press generally, which almost unanimously opposed Bryan in 1896.

There seems to be in the popular opinion no place for intolerance and abuse in this discussion. The issues involved are grave, but the existence of the country is not at stake; no party or element monopolizes the patriotism of the people. The debate as conducted by President McKinley, Secretary Long, Senator Hoar, the incomparable, and Gov. Boutwell, has been upon a high plane worthy of the palmiest days of American oratory and statesmanship.

Gov. Roosevelt is too bitter to be effective, rouses too many antagonisms, and is vulnerable. He is undoubtedly brave and capable, but should let the people find it out without so much of his assistance. He acquitted himself nobly in two skirmishes, but has written and talked more concerning his military career than did either Julius Cæsar or Napoleon Bonaparte about their campaigns, and the veterans are weary of his inordinate vanity and oracular utterances.

The best-posted politicians in the West are in doubt relative to the pending elections; the silent voters will decide. The verdict will not be known until the polls are closed. It is not safe to bet on Ohio.

The Home Circle

Superintendent Aldrich.

[Boston Herald.]

It will be pleasing to the many friends of Mr. George I. Aldrich, ex-superintendent of schools of the city of Newton, to learn that he has been chosen to act as substitute for Mr. T. M. Balliet, superintendent of schools of the city of Springfield, during the absence of the latter for a year's vacation and study in Europe. This vacancy will begin on the 1st of next January, at which time Mr. Aldrich will assume charge. Springfield is not only one of the prominent cities of this section, but is also a municipality which has established for itself a high reputation for its schools. It has asked and obtained special excellence in those who have had the supervision of its school work, and hence a man who comes up to the Springfield standard in these respects receives, as it were, recognition which has its value in all educational circles. Mr. Aldrich's Newton experience is too recent for those who follow public school matters in and around Boston to have forgotten. His ability, however, is in demand, even though a certain section of the citizens of Newton did not appreciate excellent service when it was given to them.

Deaths During October.

During the month of October there were 41 deaths in this city. The rate per thousand was 17.83. At present there are 13 cases of diphtheria, seven of scarlet fever and nine of typhoid fever on the records of the Newton board of health. It is said, however, that several of those diphtheria patients numbered among the 13 cases are soon to be discharged from the Newton hospital. There were 14 more deaths in October than in the previous month, yet the number is by no means considered abnormal.

AUBURNDALE.

—C. Ridgely Brown has removed to Boston.

—Hugh Halewood has resigned his position in Weston.

—Mrs. C. L. Wilcomb of Everett is visiting friends in town.

—E. Clark of Auburn street has returned from a visit to Maine.

—George P. Page has entered the employ of A. Mellor, the grocer.

—Mr. Tucker of Winona street has returned from Springfield, Mass.

—Edward Clapp has returned from a visit to relatives in Franklin, Mass.

—Mrs. G. Fred Pond of Auburndale avenue has returned from a visit to friends in Roxbury.

—George Henshaw of Commonwealth avenue has been entertaining relatives from the West.

—Mr. Alexander Comee and family of Newton Upper Falls have moved into a house on Auburndale avenue.

—An important meeting of Auburndale lodge, III, A. O. U. W., was held Wednesday evening in McVickar's hall.

—Messrs. Roby Cordingley and Ben Hammond have been shooting in the woods of Weston this week with varying success.

—Mrs. V. A. Pluta will entertain the members of Riverdale lodge, N. E. O. P., at her home on Rowe street next Monday evening.

—"The Legend of St. Christopher" composed by Mr. Horatio W. Parker will be given by the Cecilia Society of Boston the coming season.

—Michael McCarthy of the Adams Express company is recovering from an attack of muscular rheumatism. This week he was able to be out.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chase have returned to Auburndale after an absence of two years. Mr. Chase has re-entered the real estate business in Boston.

—There are letters in the post office for Mrs. James M. Babcock, Mrs. Henry Babbitt, Miss Gustie Bragdon, Miss Nellie A. Cronin, Mrs. Mary Ellis and Mr. Richard Davis.

—Rev. T. C. Watkins has moved into a house owned by Prof. C. C. Bragdon on Grove street. On Tuesday evening Rev. Mr. Watkins was tendered a reception in his new home.

—The work of reconstructing the front of the post-office building is rapidly progressing, and without a doubt the new brick face of this old wooden block will be looked upon for a time as an improvement.

—Masters Harold and Louis Young, the sons of Mr. Fred Young, entertained a large number of their playmates Tuesday evening with a successful Hallowe'en party given at their home on Commonwealth avenue.

—Judging from the party of business men and prominent citizens who attended the Harvard-Indian football game at Cambridge last Saturday, there still remains some sporting blood in the veins of those whose children are old enough to wrestle with the pigskin.

—This week it has been found necessary to remove a portion of the Newton street railway tracks at the terminus in the square, opposite Thorn's corner. The reason for this action, it has been explained, was because of the fact that the tracks were too long for the safety of teams and pedestrians.

—A flower show will be held at the Congregational church on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, under the supervision of the flower committee. All who have plants or flowers are invited to send in exhibits. Admission free, and the show will be open afternoon and evening. The public are invited.

—Waltham police searched along the river for the body of Fred E. Kierstead, who was thought to have killed himself at Fox island, but without success. Later his wife received a telegram from him, stating that he had gone away and would send for her. Kierstead had been working for a Waltham firm, and left them last Thursday stating that he had a chance to better himself. He had only been married a week when he disappeared.

Six Frightful Failures.

Six terrible failures of six different doctors nearly sent Wm. H. Mullen of Lockland, O., to an early grave. All said he had a fatal lung trouble and that he must soon die. But he was urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. After taking five bottles he was entirely cured. It is positively guaranteed to cure all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs, including Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup, Whooping Cough, 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at all drug stores.

NONANTUM.

—Mr. Vachon is entertaining his sister, Mrs. Boucher, of Lynn.

—Miss Delia Lane expects to open her new store in a few days.

—Mr. Mchan of Cook street is visiting relatives in Brookline.

—The young children of Mr. Bresnahan are quite ill with the fever.

—Mr. John Bowker visited his family this week at Centreville, R. I.

—Mrs. Thos. Cuthbert of California street is ill with pneumonia.

—The young son of Mr. Jeffery Perry was taken to the hospital last Sunday sick with diphtheria.

—Mr. James Kenslea of this place is a democratic nominee for representative to the General Court.

—At the 3 p. m. service next Sunday of the Beulah Baptist Mission Capt. Crockford of Newton will speak.

—The windows in the Manning house on Watertown street have been ordered boarded up by the fire department.

—The first grand entertainment and dance of Club Charette will take place at the Atheneum Hall, Thursday evening, Nov. 23.

—There is some talk of forming a Christian Endeavor society; all those interested are invited to attend the 7.15 p. m. meeting at the Beulah Baptist Mission.

—A peculiar case was brought to the attention of the police of division 2, Wednesday morning, the mystery surrounding which was not cleared away until after a two hours' investigation. About 12.40, while Patrolman Desmond was patroling his route in Nonantum district, he met an aged woman who evidently had suffered a painful injury. In reply to the officer's questions, she was unable to give satisfactory answers, and in a short time Patrolman Desmond realized that the woman was the victim of some mental trouble. He took her to police station 2, where upon examination, it was found that she had received a bad fall and sustained a fracture of the left wrist, two severe cuts in the head and several bruises. City Physician Utley was summoned and attended the woman's injuries. The officers of Sergt. Purcell's division were at once detailed to investigate the case. Soon it was learned that the woman was Mary Boyle, and that she made her home at the house of Hugh Monahan on Cook street, this place. According to the story of the police, the Boyle woman, who is 60 years old, was in her room at the Monahan home when, without the knowledge of any of the inmates, she jumped from a window in the second story to the ground—15 feet. After receiving medical treatment at police station 2, the woman was removed to Newton hospital.

WOMEN do suffer!
Even so-called healthy women suffer!
But they are not healthy!

The marks left by pain are on the young faces of many of our daughters. Pain that leaves its mark comes from a curable cause. If that cause is not removed its influence reaches out and overshadows a whole life. The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so uniformly successful for over a quarter of a century in overcoming the suffering of women, is that it is thorough and goes directly to the cause. It is a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

MUST WOMEN SUFFER?

Miss Emily F. Haas, of 148 Freeman St., Greenpoint, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham—I wish to state that I used your Vegetable Compound with the greatest success. I was very sick for nearly a year with hysteria, was down-hearted and nervous; also suffered with painful menstruation and pain in back and limbs. I often wished for death, thinking nothing would cure me. I had doctors, but their medicines did me no good. At last, by the advice of a friend, I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am happy to say it has entirely cured me.

Jennie Sherman, of Fremont, Mich., Box 748, writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I feel that I must write you and tell you what your medicine has done for me. I had neuralgia of the stomach for two years, so bad that I could not do any work. I had two or three doctors, but did not seem to get any better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and improved from the first, had better appetite, and after taking three bottles of Compound and one box of Liver Pills, can say that I am cured. Your Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine."

Lasell Notes.

A party to the symphony concert on Saturday evening; Dr. Gallagher the escort.

The Hallowe'en "ghost party," in which the spectres that thronged the gymnasium were robed in the time-honored sheet-and-pillow-case draperies of respectable boarding school ghosts, was apparently one of much merriment, no spirit present seeming to have on her conscience any unexpiated sins. There was much munching of chestnuts, and frenzied bobbing for apples, with who knows what Hallowe'en fooleries besides.

The Monday party to the ship Olympia enjoyed thoroughly their unusual treat, and saw much to remember and talk about on board that famous vessel.

Mr. Bragdon took a small party to the Rescue Mission services in memory of Mr. West, so long and so efficiently active there in the noble Christian work of this mission.

Miss Packard and several of the students attended the Tuesday evening organ recital at the Shawmut Congregational church of Boston.

Mr. G. Wharton James of California will lecture at Lasell Seminary, Wednesday evening, Nov. 8, at 8 p. m. Subject, "With the Franciscan Missionaries in California." Nov. 9 at 9 a. m., he will lecture on Browning. Friends are welcome.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

Park Theatre—Last Saturday night James A. Herne concluded the first week of his engagement at the Park Theatre, in his new play, "Sag-Harbor." Mr. Herne opened his engagement to an enormous house, and that his business increased from night to night, until finally at the close of last week people were being turned away unable to secure admission, is probably proof positive that "Sag-Harbor" is to be another huge Herne success like "Shore Acres." James A. Herne, as Capt. Dan Marble, creates another character similar in some ways yet widely differentiated from his famous embodiment of old "Uncle Nat Berry" in "Shore Acres." Mr. Herne is surrounded with a company of extraordinary excellence for the performance of this, his second idyl of New England life; and one remarkably appreciative of our peculiar New England atmosphere as well as keenly intuitive in their understanding and bodying forth of characteristic New England types. Mr. Forrest Robinson, Mr. Sydney Booth, Mr. W. T. Hodge, Mr. Frank Monroe, Mr. John Garrick, Mr. C. Dibden Pitt, and the other able men of the company are obliged to share honors with Miss Marion Abbott, dear old Mrs. Sol. Smith, the Misses Jessie Dodd, Harriet Macdonald and Gertrude Bindley for the excellence of the general performance; and to fairly apportion the meed of praise for individual work. On the whole "Sag-Harbor" may properly be set down as a most worthy successor to that other great Herne play, "Shore Acres," and it certainly appears that the public are determined that it shall be as great a financial success.

Boston Museum—Andrew Mack, the most popular of singing comedians, and a remarkably strong Boston favorite, comes to the Boston Museum next Monday, Nov. 6th, to begin a two weeks' engagement in "The Last of the Rohans," his new Irish comedy drama, which was written specially for him by Ramsay Morris and which had four brilliantly successful trial performances at the Hollis Street Theatre last spring. Mr. Mack comes to Boston almost direct from a six weeks' engagement at the Academy of Music, New York, where he played to the largest receipts known at that house since the original "Old Homestead" productions and where "The Last of the Rohans" was universally commended as the most entertaining play which the comedian has yet offered the public. It affords him the best part he has ever had, and he plays it in a way to make his old admirers more loyal and to win him hosts of new ones. He has four fine songs, "Pat and His Pipes," "Grandmother's Songs," "The Story of the Rose" and "The Jack o'Lantern." Messrs. Rich & Harris have given "The Last of the Rohans" a superb scenic production, and they have surrounded their star with a first class supporting company. Mr. Mack will play the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

THE CITY ELECTION.

It is said that by the new caucus law, caucuses for the city election must be held on Nov. 14th or 15th, which will give just one full week after this to choose candidates. It looks as though there would have to be a good deal of hustling to find enough good men to serve. No contest seems probable over the mayoralty, and from all that can be learned Mayor Wilson will be nominated for a second term without opposition. There has been some talk of trying to induce Senator Harwood of Newton Centre to allow his name to be used, but so far the movement appears to be only talk, and the custom of giving every mayor a second term, makes it improbable that there will be any contest. There is no question but that Mayor Wilson has worked hard for the city, and has endeavored to see that the city's money was economically expended. People will cry for economy, but when an official puts such a policy into practice, it is evident that most people only believe in economy in the abstract. Hence an economical official never has a pleasant task, and even if he does his best, he receives only grudging approval. The full result of this year's economy will not appear until next year, and when the tax-rate for that year is given out, it is predicted that there will be very few grumblers. It is impossible to carry out a policy fully in one year, and therefore it would seem to be only fair to give Mayor Wilson the usual second term, and allow this new policy of economy in Newton to become firmly established.

There will probably be some lively contests over members of the school board. The retiring members are Mrs. Anders and Lawrence Bond of West Newton, F. M. Crehore and Edward E. Hardy of Ward Five, and Frank H. Howes of Newton. Messrs. Bond and Howes will have the support of all who stood for Mr. Aldrich, and as the other members opposed him, it will be interesting to see whether the majority of the school board have the endorsement of the voters.

The retiring members of the board of aldermen are Jesse C. Ivy and Oliver M. Fisher of Ward One, Frank L. Nagle and J. M. Stickney of Ward Two, H. L. Whittlesey and Marcus Morton of Ward Three, Wm. A. Knowlton and Quincy Pond of Ward Four, Thomas White and Walter Chesley of Ward Five, Henry Baily and Alfred S. Norris of Ward Six, and Wm. F. Dana and Alonzo R. Weed of Ward Seven.

THE great profits of the Bell Telephone companies have resulted in the formation of a rival company, with a capital of fifty millions, which has already absorbed all the independent companies, and now the battle will begin. The Massachusetts, Telephone company, which sought a franchise in Newton, is in the new combine, and it is promised that rates will be materially reduced, and the telephone will no longer be such an expensive luxury. There are a great many independent exchanges in the West, where competition has been more active than in this section, and in some of the western states rates are so low that the farmers are generally using the telephone, which could hardly be possible under eastern prices. Probably the competition of this new company will have its effect on rates here and that the Bell companies will not give up the contest without a warm struggle. As Roosevelt says, peace is cowardly and ignoble, and hence the Bell companies will probably engage merrily in the war. If the new combination does not water its stock too liberally it will have a great advantage over the Bell companies.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY and the New England magazine have articles this month by English writers, giving an account of the way England has managed her Malay possessions, with the entire friendship of the natives and to the great advantage of both parties. She first sought to gain the friendship of the natives and to have men represent her who would be capable of earning the respect and confidence of a very sensitive and suspicious people. They had a harder task than we had in the Philippines as the Malays they had to deal with were a savage people, with no claims to civilization, while we had a partly civilized people, who at first received us with great friendship and might easily have been kept friendly if we had left such a man as Dewey in full control. In the English possessions the men sent out are trained for the work and are earnest in their efforts to raise the natives to a higher level and in this they have had a wonderful success. But according to Senator Lodge our object is not to benefit the natives so much as to make money out of them.

FOR the first time in 50 years, John Sherman is viewing an Ohio election with indifference. When told by the correspondent of the Cincinnati Inquirer that the Germans were turning against McKinley he replied: "I am glad to hear it. I have great faith in the people. As you say, the Germans of Ohio are a powerful and thoughtful class, and it is no surprise to me to hear that they are in antagonism to a policy which is abhorrent to those who love liberty." He should hate to see the president beaten, but "fears" he will be on account of his foreign policy, which "cannot be sustained in morals and is in contravention to the American Declaration of Independence and the teachings of the brave men who signed that instrument." The venerable statesman's attitude toward Hanna is shown in the question, "Why does he put his nose into everything?" The same question has also been asked by many other Republicans.

THE reports of the looting of Catholic churches in the Philippines have been denied by Gen. Otis and the administration, but Donahoe's Magazine for November has an article by J. J. Sullivan, a San Francisco newspaper man, who claims to have made investigations among the returning soldiers, and he gives a long list of the names of soldiers, who have spoils from the churches in their possession. These include both officers and privates, and in the list is no less a man than Gen. Funston, who is charged with having taken a gold ornamented robe from the statue of the Virgin in the church in Caloocan, and to have sent it as a present to his wife. Mr. Sullivan claims that everything of value was plundered from the churches, and as he gives a long list of articles and the names of men who have them, it looks as if his story might be true.

AFTER next week some attention will be paid to the coming city election. Up to the present, candidates and issues have hardly been thought of, and unless all signs fail there will be no excitement to speak of. Still one can never predict anything in regard to Newton politics, as a week often suffices to change the whole aspect of affairs.

NEWTON.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Linder and the Misses Linder of Cotton street are at The Tudor, Beacon street, Boston, for the winter.

—On Sunday next, at the Church of Our Lady, Rev. John F. Quirk, S. J., vice-president of Boston College, will deliver the sermon at 10.30 o'clock mass.

—Dr. J. F. Bothfeld has leased the house, 148 Church street, directly opposite the entrance to the chapel of Eliot church, and removed his office there this week.

—At the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday afternoon, boys' meeting at 3 o'clock, with an address by E. M. Robinson, secretary of boys' work for Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

—The Hunnewell Club will have a concert by the Reed Orchestral Club, Mrs. Fannie Holt Reed, contralto soloist, next Thursday evening. A fine program has been arranged and a large attendance of club members and their lady friends is probable.

—Much damage was caused by the storm of Tuesday evening, among the electric wires throughout the city. The linemen were kept busy until an early hour, Wednesday morning, repairing broken circuits and adjusting other damage among the lights and wires.

—Nellie Duane, 14, has been missing from her home at 62 Lincoln court, since Oct. 26. Last evening the police were requested to locate her. When last seen the Duane girl was dressed in a dark green dress with a jacket of dark material. She wore a white straw hat and tan shoes.

—Ten members of the Chestnut Hill Club visited the Hunnewell Club, last evening, and were entertained at bowling, the local club being made up of Messrs. Bailey, J. A. Lord, Ryder, Guy Haskell and Loveland. Refreshments were served and the large company present included a number of ladies.

—The firm of Thomas & Burns have dissolved partnership and Mr. A. W. Thomas will continue the business at the old stand, 12 Centre place. This is the only exclusive fish store in this part of the city, and Mr. Thomas has built up a high reputation for supplying the best fish of all kinds to be found in the market.

—Last Sunday at Eliot church the business men's class considered the "Employer's personal obligations towards his Employees." The speaker was Col. David W. Farquhar. Next Sunday the class will take up, "Would the Consolidation of our Denominational Missionary Societies be a gain or loss for the ends for which they are Established?"

—Mrs. Mary Ann M. Bates, widow of the late Richard H. Bates, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Irving, on Boyd street, Wednesday, in her 65th year. She had lived in Newton for a number of years and leaves several children. Funeral services will be held this afternoon from the house at two o'clock, and will be conducted by Rev. William H. Davis, D. D., of Eliot church.

—The directors of the Newton Home for Aged People gratefully acknowledge the gift of a fine piano from Mr. Edward H. Mason of Newton Centre, the Outlook and Century for the coming year from Mr. Frank A. Day of Newton, also the Newton GRAPHIC and Newton Circuit. It is hoped that other friends will kindly remember the Home, especially at this season of the year, by donations of fruit and vegetables.

—The Simmons brothers, Oscar and John de Vere, have arranged a program of unusual merit for the entertainment to be given Tuesday evening, Nov. 14, in the parish house of Grace church. Their skill as magicians has already been favorably commented upon by Newton people, and won for them no little praise. To those who will attend the performance Nov. 14, a delightful entertainment may be assured.

—While a buggy owned by Mr. Chester Guild of Park street and occupied by Miss H. G. Brown and a coachman, Edward McGrath, was crossing the electric car tracks in Nonantum square, about 10.15 Wednesday morning, it came into collision with an electric of the Wellesley & Boston street railway. The occupants of the carriage were thrown out, but escaped with but a slight shaking up. The vehicle was badly damaged.

—Present indications point to a most successful opening of the Entertainment Club's season, in the Channing church parlors, Wednesday evening, Nov. 15. "My Uncle From India," a wholesome three act comedy, has been chosen for the first presentation and the rehearsals give every promise of first class performance. The active membership of the club has been strengthened with some new material, and the cast for the coming performance will include several new faces, together with a number of last year's favorites. Special attention has been given to the scenery. Elaborate settings will add to the success of the play.

—Society in Boston and the suburbs is deeply interested in a fair to be given at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 10th and 11th, from 3 until 10 p. m., by the Association of Former Students of Miss Hersey's school. The fair promises to be particularly attractive and offers as an unusual feature a series of brief entertainments, given by well known artists, such as Mrs. Barber (monologues), Miss Aagot Lunde (songs), Miss Harriet Shaw (harpist), Miss Heloise Hersey and Miss Anna Hoeke (songs.) The proceeds of the fair are to be devoted to the founding of a scholarship at Vassar College. The public are cordially invited to attend. No admission will be charged.

—Mrs. Herman F. Bothfeld died at her home at Wellesley Hills, on Monday night, after an illness of several months, aged 66 years. She had a large circle of friends both in Newton and Wellesley, and her cheerful, vivacious temperament and pleasing presence made her a general favorite with young and old. Until her removal to Wellesley some twelve years ago, she was active in church and social work in Newton, where she lived for fourteen years. Her husband survives her, and also three sons, ex-Mayor Henry E. and Dr. James F. Bothfeld of Newton, and Charles C. Bothfeld of Detroit, Mich. Simple funeral services were held at the Unitarian church at Wellesley Hills, at two o'clock this afternoon, Rev. Mr. Jaynes of West Newton officiating, and the Ruggles Street Church Quartet of Boston furnishing the music. The interment will be in the Newton cemetery.

—A home wedding of unusual attractiveness took place Wednesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Christie on Cotton street, the bride being their daughter, Miss Nellie Grant, and the groom, Mr. Isaac N. MacRae of Lincoln. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock in the presence of about 200 guests. Rev. Samuel G. Dunhsm, pastor of the Newtonville Universalist church, officiated. The parlors of the Christie home were handsomely decorated with a profusion of white chrysanthemums and roses. Among those present were guests from New York, Cotuit, Hamilton, Lynn and Lowell. The bride was gowned in white brocaded silk and carried bride roses. She was given away by her father, and attended by her cousin, Miss Jennie Gordon, who acted as maid of honor. Miss Gordon's dress was of white muslin and she carried a bouquet of bridesmaid roses. The best man was Archie MacRae, a brother of the groom. Miss Rockett of Malden presided at the piano. After the ceremony the young couple received informally, and later left for their new home in Lincoln.

—Albert S. Adams, a resident of Newton since 1860, passed away at his home on Jefferson street, Wednesday afternoon. Born in Killingly, Ct., Aug. 8, 1816, he was the eighth generation from the first settlers of that name in Braintree, Mass. Reared on a farm which has been in the family for over 200 years, he early learned the machinist trade in his native town. Coming to Boston when 17 years of age, he soon took a leading position as a mechanic, and at 20 occupied the position of master mechanic of the Union Works of South Boston, which he held for 15 years, resigning to fill the office of superintendent of motive power on the Boston & Worcester railroad. Subsequently he was superintendent and general manager of two railroads and of a coal mine in Cape Breton. For the last 15 years he had represented coal mines of Pennsylvania. He was the originator of the Master Mechanics' Association, and its president for many years. He was a man of sterling integrity. Two sons survive. He had long been identified with the Eliot church. The funeral will take place from his residence Saturday afternoon, and the interment will be at the Newton cemetery.

Ewing-Barker.

The wedding of Miss Ida Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Eustis Barker, to Mr. George Clinton Ewing of Philadelphia, took place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride on Park street.

The ceremony was performed at 6 by Rev. W. H. Davis, pastor of the Newton Eliot Congregational church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Sturgis of Natick. Only members of the immediate family were present. Among those who witnessed the ceremony was the grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Henry Barker, and the date marked the 60th anniversary of her marriage.

The bride was gowned in white satin trimmed with duchess lace. She carried a spray bouquet of lillies of the valley. Her only attendant was Miss Bessie Hood, maid of honor, whose dress was of white organdie, elaborately trimmed with lace. The best man was Edward N. Lacey of Boston.

From 7.30 to 9.30 in the evening a reception was held. The parlors were handsomely decorated with palms and white chrysanthemums, and over four hundred guests were present.

The ushers were E. O. Childs, Jr., Allen Emery, William T. Coppins and Fred Sturgis.

The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Barker and Mr. and Mrs. Ewing. At the close of the reception Mr. and Mrs. Ewing left on a wedding tour, and upon their return will reside in New York city.

—The Newton school board has been notified by the Watertown board of health of a diphtheria patient, now under the latter's care, and formerly a pupil of a Newton school. The patient's name is Willis Hamma and his home is on Watertown street, Watertown. The house in which he lives is very near the Newton line and the boy attended a Nonantum school. There are few, if any, diphtheria cases reported in that district, however, but it is not known what action the Newton school board will take in the matter.

—J. Edward Watson, aged 44, a permanent member of the Newton fire department for more than 16 years, died Tuesday afternoon at his home on Washington street, after a long illness. Death was due to a complication of stomach troubles with which Mr. Watson had suffered for six months. On July 6 of the present year he was relieved from active duty, and had been confined to his home since that time. He was appointed a regular member of the permanent force of the Newton fire department in 1883. During his period of active service he was attached to hose 4, engine 3 and at the time of his death was driver of hook and ladder 1. He is survived by a wife and three children. Funeral services were held at St. Bernard's church, West Newton, this morning, a requiem mass being celebrated by Rev. Fr. O'Toole and Rev. Fr. Galligan. There were a great number of floral pieces from the local firemen. The pall bearers were members of the permanent fire force of the city, Messrs. J. A. Williams, F. A. Dutch, Geo. K. Stacy, M. F. Turner, Wm. Young, and John Huggard. Chief Ranlett and Asst. Humphrey with about sixty representatives of the fire department were present. Interment was in Calvary cemetery.

—The home of Past Eminent Commander Clarence Tebbets, corner of Church and Summer streets, Waltham, was the scene of a pleasant gathering, Saturday evening. About thirty members of the Masonic fraternity gave him and Mrs. Tebbets a serenade in the form of a surprise party. A handsome Morris chair was presented to Mr. Tebbets in behalf of his friends. Past Commander Frank K. Porter made the presentation speech. Although greatly surprised Mr. Tebbets responded, thanking his friends for this token of their esteem. Music was furnished by the Waltham Watch Factory Band, and several vocal selections were rendered by Dalhousie quartet. A collation was served in the dining room and the party broke up after a most delightful evening.

—The parlors of the Universalist church never looked prettier than they did on last Monday evening, the occasion being a reception tendered by the society to their new pastor, Rev. Samuel G. Dunham, and his wife. Rev. and Mrs. Dunham received, surrounded by beautiful palms, ferns and chrysanthemums, while on the platform were also ferns and palms, and scattered throughout the parlors, innumerable vases of roses and chrysanthemums. Rev. and Mrs. Dunham were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Dobson of Waltham, and Mr. and Mrs. Phipps of Watertown. The guests were presented by the ushers, Messrs. Ross, Phipps, Jellison, Edgecomb, Hartshorn, Cabot, Zoller and George Phipps. On the platform during the entire evening, Astrella's Orchestra from Boston rendered a varied musical program, pleasing to all present. A dainty collation was served by charming young ladies in pretty evening costumes. They were Misses Lamphier, Trofitter, Calley, Lane, the Misses Bartlett, the Misses Curtis, the Misses Gould, the Misses Ross, Miss Harrington, Miss Parks, Miss Grace Brown, Miss Edith Green. Some extremely pretty costumes were worn by the ladies, making the scene a very bright and attractive one. A number of ministers were also present, from the various Newtons, and the Rev. Ralph Conner of the Waltham Universalist church, Rev. Mr. Thompson of the Methodist church, and Rev. Mr. Loring of the Episcopal church of this place, and Rev. Mr. Noyes of Newton Centre, Rev. Mr. Southgate of Auburndale. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunting, Mr and Mrs. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Cabot, Mr. and Mrs. Green, Dr. and Mrs. Hopkins, ex-Mayor and Mrs. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dennison, Mr and Mrs. Atwood, Mr. and Mrs. Hartshorn, Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf of West Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Dobson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox, the Misses Orme of Waltham, Mrs. Edgecombe, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Miss Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, Mr. H. P. Dearborn, Misses Wellington, Brooks and Barry. It was an occasion long to be remembered by all present.

Both these officers are much interested in their work along these lines, and are especially well qualified to direct the men.

—Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. E. P. Barnes on Otis street took place the wedding of Miss Alice Thorpe, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Thorpe, to Mr. Frederick D. Homer, also of West Newton. The affair was very quiet and was witnessed by some 75 guests. Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, pastor of the West Newton Unitarian church, performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. H. P. Ballard, and Miss Florence Homer, a sister of the groom. The bride wore white satin and carried lilies of the valley. The following acted as ushers: Maj. H. P. Ballard of Malden, Mr. Vincent Goldwaithe of Wellesley and Mr. Roy Lees of Philadelphia.

—Mr. Henry Whitmore was given a complimentary dinner last Saturday evening, by his associates on the Boston Herald, which was an unusually interesting affair. Mr. Whitmore began his newspaper work of the GRAPHIC, and showed such ability that he was invited to take a position on the Herald, and for the past 12 years he has been connected with that paper, most of the time in charge of the real estate department. He now leaves to take a position of trust with the firm of Meredith & Grew. The dinner was a very pleasant affair, and the speeches showed the high appreciation in which Mr. Whitmore is held by his associates. Some twenty were present, including most of those in charge of the various departments of the Herald.

AUBURNDALE.

—Have your wheels stored and insured for the winter at F. J. Read's, 821 Washington street. 3t

—Freeman & Fletcher have several new greenhouses, which will soon be filled with flowers. Their extensive plant is well worth a visit.

—Among those attending the 32d annual meeting of the National Woman's Board of Missions in Syracuse, N. Y., this week are Mrs. E. E. Strong and Mrs. J. O. Means both corresponding secretaries.

Miss Grace Thayer, who has spent two years in Europe studying miniature painting and still-life with the best professors in Paris, has now a studio at 212 Boylston street, Boston. A number of her miniatures were exhibited in the Paris Salon of '98, and a case of miniatures and an oil still-life painting were hung at the Omaha Exposition last summer. A public exhibition at her studio during the month of November will well repay the visitor. People interested in art in its various branches will be cordially welcomed.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Mr. E. T. Gilman, engineer on the branch, has returned from a two weeks' hunting expedition in Maine.

—Washington avenue has been raised several feet for some distance the work being done by the park commission to remove the quantities of rock and gravel left by sewer work.

—Work of improving the park property where the old Paper Mill stood, is now going on. New walls are being erected and will when completed, show a handsome improvement.

—Several houses owned by the park commission have been sold through private competitive bids. Mr. Adam Beck purchased all on Wales street that will be torn and used for fuel.

—Cars on the Natick line were out of service from 10 o'clock to 4 Monday and were then started by power from the Newton line. The system was in a useless condition, the entire remainder of day and night as far as scheduled time was concerned.

—Officer Seaver arrested Patrick Dunn and Robert McCullom Saturday afternoon who were settling an argument in true pugilistic style on Washington street. Each were fined for assault and disturbance in court Monday morning.

WABAN.

—For greater convenience to my patrons I desire to announce that all calls for my services may be transmitted to me by public telephone from Waban drug store, at my expense. Respectfully, Henry F. Cate. tf

High School Notes.

At the meeting of the Athletic association held yesterday, the resignation of Mr. Geo. H. Daniels as secretary was accepted, and Mr. Woodworth was selected to fill the vacancy. Mr. R. Leonard and Mr. Cheney were elected directors of the sophomore class and Mr. Sheriman and Mr. Kidder of the freshman class for the association.

The sophomore team will play the freshman team to-morrow morning.

Newton High will play Waltham High at Waltham to-day. Next Tuesday Roxbury High vs. Newton High at Newton.

The football team was defeated by Hyde Park, Tuesday, by a score of 11 to 0.

What is a commercial rating? It is the backing a store has. What does it do? It brings that store into close and profitable relations with the greatest producers in this country. Is that of any value to the store? The Central Dry Goods Co. of Waltham think it is. If you are a customer of theirs you know why.

SUNDAY READING.

It has recently been suggested that one reason for the decline of interest in religion on the part of some, is the neglect of family worship in families. What was once a common usage in Christian homes has ceased to be so. Only a small proportion of professedly Christian people in this section maintain the family altar. The reason usually given for the neglect is that every one is so busy that it is hard to assemble the members of the family at any part of the day for this purpose.

This is a poor excuse as well as being a very sad admission. It may be that very few families are now able to spend a half hour or so together in the morning and another in the evening in worship, as some did in more leisurely times, but can they not come together for a few minutes?

It does not take much time to read a portion of the Scriptures and to offer prayers for God's blessing. Five minutes will be ample in the morning or in the evening. Five minutes out of the six hundred minutes that make up the ten hours of the day! Five minutes in which to acknowledge the Lord's goodness and to supplicate His guidance and blessing!

VARIOUS PLANS FOR FAMILY PRAYERS.

In some families the usage is to assemble in the dining-room when the breakfast bell has rung, and before the breakfast is served, some one reads a chapter or a part of a chapter from the Bible, and offers prayer.

In other families it is found more convenient to meet after supper, or after the late dinner, in the sitting room or the parlor, and still others just before retiring for the night.

The best time for certain busy families is just before supper while all are waiting. Each family should study the question of what is the time most favorable, and then having adopted an hour cling to it no matter how many inducements there may be to neglect it. The thing to be avoided now is undue length of the exercises. Better spend a few minutes together than not to meet at all,and better the few minutes well and happily occupied than the dullness and weariness which might follow long drawn out readings.

SOME SPECIAL PRAYERS.

A short time before his greatly lamented death, the Rev. Dr. Baker of Brooklyn issued a volume of "Prayers for the Christian Year." While they are all good there are several of special excellence. They are quoted here in part.

FOR PERSONS ABOUT TO BE MARRIED.

Eternal God, Father of all mankind, grant Thy blessing upon this man and this woman who are to be joined together in holy matrimony. Inspire them with Thy Spirit to keep the vows which they will make before Thee. Give them love for Thy dear Son that their affection for each other may be sanctified. Lead them by mutual forbearance and honor and forgiveness and love to become prepared to enter into the higher experiences of divine fellowship. Let perfect peace dwell in their home. Preserve them from all danger and may they so live together in this life that in the world to come they may have everlasting life with Jesus Christ, Thy Son.

FOR RICH PEOPLE.

Almighty God, grant that they who are rich in worldly goods may be kept from the temptations that assail them. May they not walk in the ways of the wicked, to squander their possessions in selfish, sinful pleasures, or to defraud others, or to oppress the poor. Move them always to do that which is good and helpful to men. Teach them how to lift up those who are cast down, and to aid those who are overcome by misfortune. May they rejoice to do good. May they help make this earth an abode of peace and love that it shall become a more worthy entrance to the heavenly Kingdom through Christ our Lord.

THAT WE MAY LEARN BY OUR EXPERIENCES.

O God of wisdom, may we be able to see what Thou art teaching us. May we learn even from our disappointments. Subdue our wilfulness. Help us to realize that the cares and burdens with which Thou dost load us may be Thine appointed means for keeping us from sin. May we always turn to Thee and find Thy forgiving love. Through Christ our Lord.

FOR THE PARENTS OF WAYWARD CHILDREN.

O thou patient Lord, have pity upon all parents whose children have departed from the way of truth. Teach them how Thou dost welcome all those who will return to Thee from their wanderings. Bring these wandering children safe home to Thee. Make it known to such parents if their own imperfections and sins have hindered their children and show them how to amend their own faults. Let love so control their hearts that there be no resentment cherished and no obstacle put in the way of the wanderers' return.

FOR OUR FRIENDS.

O Lord grant Thy help and love to all who are near and dear to us, to those who are about us in our homes, to our companions in daily toil, to those who are united to us by ties of relationship and friendship, to those who are associated with us in religious work and to those who are absent in the flesh but present to our hearts. Keep them tenderly by Thy providence and grace. Let not this evil world have influence over them to do them harm but may they be led safely by Thee into Thy blessed Kingdom eternal.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Capt. C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Galishe. Under date of Nov. 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

REAL ESTATE.

The large lot of vacant land on the corner of Pleasant and Centre streets, Newton Centre, opposite the post office, has been sold to John W. Bowers, who pays a price way in excess of the total assessed value of $8000. The location is one of the best in Newton, being directly opposite the post office. The grantor was the estate of A. T. Crooker, and the final papers have gone to record. The purchaser will improve the land by erecting a handsome brick block, to contain stores and apartments.

George H. Cooke has sold to Arthur F. Atkins 5034 feet of land and a house on Prairie avenue.

A parcel of 8320 feet of land on Homer street and Tariton road has been conveyed by Benjamin R. Gilbert to William H. Flanders.

Emily W. Hyde has purchased 11,823 feet of land on Beacon street from Charles R. O'Donald.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. 1-4 the price of coffee. 15c. and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

GEN. AGUINALDO TO GEN. HEATH.

AN INTERESTING LETTER TRANSMITTED BY W. A. CROFFUT OF WASHINGTON.

MY DEAR PERRY:—

The official censor of Manila was asleep when the paper arrived and crept through the lines, containing your esteemed statement that a commission in the United States army had been kindly offered to me if I would give up. I assure you that the said commission was intercepted. It never reached me; if it had I should have hastened to fling myself into the extended arms of my generous and forgiving Uncle Samuel. It would be a sweet thing if I could revel in the aristocratic atmosphere of the haughty gents who have been to West Point. In comparison with this felicity the liberty and happiness of my people would not be worth thinking of. Of course the possession of an office, though a meagre one, would naturally cause me to forsake my nation and go back on all the principles of my life. You know how it is yourself.

I am sorry that you robbed the mails of their choicest treasures. My people have hardly had strength enough to shoot a gun or throw a stone since the Boston pamphlets ceased to be delivered to Filipino subscribers. It was usual for those pamphlets to be read every morning before breakfast in every cabin in Luzon, to cheer up the women and incite the men to go forth and meet the invaders. In fact, we did not know that it was proper to resist tyrants till we read of it in some of the American newspapers. We were quite astonished when we learned that we had a right to fight for our homes and defend our families. It is a great and mighty discovery, and proves the immense value of the American patent office. But this discovery is so novel and interesting that the "life" of it, as the patent attorneys say, ought to be extended beyond 17 years, for the financial benefit of this ingenious Don Edouardo Atkinson.

If you can get that invaluable commission duplicated, it will tickle me to death. Please send it to me franked and concealed in the center of a disemboweled agricultural report, so that it may not be tampered with by your vigilant vidette at San Frisco.

Dear Perry, consider me your friend for life. AGUINALDO.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

Compliment to Newton.

Bud Brier, in the "Under the Rose" column of the Boston Globe says:

"Lord Mayor Tallon paid a nice compliment to the etiquette of Newton last night which permitted the ladies to sit at the same board with their gentlemen friends. 'Over on our side of the water,' said the lord mayor, 'custom has relegated our wives and fair daughters to the galleries upon such occasions as this. And I am pleased to see your beautiful city of Newton breaking down the barriers of such an uncivilized method by having your lady guests dining at your banquet board. It is an evidence of the refinement of Boston and its suburbs.'

"I understand that the gallant lord mayor has made it a vogue at the mansion house in Dublin to invite lady guests to partake of the festivities upon the same footing as the gentlemen."

Rules for the New Station.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—

I understand through "Grape Vine Telegraph", but now a secret, only officially known, that the Terminal Company are anxious and desirous to make their South Station at Dewey square, the best kept, regulated, officered and manned of all the world's railroad termini. And to do so I learn that they are open to any honest, fairminded advice that can be communicated in person or by mail in writers name, or anonymous if written in courteous and in fair play to all concerned. They intend to be exactly polite, patient, and helpful to all patrons, and they really, candidly wish for the same in return. Already the comfort to the traveller, the assiduousness of all the various employees is in evidence, in their several duties, and few have real cause to find fault. And reader just think of it, you patrons, only a very days ago you were coming and going from the old familiar depot, how many would willingly return to the old and long tried way? But here is the secret. The company have in view to publish in conspicuous places in good print, plain to read and readable, something like unto the following:

"Passengers, or patrons, will please use all parts of the station with the utmost cleanliness, coming to and going from in a quiet and orderly manner." "Keep as much to the right and left as is possible in a crowd." Avoid loud talking and all noise." "Be sure and take the train of cars on the same side of the platform as is the indicator."

"Be sure and demand, or politely ask the services of all the several uniformed aids, inside or outside the station." "It is their duty to be efficient." Having now entered the car of your destination, "Select your one seat; if you have parcels, clothing, etc., immediately adjust them to the overhead racks, the floor iff front of you, or upon your own immediate self, being extremely careful not to place any article on the seat beside you, beyond the moment of your temporary adjustment."

"It is simple, silent politeness on a passenger's part to be ready to welcome the next comer to the favor of a seat next you." "Enjoy the trip, trusting that the long suffering conductors will attend to the proper ventilation, closing of windows, when an annoyance to others, suppressing the ungentlemanly act of placing one or both shoes or boots upon the cushioned seats,and without making yourself conspicuous, await your home."

"Positively do not leave an inside seat, unless outside one is empty, until the car comes to a dead stop." "The latter compliance allows the outside passenger to rise, or if seat is retained, to get by with the least possible friction. It also prevents a strain to the frame of the person politely rising to get into the aisle to accommodate the inner seated." "Very often elderly people being the attentive, receive by the jerk of the car a very severe shaking that bodes no good."

"If instead of rising to allow the insider to leave, it is etiquette to remain seated, but to allow the departing every facility to leave the seat. Quite often to remain seated prevents the outside seater from necessarily crowding the aisle, to the stoppage of those just behind."

"In short and final, do not, unless you are a man, (men are rough) allow yourself to get on a move from an inside seat nor step into the aisle while the cars are moving. Wait 'till cars come to a dead stop and avoid the unseemly jerk backward and forward." "The railroad company and conductors give all the time required to fill and empty the cars, simply asking passengers to be all ready to leave at arrival at destination."

And now, Mr. Editor of the Newton GRAPHIC, and this I trust is open to all other newspapers throughout New England for copy, the above is all I can find out, and it can do no harm to anticipate, and for you to publish this public necessity to favor both officials and patrons. Let us all, patrons on the circuit, do all we can, and begin tomorrow to carry out the above to the letter. I am personally delighted at the advice about any one taking the "unseemly jerk." X. Y. Z.

The Story of Mignon.

The Goethe society of Vienna discovered the real story that lies back of Goethe's beautiful creation of "Mignon," which has passed into so many songs and even into an opera.

This story runs that in 1764 an Italian equilibrist named Caratta went to Goettingen with his troupe. In his company was a child, evidently of good family, who took her part with marked reluctance. The report soon spread that the child had been kidnaped by Caratta, but he fled and escaped all injury.

The fate of the 11-year-old Petronella, as she was called, caused a great sensation in Goettingen. Young poets of the town wrote on the theme, and Daniel Schiebler, one of the university students, collected these poems into a volume. Soon after Schiebler went to Leipsic, where he was thrown much with Goethe and told him the sad tale of little Petronella. A decade later this Petronella became one of the most charming of poetic creations—Goethe's "Mignon."

Ominous.

When Julia, Mrs. Blank's maid of all work, came to her mistress and "gave notice" because she was going to be married, Mrs. Blank said:

"You know, Julia, that marriage is a pretty serious thing."

"Yes'm," replied Julia, "but not gittin married is a more serious thing sometimes, don't you think? Anyhow, it'll be as serious for him as it is for me if we don't git along all right. But then, as you say, gittin married is about the seriousest piece of business a body can ingage in, an mebbe I am a fool an mebbe he's a bigger one. There's no tellin. It's a turrible solemn thing, as I reckon you've found out by this time. Like enough I'll sip sorrow, but so will he. That's one comfort."—Detroit Free Press.

Bracing Himself For the Kick.

"Some men are hard to suit," remarked the real estate agent after a customer had left. "That man, now, will come back here in a week or two and tell me I have swindled him, although I've sold him a suburban lot at half price."

"What will he complain about?" asked the office lounger.

"He'll kick because when I told him he would be within 20 minutes' ride of the city I didn't tell him he'd have to walk 30 minutes to reach his train."—Chicago Tribune.

Ocean Gambling.

Not many years ago gambling was carried on to such an extent on board Atlantic liners, says Chambers' Journal, as to call for prohibitive action on the part of the various companies concerned. Card playing, not only in the smoking rooms, but also in private cabins, was indulged in to a simply ruinous extent. Organized gangs of sharpers continually traveled back and forth between New York and Queenstown and doubtless made a handsome living out of their profession, for profession it was, needing an expert handling of the cards, only to be gained by long and constant practice, a cool head and quickness of perception in reading character.

In consequence of the concerted action of the companies high gambling apparently disappeared, the only practical results obtained, however, being surface ones, as passengers now, instead of openly throwing gold coins or notes on the table, use only silver or copper coins, these acting simply as counters, representing whatever value the players assume to them at the beginning of the game, "nap" and "poker," the two favorite games, the former for the younger men as a rule, the latter for the more seasoned heads, and play still goes on merrily, even though some one lands penniless in New York in consequence.

Steamship Flowers.

It has been estimated that any crack steamer leaving New York for Europe takes with it bouquets worth from $5,000 to $15,000. In a few hours the passengers begin to feel queer and send the flowers out of their rooms. Then, according to the London Chronicle, they are collected by the stewards, carefully sorted over and put into the icehouse, and when the vessel reaches her English port they are sold and the profits divided among the men. American travelers, when they land, often buy flowers from English flower girls in the belief that they are English blossoms, when they are really the product of the gardens of New Jersey or Long Island.—Springfield Republican.

THE SONG OF FRENCH HISTORY.

She, with the plunging lightnings overshot,
With madness for an armor against pain,
With milkless breasts for little ones athirst
And round her all her noblest dying in vain.
Mother of reason is she, trebly cursed,
To feel, to see, to justify the blow;
Chamber to chamber of her sequent brain
Gives answer of the cause of her great woe,
Inexorably echoing through the vaults:
"'Tis thus they reap in blood, in blood who sow.
This is the sum of self absolved faults."
Doubt not that through her brief, with sight supreme,
Through her delirium and despair's last dream,
Through pride, through bright illusion and the brood
Bewildering of her various motherhood,
The high strong light within her, though she bleeds,
Traces the letters of returned misdeeds.
She sees what seed long sown, ripened of late,
Bears this fierce crop, and she discerns her fate
From origin to agony, and on
As far as the wave washes long and wan
Off one disastrous impulse, for of waves
Our life is, and our deeds are pregnant graves
Blown rolling to the sunset from the dawn.

THE DESIRE TO JUMP.

An Unexpected Sensation Experienced by Many Persons.

Many persons who visit Niagara falls find they have a great desire to leap from various points on the several bridges or from one of the numerous points of observation. For this reason, after once having experienced the fascinating sensation that coaxes them on to death in the deep and rapid running waters, they never go near any of the seductive points without being in company with some one who will guard them from harm as a result of what perhaps might be termed by some their weakness.

Many people who have visited Niagara have confessed that the waters of the beautiful river had a weird fascination for them while standing at places where death would be easy by simply letting go one's hold and slipping into the river, and people saved from suicide there have admitted that they knew no reason why they should end their lives, but the scene was so delightful that it coaxed them to seek the peace of death there.

In other places than at Niagara the public comes in touch with folks who, when on an elevation, have a proneness to jump off, and for this reason they keep away from all such danger points. An interesting explanation of this desire is that given some years ago by Professor Low of the army balloon corps. He had frequently invited a newspaper correspondent to make an ascension with him, but each time the invitation was declined.

Later he told the professor of the temptation he had to jump from high places and that he feared making an ascent. For this he was laughed at, the professor stating that the reason people had such desires was that they were full of electricity; that the magnetic current in the earth was the attraction and that what he was standing on carried the current. He also said that up in a balloon the continuity was cut off. Finally the man made an ascension and found that the desire to jump was not present. It is a curious statement.—Philadelphia Record.

Imagination.

Unthinking people have a way of speaking of the imagination as something misty and unimportant, if not positively reprehensible. "Don't let your imagination run away with you," is a sentence which has more than once chilled, if not checked, the enthusiasm of most of us. But imagination is really the master builder of one's most satisfactory life structure, and when it does "run away with" one it becomes the most powerful dynamic in the world.

And what does imagination mean? Simply imagining, building a thought pattern, a mental model, an ideal. "Nothing great was ever achieved without imagination," said Emerson, and certainly imagination is enthusiasm's kindling fire. Imagination "ran away with" Peter the Hermit, and across a continent tramped, with great loss and terrible suffering, thousands of devoted men, following an illiterate and hitherto unknown man, who magnetized himself and his followers by the thought pattern of the Christ tomb free from Moslem possession. The world has the electric telegraph and the submarine cable because imagination took the bits in her teeth and ran away with Samuel Morse and Cyrus Field.

So don't be afraid of imagination. And then focus your energies. More failures in life have been caused by want of direct aim and concentration than by lack of opportunity or ability.—Boston Herald.

Insult Added to Injury.

Colonel Hankthunder called at the office of the local paper to express his mind concerning a typographical error that had appeared in a notice brought in by the colonel himself for publication.

The club with which he was connected had decided to give an entertainment at a public hall for some benevolent purpose, and the notice announcing it closed with the significant words, "Admission fee."

But the printers had unaccountably made it read, "Admission free."

"It spoils the whole object of the festivity," said the irate colonel, pointing at the offending "r," "but I don't mind that half so much as the fact that what has knocked us out is a lettah that has no legitimate existence, sah, in the English language!"—Chicago Tribune.

Serenity.

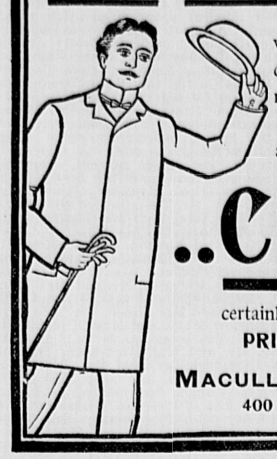

The nervous person, who flies here and there in hopeless despair as soon as responsibility is put on him, who is morose and disagreeably melancholy under sorrow, thinks that serenity is a matter of temperament. But, another one, equally nervous in inherited tendencies, yet who stands quiet and unmoved amid misfortune—who calmly lifts the load and bears it—such a one knows that serenity is a matter of control and is within the reach of every man and woman.—Indianapolis News.

THE BIBLE AND INDIVIDUAL CHRISTIAN LIFE.

BY RALPH J. HAUGHTON, PASTOR EVANGELICAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, NEEDHAM, MASS.

The following address was given at the Suffolk West Conference, held at Newton Highlands, Oct. 18:

The subject which was given to me before the appearance of the program, is somewhat different from that which appears on the program, It may mean the same thing, but its wording is so different that I wish to adhere to it, viz: "The Bible and Individual Christian Life." It is a Christian character that I shall deal with today, for I recognize the fact that a man may have a character which is not Christian. It is a Christian character that we shall think of this afternoon, and the relation of the word of God to that character. In other words, a Christian and his Bible. It is the purpose of the Bible to create not only a character, but a Christian character, not simply a man, but a man of God.

The Bible is from beginning to end, from first to last, the record of a supernatural revelation made by God to men, "the authoritative standard by which religious teaching and human conduct are to be regulated and judged!" It contains all that is requisite for Christian faith, and life, and the attainment of heaven, at least that is the view of the Scriptures in the mind of Evangelical Christendom. The Bible is a book which has to do chiefly with the will of God for men, and it is the doing of God's will that is the business of the man or the woman, the boy or the girl, who is a professed Christian. Old Thomas Carlyle voiced the truth, when one day he said, "The older I grow, and now I stand on the brink of Eternity, the more comes back to me the sentence in the catechism which I learned as a child, and the fuller and deeper its meaning becomes, 'what is the chief end of man? Man's chief end is to glorify God, and to enjoy Him forever!'" Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: "Fear God and keep His commandments, for this is the whole duty of man."

Our first thought then is, the Christian life is a life dominated by the will of God. How many of us have learned it?

What an example our Lord was for us in this, and how He constantly urged it upon the consciences of the people! The great purpose of His life never left Him. What was it? Go back to the 40th Psalm, come with me to the 10th of Hebrews, "Then said I, Lo I come, (in the volume of the Book it is written of me), I delight to do Thy will O my God!" And from the very first record that we have of any spoken word of Christ when a boy twelve years old, when He said to His mother, "I must be about My Father's business," right on, until the close, when upon the heights of Calvary, He said, "It is finished," that was His business, and His delight, to do the will of God. "My meat," He said, "is to do the will of Him that sent Me, and to finish His work." And when one day, it was told Him that His mother and His brethren were seeking Him, He said, "Who is My mother? and who are My brethren? Whosoever shall do the will of God, the same is my brother, and my sister and my mother!" We might continue this thought, but time will not permit.

Let me simply allude to His own utterance in His sermon on the mount: "Not every one that saith unto Me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of My Father which is in heaven," so that the question which is of most importance to every Christian, or should be is, "Am I doing the will of God?" But how can I do the will of God unless I know what it is; and how can I know what it is unless I study the Book which is the revelation of His will?

Now I come to my own personal relation to the Book as a Christian. Now I approach the subject assigned to me, "The Bible and Individual Christian Life."

It takes time to be a Christian. When in the thick of his campaigns with the Pope and the devil, Martin Luther said that he found he could not get along without two hours each day for private devotions But many of us do not feel such a need for we do not have any campaign with the Pope, nor do we have any with the devil, for it is a question whether there is a devil, and whether there be any sin. Isaac went out into the fields at eventide to meditate, but the majority of us find little time for rest, and less for meditation. And the great trouble with many Christians is, that they spend so much time with the world and with worldly things, and beneath worldly influences, that they find no time scarcely to go alone with God to learn His will for them, and indeed little desire, for the world has robbed them of it.

It is told of Prof. Huxley that on one occasion when the British Scientific Association met in Dublin, he arrived rather late in the city. Fearing that he would miss the address of the president, he rushed from the train to the station platform, jumped into a jaunting car, and said breathlessly, "Drive as fast as you can, I'm in a hurry!" Cabby whipped up his horses, and proved to be another Jehu. Suddenly it flashed on the passenger, bouncing about the vehicle in a most undignified manner, to call to the driver, "Do you know where I want to go?" "No your 'oner," was Pat's haughing rejoiner, "but I'm driving just as fast as I know how!" It is the way that a good many of us are going, going, but not going anywhere in particular. We are all the while in a tremendous rush. We are so much with the world that the world and worldly ways cling to us, and follow us right into the Holy of Holies whenever we enter thereby. And yet, we wonder why so much of the world is inside the church, and inside our hearts. We need no longer wonder brethren.

How long shall we keep on spending our lives in an atmosphere of worldliness, with a Sunday morning service thrown in when there is no indication of a shower, and wonder why we are spiritually so lean and infirm? How long shall we keep on loading our tables and our libraries with newspapers and magazines and the latest fiction, and wonder why it is that we do not enjoy the Christian life better? Why it is simply the old fable of the horse fed on diminished rations day by day, until he died.

He was almost educated up to the point of surviving on a single straw a day when he inconsiderately died. What else could he do? He couldn't live; there was nothing he could live on. But O, it is a far more serious thing when it is a human soul that is experimented on. There is a minimum of spiritual food below which no individual can safely go,

There are numbers of Christian people who give one the impression of being unfed. Their bodies seem well fed, and certainly well clad, but ah, what is going on in the regions of the soul? disintegration and decay and death. If all the day long a man is so busy with bonds, and speculations, and real estate, and the getting of a few dollars, and never thinks of Christ, how can he become Christlike? If you think of money and the things of this world fifty times for the once you think of God, what image is your soul likely to bear? Do you tell me it does not matter which way the rudder swings so long as the ship moves? But which way are you moving? Is it towards God, or is it away from God? It is important for the Christian to find that out, and if there are some things in your life which are swinging you away from God, you had better call a halt, and in the presence of God, alone with Him, find out what is the matter.

What is food for a body, is not food for a soul, as what makes excellent food for a little canary bird is no food for a horse. Dollars and cents, bank books and speculations, newspapers and novels, dancing parties and whist clubs, Sunday papers and gadding, frollicking Sundays, what kind of food is all this for a soul, made to do the will of God, and to please Him in all things? These are the things that cause the real powers of the soul to wither and decay. I have known a Christian mother to lie in her hammock all Sunday afternoon and well on into the evening reading that curse of the spiritual life, the infernal Sunday newspaper, and then I have seen earnestness pass away into coldness, and spirituality dwindle into worldliness. Our whole Christian life today is in danger of being awfully mammonized, and our Divine Lord raised the voice of warning when He said, "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon." "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." By the way that we here in America rush and hurry, saint and sinner alike, you would hardly believe that we think Christ spoke the truth, when He uttered that word.

The trouble with the average Christian life in America today, is not difficult to find. It can be found in the worldliness and unbelief that lie entrenched within the heart. More than one minister, as he has witnessed the utter worldliness of his people, has felt a necessity to preach a sermon to prove the existence of the soul. A sermon on that subject would not be out of place in many a church.

The flippant, light-hearted, irreverent attitude which is so often assumed in relation to the great biblical facts of sin, atonement, death, eternity, judgment and divine sovereignty is not conducive to the development of Christian character. Our Master's kingdom is not of this world. And our Master has no lot nor part with the "declared doubt, and audacious rationalism, and impudent irreverence, and unrestrained selfishness, and formality in religion, and the prayerlessness and secularism" which are so characteristic of the closing days of the nineteenth century. Worldliness and spirituality cannot agree. The lack of Christian earnestness today and the hiding of the world within the heart of the church we may well deplore. Our God is our Father, but He is King as well, and our happiness and peace are insured only as we obey His laws.

Now having noticed quite hurriedly how our life becomes sordid, and materialized, let us pass on to observe how it may become more worthy of ourselves and more acceptable to God, having seen how "the inner life fails, let us see how it grows."

Not so many months ago, Mr. Moody in the columns of a New York religious paper said, "May I not give voice to the profound conviction that the greatest need of the church of Christ today is the study of the Word of God. Everywhere I go, I am meeting with weak Christians, those who are "trying" to be saved; those who have no assurance of salvation themselves and utterly powerless to reach those about them who are without God and without hope in the world, and that because they are not grounded and settled in the truth; and then he went on to say, "Do we not need to be reminded of Paul's farewell message to the Ephesian Elders, "I commend you to God and to the word of His grace, which is able to build you up, and give you an inheritance among all them that are sanctified." No doubt we do "Desire the sincere milk of the word," says Peter. What for? That ye may grow there by." There is the relation of the Bible to personal individual Christian life, but the pity of it is, as our saintly Phillips Brooks put it, "Religious people read the most superfical books of religious sentiment, but do not meet face to face the strong, exacting, masculine pages of their Bibles." "All Scripture," says Paul in his letter to Timothy, "All scripture is given by inspiration of God." Yes, but what else? What is it given for? "That the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work." "Receive with meekness the implanted word," says James, "which is able to save your souls." "Save," mark you, not merely to comfort and enlighten, and quicken, but to save. All this is in harmony with the words which conclude the 20th chapter of St. John's precious gospel, "These are written that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing ye may have life through His name."

Now I do not think that I need quote any further to show from the word itself what its purpose is, which we have seen, is to "build up," to make the man of God a "complete man," to save his soul, to give him the knowledge of eternal life.

A little girl when writing her geography lesson one day, said, "The Arctic Ocean is used principally for purposes of exploration." But that is not the design of the Book at all. It is a Book to believe in. It is a book to live by. It is a book to die by, It is not to be handled as a hand book of science, or of controversial history or theology, but as the classics of the soul. Its practical aim is the building up of Christian character. When we come to it for the moral and spiritual blessings that it gives to our own heart, and use it for the nourishment of our own moral and spiritual life, then many of the difficulties which now trouble us about the Bible will vanish. The more we live upon its words, and the more we live out its words, the more assured we shall be that God is speaking to us.

So many Christians feel certain of so little. No wonder when you look at the little faith they have in unseen things. This is the victory that overcometh this world. Even our faith, Ah! me, it is no wonder that so many of us find ourselves unable to overcome the world, the flesh and the devil. Only look at our faith. No man can make another believe if he only half believes himself. No man can lift other men on the rock unless his own feet are there. No man can work conviction in his fellow men unless conviction has swept hesitation out of his own mind, and cleansed his own heart of doubt. It is high time to cease preaching that it does not matter what a man believes so long as he lives right. It does matter what a man believes. If his faith is not right how can his life be right? What we want to be sure of is that this Book is the word of God, and that our Christ is the only possible Saviour for this world, and then we shall find ourselves swept on and on by this conviction, for then we shall have something in our hearts with which to overcome the world, and that something will be "our faith."

But this faith must live on something. It needs food, and this food is the word of God. Food on the table will do me no good. It must be eaten and digested and assimilated to benefit me, and so with food for the soul.

You remember how our Lord in His beautiful parable, described the sower as he goes forth to sow, and the seed, He paused to say, is the word of God. Some of it falls by the wayside, and some of it on the ground where there was only a thin layer of soil over the rock, and some fell on the ground where thorns and briars were so thick that they crushed out its light, and some fell on ground where it had sufficient soil to mature.

These represent different characters of men and women. There are people who hear the word (but in passing by), and the word gets no admission to the heart. There are people who hear with enthusiasm, but do not receive the truth into the inner depths of their life, and have no power to endure. There are the worldly, (and O how many of these), who want to be religious, but their religion gets crowded out by the cares of this world, and the pleasures and lusts of many things, and by the deceitfulness of riches. And, thank God, there are those who, having heard the word with honest and good hearts, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience. These are they who "receive with meekness the implanted word which is able to save their souls."

It is to the man who listens, who takes time to hear the voice of God in the inner chamber of his own heart, that the word addresses itself and becomes a living word. Let us stop reading about the Bible and read the Bible. Let us see that it is a lamp to our feet and a light to our path. The exhortation of the apostle to "examine ourselves whether we be in the faith" was never more needed than today. And it becomes a vital question whether in your own inner life there is that tranquility, that stillness, that attention, that reverence that make it possible for you to listen to, and welcome the implanted word which is able to save your soul, for only in these conditions do I believe the word can become the seed and power of a new life.

If we find that this world is coming in upon us with so much force and power, that we have no time for this, let us stop right where we are, and tell the world that it must stop its inroads upon our hearts, or we will stop them, and most of us will find that we shall have to do the stopping with a tremendous will power, assisted by God's grace,

And when we come to this Book we shall find ourselves face to face with a Book which brings us into the presence of God. It sends its clear light right into our inmost souls. It shows us, and makes us feel what sin is. It reveals to us (when we are in such a mood), where the secret sin is hiding itself in our heart, and it says, "God can't approve of that." "If you hold on to that, you must let go of God." Why, there is no Book like it to reveal a man to Himself. There is no Book like it to show a man the sinfulness of sin. There is no Book like it to bring a man into sympathy with the eternal and unseen things, and show him his own condition in the light of the countenance of God, and when we approach it let us not forget that its aim is to make us not simply well rounded men and women, but men and women of God.

Let me show you from the experience of one Christian woman how many treat their Bibles. A Christian woman said to her pastor, "My life is a disgrace to Jesus Christ." I don't understand why it is. "Do you study your Bible every day?" "O no," she answered, "but I study it occasionally, when I have time."

A baby was lying in a carriage near by, and the minister said, "Now suppose that you should feed that child once in two hours today, and once in six hours tomorrow, then, let it go without eating for two or three days, (you were so busy), and then go back and feed it once in two hours next day, and keep up that process. Do you think the child would grow?" "Why no," she said, "I think it would die." "And yet, that is just the way you are treating your own soul. Today you study the Bible an hour, to-morrow fifteen minutes, and then you do not study it for a whole week." Is not that the condition of many Christians in our churches? May it not be the condition of some of us right here in this conference? What is the use of a Christian profession without the Christian experience?

What good is the name on the church Book if it is no where to be found in the Lamb's Book of Life? What is the use of the form of godliness if we know nothing of its power? What is the use of a name to live if we are dead? Let us as we go from this conference give ourselves to the searching of the Scriptures. Let us make the Bible the supreme Book. Let us not be content to accept what other men say and think and write about the Bible. What we want is no second-hand knowledge of its messages, we must be personally acquainted with its contents. We must hear it speak to our hearts. We must accustom ourselves to go to it as a Book of God's words. And the experience which the two disciples had on their way to Emmaus shall be ours, when they said, "Did not our heart burn within us while He talked with us by the way, and while He opened unto us the Scriptures."

"O precious, holy Book of God,
There are no words like Thine,
The tones that angels bend to hear,
Breathe through these lines Divine,
And, come, with love's own melody,

Hopeless and Helpless.

The consequences of a diseased condition of the stomach and digestive and nutritive system are most disastrous to the whole body. One by one every organ may become involved. The misery is maddening. The most extreme cases of "stomach trouble" and the evils resulting from it have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood and builds up the body with sound healthy flesh.

"I was taken with severe headache," writes Thomas A. Swarts, Box 103, Sub-Station C, Columbus, Ohio, then cramps in the stomach, and my food would not digest, then kidney and liver trouble, and my back got weak so I could scarcely get around. I just gave money to the doctors whenever I thought they would do me any good, but the more I doctored the worse I got until six years passed. I had become so poorly I could only walk in the house by the aid of chair, and I got so thin I had given up to die, thinking that I could not be cured. Then I saw one of my neighbor boys and he said, "Take my advice and take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and make a new man out of yourself." The first bottle helped me so I thought I would get another, and after I had taken eight bottles in about six weeks I was weighed and found I had gained twenty-seven (27) pounds. I have done more hard work in the past eleven months than I did in two years before, and I am as stout and healthy to-day, I think, as I ever was."

—Mrs. S. E. Cobb has sold her estate at the corner of Bowdoin and Forest streets, and lately vacated by the Rowan family, to Mrs. Sweetser, who with her sister, Miss McKenzie, a teacher in Hyde school, will occupy it as soon as the repairs are made. The Rowan family have taken the King house at the corner of Lake avenue and Hyde street.

—As will be seen by a notice in another column the partnership between Messrs. Thomas & Burns, fish and vegetable dealers has been dissolved and Mr. Thomas will continue the business. His old friends and patrons in this place will receive the same attention as formerly and Mr. Thomas hopes for a continuance of the friendly relations that have always existed.

—A successful Hallowe'en party was held on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Mansfield. Hearts was played and 1st prize was won by Miss Madge Morse and Mr. H. C. Holman, 2nd by Miss Manson and Mr. Levi, consolation by Miss Edith Manson and Mr. Bailey of Boston. An elaborate supper was served at 11 o'clock, with Hallowe'en games and tricks at 12 o'clock.

—Rev. Richard Winsor, who has been a missionary in India for 30 years and is now about to return, and with his family has been residing at Auburndale for the past year, gave an address at the Methodist church, on Sunday evening last, on the Famine and Bubonic plague, which was so disastrous in that country, and also his efforts towards the establishment of reservoirs for water supply.

—Rev. Manuel C. Marin, who came from Spain when a lad and received his education here, graduating a few years since from the Newton Theological seminary, was wedded to Miss James of Newton Centre, and was sent out by the Baptist Missionary society for missionary work in Barcelona, Spain, has returned to this country on leave of absence for a year, and with his wife and daughter has taken a suite of rooms at No. 950 Boylston street, in a house belonging to the Crafts estate.

—The Methodist church was filled last Sunday evening at the union service with the Congregational church, to hear Rev. Richard Winsor, a missionary of the America Board in India. He spoke in a very interesting manner on the late famine and plague in that country, of which he was an eye-witness and one of the relief committee, when a million perished. A hearty and brief praise service was followed by some fine selections rendered by the quartet composed of Miss Cook soprano, Miss Elsie Warren contralto, Mr. Moore tenor, and Mr. G. B. Warren bass and director. Mr. Stone presided at the organ most acceptably. The whole service was very interesting.

—There was a large attendance at the Congregational sociable held on Wednesday evening in the chapel, and for the entertainment a "Book Sociable" was the first in order, which was the guessing the name of a book by a costume or some emblem attached to the clothing worn. Then followed piano solos and songs by a lady and gentleman from Medford, reading by Miss Rhodes, cantata by six little girls, with Mrs. Gorton at the piano, assisted by her daughter in the reading part, and, lastly, the announcing the names of the books, which was of much interest. The sociable was in charge of Mrs. Draper, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Shaw, Mr. Draper and others. Refreshments were served, consisting of cake and coffee. Mrs. Jones and Miss Sweetser poured the coffee, and a large committee of ladies and gentlemen acted as waiters. Mrs. Draper and those associated with her are to be congratulated on the success attending their efforts.

—To the Rev. Ralph J. Haughton of the Evangelical Congregational church at Needham, for the loan of manuscript of article published in another column, entitled, "The Bible and Individual Christian Life," the recording secretary of the Newton Prayer Union is deeply grateful for being enabled to present this paper in behalf of the work of the Union. It was read by its author at the afternoon session of the Suffolk West conference held at the Congregational church, Wednesday, Oct. 18. It is an able and timely presentation of the prevailing state of things in our churches to-day. "The topic was not treated for the intellectual pleasure it might afford, but for the awakening of worldly, unconcerned Christians, and it is high time that not only Congregationalists but all Christians should spend more time getting the laws of God into their hearts. As Mr. Moody said the other day, 'Many of us have religion all in our heads; we want to get it in our hearts.'"

—At the Second Baptist church last Tuesday evening occurred the marriage of Mrs. Josephine T. Abbott and Franklin A. Evans. The ceremony, which was at 7 o'clock, was performed by Rev. C. W. Allen, assisted by Rev. C. D. Crane, formerly of Concord, N. H., and about 250 guests were present. A reception followed in the ladies' parlor until 9 o'clock, the ushers being Messrs. B. W. Godsoe, C. L. Wilcox, W. F. Abbott and J. A. Abbott. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Evans will make their home in Greenfield, N. H.

—About 6.55 Monday evening, as a car of the Newton & Boston street railway, bound for Newton Highlands, was passing along Eliot street, near Circuit avenue, it suddenly left the rails, but before striking any obstacle came to an abrupt stop. The street and a portion of the sidewalk were plowed by the car wheels. Several windows in the car were broken and many of the passengers received a severe shaking-up. Mary E. Farrell of 9 Lyons court, Watertown, reported that she had sustained an electric shock. She was attended by a physician and removed to her home in the police ambulance.

—The spirit has moved a number of public-spirited citizens to consider the advisability of establishing a free reading-room in this village. Upper Falls has every right to possess such a public institution, and without a doubt there are many who would greatly appreciate it. Several of the other villages are fortunate enough to have them, and it seems as though the residents of this village were able to support a similar branch of the Newton Free library. Already the management of the Saco & Pettee machine shops and the management of the Newton silk mill have signified their willingness to contribute $50 each, and without doubt many residents would respond liberally. A meeting will be held next Thursday evening in the hall of the Quinobequin association on High street, when the matter is to be publicly considered.

Does Your Baking Powder Contain Alum?

Prof. Geo. F. Barker, M. D., University of Penn.: "All the constituents of alum remain (from alum baking powders) in the bread, and the alum itself is reproduced to all intents and purposes when the bread is dissolved by the gastric juice in the process of digestion. I regard the use of alum as highly injurious."

Dr. Alonzo Clark: "A substance (alum) which can derange the stomach should not be tolerated in baking powder."

Prof. W. G. Tucker, New York State Chemist: "I believe it (alum) to be decidedly injurious when used as a constituent of food articles."

Prof. S. W. Johnson, Yale College: "I regard their (alum and soluble alumina salts) introduction into baking powders as most dangerous to health."

In view of such testimony as this, every care must be exercised by the housewife to exclude the over and over condemned cheap, alum baking powders from the food.

Baking powders made from cream of tartar, which is highly refined grape acid, are promotive of health, and more efficient. No other kind should be used in leavening food. Royal Baking Powder is the highest example of a pure cream of tartar powder.

A Successful Entertainment

Is helped in no small degree by a programme handsomely printed on good paper by an artistic printer. By distributing such a programme among the people who may be expected to buy tickets, sales may be increased, and profits correspondingly. Good printing always pays for itself wherever it is used. You can get fine programmes and cards of admission printed so attractively that they will be irresistible, at the Newton Graphic Office.

STYLES and . . PRICES

Are the main factors of Success.

WE ARE

on record in both of them. Pictures and prices on paper do not indicate the value of a garment, but call and look over our line of

Ladies' Underskirts

and you will find we are Up-to-Date in every respect.

WE HAVE the best Black Underskirts in this State at

75c, $1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 1.75, 1.98, 2.25, 2.50, 2.75, 2.98, 3.00, 3.50, 3.98 and 4.00

We bought a large lot from the manufacturer because by so doing we found we could save from $4 to $6 on a dozen.

WE WANT to be put on record as selling black Underskirts at from 15 to 25 per cent. less than our competitors. Put us to the test.

FOR THOSE of more esthetic taste and larger purse we have prepared a line of —Mr. Charles C. Bothfeld of Detroit, Michigan, was in town last week, to attend the funeral of his mother, which took place at Wellesley Hills, last Friday.

—In the parlors of Channing church last evening the first sociable of the season was held. Supper was served at 6.30, at which the gentlemen were guests, and later a social hour was enjoyed.

—Next Sunday evening, the choir of the Eliot church will give a motet of Neidlinger, entitled "Jerusalem." This work has never been sung in this vicinity, and is very interesting, being composed for chorus, quartet and organ.

—Mr. John Gordon of Boston will address a gathering of the members of the Young Men's Club of Eliot church in the church parlors, next Tuesday evening on "My Experiences with the English Army in Egypt and the Soudan."

—Hon. Hermon E. Hibbard and Mr. F. O. Stanley have been enjoying a trip to Hot Springs, Va., and have been having some fine shooting in the mountains. They have a Stanley motor carriage with them, and are astonishing the natives with the new invention.

—One of the most enjoyable of the many social gatherings recently held in the parish house of Grace church was the supper and sociable of the Helping Hand, last Monday. About 150 persons were present. Miss Brown of Cambridge, and Chorister Glines were the soloists. A mandolin club of young ladies played a number of pieces.

—It is said, as illustrating the hard work of some of the letter carriers in Newton, that one carrier put in six hours' work before he got through his first delivery. He had two other deliveries to make later, but the law forbade his working more than eight hours in any one day. There is evidently need of extra help.

—In the parlors of Channing church, Tuesday evening, Rev. Dr. Hornbrooke gave the first in the series of talks on Alfred Tennyson's great poem, "In Memoriam." This reflective poem was written by the late poet laureate shortly after the death of his friend, Arthur Henry Hallam, and Dr. Hornbrooke spoke of how it was received, and is now one of the classics of English literature. The next in the series will take place next Tuesday evening at 7.45.

—In the vestry of the Baptist church last Monday, a sale of dolls and home-made candy was held. The doll table was in charge of Mrs. Sondericker and the Farther Lights Society, and the candy table, Miss Gertrude Cummings and members of the Young Women's Mission Club. The afternoon's entertainment consisted of an exhibition of magic by Mr. Henry Edwards of Cambridge, and in the evening the Farther Lights presented a program of song, recitation and dialogue entitled, "Curious Cradles in Different Lands." A satisfactory sum was realized.

—The choral service and the cantata of "The Holy City" in Grace church, last Sunday night, brought together a very large congregation. The music was exceptionally good. The solo parts were finely rendered and with telling effect. The choruses were accurate and well sustained. There was no lack of vigor where strength was called for, and in the more delicate passages the results of careful training were very evident. It is announced that every Sunday night in December there will be special musical services. These will be free to all.

—A pleasant social event of the past week was the observance of the 80th birthday of Mrs. Maria R. Holmes of Channing street. She is an old resident of this place and last Friday her many friends called to offer their congratulations. She was the recipient of many gifts and a quantity of cut flowers. A dinner was provided by Paxton, and served about noon. Among those present were her sisters, Mrs. McCobb of Boothbay, Me., and Mrs. J. H. Cormack of San Francisco; her nieces, Mrs. Ervine of Bath, Me., and Miss Hutchinson of Reading; Mrs. Gaylord, Mrs. Atwood, Mr. Drew of Plymouth; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson and son of Abington; Mrs. Bailey and daughter of Weymouth; Mr. Delano, Miss Harlow of Dorchester; Mr. and Mrs. Russell of Cambridgeport; Mrs. Moore of Manchester, N. H.; Mrs. Worden and daughter, Mrs. W. F. Whittemore, Miss Katherine B. Whittemore, Mr. Albert F. Whittemore, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Frisbie, Mr. F. D. Frisbie, Mr. R. D. Holt, all of Newton; Mrs. Theodore Mansfield and daughter, Miss Butnam of Waltham; Mr. and Mrs. Hodgman of Melford.

—Miss Earle was in charge of the meeting of the Epworth League Society at the Methodist church last Sunday evening.

—Mr. J. N. Clark and family are moving out of their home on Pearl street and will make their future residence in California.

—Mrs. Smythe and her daughter, who have been out of town for some time, have returned and are at the Wesleyan Home on Wesley street.

—Aban, Trowbridge & Co. have rented the Godding house, 704 Washington street, Hunnewell Hill, to Miss A. Stone of Concord, Mass.

—Mr. Leonard, one of the secretaries of the International Y. M. C. A. committee, was the guest last week of Mr. S. M. Sayford of Hyde avenue.

—At the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday, boys' meeting at 3, in charge of Mr. Alden A. Howe. Men's meeting at 4, speaker, Rev. Dr. William H. Davis.

—Rev. E. E. Powell, Ph. D., of Cambridge, formerly a missionary in Rome, and recently returned from a three years' course of study in Germany, will preach at the Methodist church next Sunday morning.

—The regular sociable was held in the parlors of Eliot church last evening. A supper was provided under the direction of the Woman's Association, after which an entertainment was given, in charge of the young people.

—Members of the Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., who are interested in getting up a play for the benefit of the chapter, are invited to meet at the home of Miss Langford, 90 Waban Park, to-morrow, Saturday, at three o'clock.

—Fancy turkeys 20 cts. per pound; New York State turkeys, 18 cts. per pound; fancy chickens 20 cts. per pound; New York State chickens, 16 2-3 cts. per pound; fresh killed fowl, 15 cts. per pound. Newton Corner Market.

—Mrs. George F. Wright of Pearl street died at Wellesley, Wednesday, after a somewhat protracted illness. Funeral services will be held from the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the interment will be at Mount Auburn.

—Miss Mary Sloan, who has been for many years the head clerk at J. H. Bacon's dry goods store, has retired on account of ill health, and is succeeded by Miss Rena Atkins, who has been connected with F. H. Stearns & Co., Boston.

—Grace church was well filled Sunday evening by a representative audience to hear the vested choir render Gaul's "The Holy City." The soloists were Mr. C. N. Sladen and Masters Potter and Glines. The service was under the direction of Mr. E. A. Barrell, assisted by Mr. H. T. Wade.

—A class of twelve under the direction of Prof. Walter Vreeland of Boston, began Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A., a course of twenty lessons on the banjo, mandolin and guitar. The class will meet Saturday evenings and all wishing to become members of the class must do so at once.

—About twenty-five members of Mr. Roberts' Bible class held a social gathering in the parish house of Grace church, Tuesday evening. Addresses were made by Mr. Roberts and Mr. Howard Whitmore, and a social hour was enjoyed. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

—Mr. Halsall's pictures of the yacht races are being exhibited at the Hunnewell Club, the management having secured promises of the loan of the whole set es. The picture of the last race is now being painted and when finished will have its first public exhibition at the club house.

—Miss Margaret McLaughlin gave a very pleasant progressive whist party at the home of her sister, Mrs. Reese, on Emerson street, Tuesday evening. Enough were present for five tables, and the prizes were won by Miss Gould, Miss McLaughlin, Mr. Pierce and Mr. Reese. After the game refreshments were served.

—The Ladies' Social Circle of the M. E. church will meet in the church parlor Wednesday, Nov. 15, at 2 p. m., to cut and make the aprons, for which their gentlemen friends have presented the material. Supper will be served at six o'clock, followed by an entertainment under the direction of Mr. Frank Jones and Miss Beatrice Aston. Admission is free and everybody is cordially invited.

—The Monday Evening Club held its annual meeting at the residence of Col. D. W. Farquhar, Pembroke street, Monday evening. Mr. J. W. Davis was chairman and the officers elected were C. S. Ensign, secretary; F. E. Stanley, W. B. Blakemore, Rev. C. H. Daniels, committee of arrangements; A. W. Fuller, Rev E. H. Byington, committee on membership. Five minute talks on vacation experiences were given by the members.

—At their future home at 159 Nonantum street, Wednesday evening, took place the marriage of Mrs. Sarah Gallagher of Lowell to Mr. John Little of Newton, who holds the responsible position of foreman for Mr. Edwin Gay of Waverley avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. Holmes, pastor of the Methodist church. The bride's attendant was her sister, Miss Martha Kirk of Lowell, and the best man, Mr. William J. Irving. Only the family and a few friends were present, and a reception followed. Mr. and Mrs. Little were the recipients of a number of beautiful gifts from their many friends.

—Mrs. Nancy Manning Sawyer, widow of Elisha Bullens of Chicopee, died on the fifth instant in the ninety-first year of her age, at the home of her son, Mr. George S. Bullens of this city. Services were held at her home on Tuesday, conducted by the Rev. C. E. Holmes of the Methodist Episcopal church, assisted by Dr. G. W. Shinn of Grace Episcopal church. The burial was on Wednesday in the family lot at Chicopee. Mrs. Bullens was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church of Newton for thirty-one years. One daughter and two sons survive her, Mrs. Catherine E. Bradley, George S. Bullens and Albert N. Bullens, all of this city.

—Four moderate price tenements to let. Inquire of Burns, Cole's block.

—Mrs. Albert Cutler of Maple street, who has been quite ill at her home, is able to be out again.

—Mrs. Charles Smith of New York is in town visiting her aunt, Mrs. French of "The Weld."

—Mr. John T. Burns has leased the Estabrook house on Pond avenue, to Mr. Vining of Haverhill.

—Mr. Harry Mason of F. A. Hubbard's drug store is in poor health and contemplates taking a vacation.

—J. Henry Bacon is selling a 7-hook Foster lace real kid glove, fully warranted, for $1.69. Have you tried them?

—After 20 years experience, Mr. Burns has mastered the art of cutting hair to suit the most particular. Room 3, Coles block.

—Hind quarters, legs or loins of fancy lamb, 14 cts. per pound; fore quarters, 8 cts. per pound; first cut rib roast of beef 16 2-3 cts. per pound. Newton Corner Market.

—Without doubt the parlors of Grace church parish house will be well-filled next Tuesday evening when Messrs. Oscar and De Vere Simmons will present their original sleight of hand entertainment. Tickets may be obtained at Hubbard's.

—Mr. N. K. Putnam died at his residence on Vernon street, this morning, after an illness of nearly eight years. He had been a resident of Newton for nearly thirty years. The funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at his late residence.

—Mr. Dudley Hornbrooke, for two years in the employ of a large mercantile house in New York City, has been given a route through the west. His many Newton friends will be pleased to hear of his advancement.

—Learn to talk French. Twenty lessons for $2.00 to Y. M. C. A. members, Prof. P. G. de la Rochelle, teacher. Class every Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, Newton Y. M. C. A. Join now and get the entire course.

—President S. M. Sayford of the Newton Y. M. C. A., who has been investigating the condition of the young men of Newton, will give an address on the "Reasons why a local Association is Needed," at Eliot church next Sunday, during the morning service.

—Business men's class at Eliot church next Sunday, the topic, "In what way can the work of the Young Men's Christian Association be made to reach more of the people for whom it was organized," will be opened by Mr. S. M. Sayford.

—The Helping Hand Chapter held a social and supper in the parish house of Grace church, Monday evening, at which there was a large attendance. In the dining room the tea table was presided over by Miss M. S. Perkins in Chinese costume, and the coffee table by Miss Elizabeth Holmes in Swedish costume. A musical entertainment was also presented by a ladies' mandolin club, Master Everett Glines and other talent.

—Judging from the demands for tickets for the opening performance of the Entertainment Club, to be held next Wednesday evening in the Channing church parlors, an unusually large-sized audience will be present at the initial production of the season of '99-'00. The executive committee is confident that "My Uncle from India" will be given a meritorious production and point to the remarkable smoothness of rehearsals as evidence of this fact. The director, Mr. Wright, and members of the cast, have been hard at work, and without doubt their efforts will be crowned with success. Tickets for the season and for single performances may be obtained at Hubbard's.

—The sudden death of Mr. Charles H. Warren for about thirty years a resident of this village, occurred at Crown Point, Indiana, Nov. 6th. He was returning from Arizona, where he had passed his winters for the last fourteen years, and where he went ten weeks ago, hoping to regain his failing health. As he steadily grew worse he started to return, and got as far as Crown Point, where his strength failed. He was obliged to stop off at a hotel, where he soon after died. Mr. Warren was for many years a partner in the firm of Bunting & Warren, and was well known in Newton. He leaves a widow and one daughter, Mrs. John W. Brittan of Westboro. The funeral will take place from his late residence, 19 Howard street, Mt. Ida, Saturday, Nov. 11th, at 11 a. m.

THE ALUM BAKING POWDERS.

NAMES OF SOME OF THE PRINCIPAL BRANDS SOLD IN THIS VICINITY.

The recent discussion in the papers of the effect upon the human system of food made with alum baking powders and the opinions that have been published from noted scientists to the effect that such powders render the food unwholesome, have caused numerous inquiries for the names of the various alum powders.

In this and many other states of such importance do the food authorities deem the matter that the names of alum powders are officially made public, and in two states at least the laws provide that there shall be printed upon the labels of all packages of this class of powders, the statement that they contain alum.

Information as to the list here given has been obtained from the official report of the Massachusetts State Board of Health, from the Agricultural Department chemist at Washington, and from other equally reliable authority:

BAKING POWDERS CONTAINING ALUM.

DRY YEAST.....Contains Alum.
R. B. Davis & Co., New York.
DAVIS' O. K.....Contains Alum.
R. B. Davis & Co., New York.
PILGRIM.....Contains Alum.
Pilgrim Baking Powder Co., Boston.
WASHINGTON.....Contains Alum.
Washington Baking Powder Co.
HANLON'S.....Contains Alum.
Hanlon Bros., Norwalk, Conn.
BOSTON.....Contains Alum.
Boston Baking Powder Co., Boston.

In addition to these, it is learned that many grocers are selling what they call their own private or special brands. These powders are put up for the grocer, and his name put upon the labels by manufacturers of alum powders in New York, New Haven, Boston, and elsewhere. The manufacturers, it is said, find their efforts to market their goods in this way, greatly aided by the ambition of the grocer to sell a powder with his own name upon the label, especially as he can make an abnormal profit upon it. Many grocers, doubtless, do not know that the powders they are thus pushing contain alum and would be actually contraband in many sections if sold without disguise.

It is quite impossible to give the names of all the alum baking powders in the market. They are constantly appearing in all sorts of disguises, under all kinds of cognomens, and at all kinds of prices, even as low as five and ten cents a pound. They can be avoided, however, by the housekeeper who will bear in mind that all baking powders sold at twenty-five cents or less per pound, are liable to contain alum, as pure cream of tartar powders cannot be produced at anything like this price.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

The aldermen surprised themselves and nearly all their constituents, except those who expect nothing but surprises, at last Tuesday's evening session. In fact the meeting contained a series of surprises. The first was the announcement that Ray had won in 1st Middlesex Senatorial district.

This of course was but a side issue, yet it was like all the events which followed, decidedly interesting.

To think that the board should dispose of the annual budget in one meeting and to think that that meeting was adjourned before 12.30 a. m., Wednesday, is almost beyond comprehension.

To think again that the board should vote to deprive itself of the pleasure of riding home in carriages by doing away with the appropriation for the purpose, and again to contemplate the spectacle of four aldermen, returning to their homes in the police patrol wagon, was something to make the worn out reporters smile, although their pockets were filled with notes of the edifying debate, and they "certainly had troubles."

About the budget there is much to say, of course, and much to omit out of consideration of those board members, who used their hats for telephones, or better, megaphones.

There were many sad cases of ignorance, and many pathetic examples of inconstancy, yet taken altogether, everybody felt satisfied, and happy faces that surrounded the "breakfast" table after adjournment showed no one harbored any ill feeling.

It was just about 8 o'clock when Chairman Knowlton called the board to order immediately hearings were opened and then closed (all in silence) on the petition of the Newton & West Roxbury Street Railway Company for locations in Newton Centre, and also on the petition of Banks Bros. to locate a steam engine in Ward Seven.

AUBURN STREET HEARING.

A representative company of Auburndale residents gathered in the aldermanic chamber and were ready to be heard on the petition of citizens that the Wellesley & Boston Street Railway Company be granted a location on Auburn street from Washington street, West Newton, to Riverside.

Mr. Farley—It is an apparent fact at the present time, that every main village in the city of Newton has for its main street, a wide attractive thoroughfare, and one that is a feature of the town as well as the village itself. These streets have been built by a large expenditure of public money. It is also true that every main village of this city is approached by a thoroughfare from its adjacent villages, that is attractive, wide, and a credit to the city.

This is not true of Auburndale, for Auburndale has not yet a wide thoroughfare, by which it can be approached from other villages. We take advantage of the fact that a petition is before you for a railway into Auburndale. I feel that it is no more than just that Auburndale should ask for, and have, what the other wards have had. Auburn street, through which this railway is petitioned for, is an old street in the centre of the village, and only enough money has been spent upon it to keep it in ordinary repair. It is so old now, that the trees make it over-shaded, and it is a dark and dismal thoroughfare. We believe that Auburn street should be widened in a thorough and comprehensive manner once for all. Something has been said about the loss of trees on that street as a result of the street widening. In the first place, there are altogether too many trees on that street, and it is necessary to have some cut out. If the widening could be made on the north side, which is the most natural one, the trees could then be leit on the south side, to shade the street from the direct rays of the sun.

For many years, Auburndale has had very little in the way of general public improvement in the street line, with the exception of Commonwealth avenue, which, by the way, was not placed where most of the people of Auburndale wished it. We believe this is a work that should be done, to bring Auburndale into direct communication with the other villages. It is a very roundabout route at present to reach Auburndale from West Newton, and it is necessary to change cars at the corner of Washington street and Commonwealth avenue, if you come from West Newton to Auburndale, or go by the way of Lexington street, which usually necessitates a long wait at the corner of River street.

Alderman White—About what would be the cost of this work?

Mr. Farley—I have not the remotest idea. I thought the city engineer would draw this out.

Mr. Farley then introduced Mr. Hardy, chairman of the Auburndale Improvement Society, in the absence of its chairman, Mr. George M. Fiske.

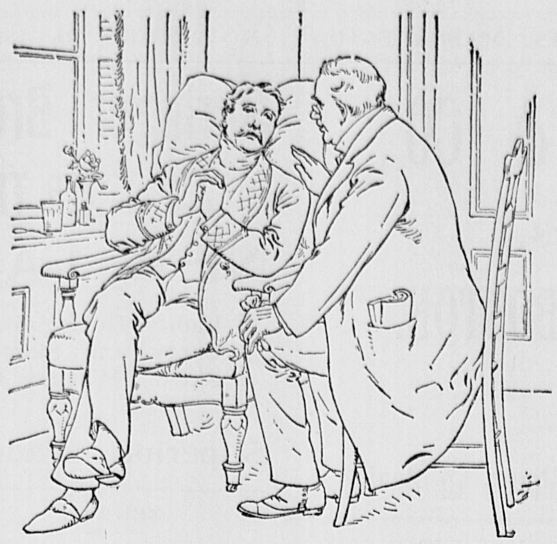

Mr. Hardy—There is one point which I think could be mentioned in addition to what has been said, that there is considerable portion of the people of Auburndale who are dependent on some means of locomotion. I speak especially of those who attend the Catholic church. There is no means by which these people can get to church, except to walk. It is the only street for a main thoroughfare, (Auburn street,) and it is so deeply shaded that it is very undesirable at night. I signed the petition with a great deal of pleasure, and I want to endorse the action of the Village Improvement Society, of which I am a member. In a postal received from the chairman, Mr. George M. Fiske, he says that he regrets his inability to be present, and wishes me to say that he enters heartily into this matter. Mr. Frederick Johnson was then introduced by Mr. Farley, and said:

"I am as deeply interested in this end of the village as anyone who has spoken, I think, and I hope that your board will look favorably upon this petition."

Mr. Ashenden then stated that he had been a resident of Auburndale for many years, and he could say that there was no direct route from Auburndale to the other parts of Newton, and that Auburn street should be widened and a street railway laid in that street.

Mr. Charles Brown then spoke briefly in behalf of having a railway constructed through Auburn street. He said they were very much in earnest in asking for this, and hoped they would not be kept waiting two, three or more years for it.

Mr. Wm. T. Farley then said that the widening should be made on the north side, as it would be less expensive than on the south side, as there are so many vacant lots on the north side. Said that the church would be willing to give the land necessary for the widening, on condition that the city would make the alterations which would be necessary.

"Doctor, what is free alkali?"

"The alkali used in the manufacture of soap is a strong chemical and is destructive of animal and vegetable tissue.

"Pure soap is harmless, but when the soap is carelessly or dishonestly made, alkali is left in it and it is then said to be 'free.' Soap containing free alkali should not be used where it may do damage.

"In the medical profession, in sickness, in surgery and in the hospitals we use Ivory Soap because it is pure and contains no free alkali."

IVORY SOAP IS 99 44/100 PER CENT. PURE.

COPYRIGHT 1898 BY THE PROCTER & GAMBLE CO. CINCINNATI

Mr. Henry E. Bothfeld then spoke briefly of the need of a more direct line of street railway to Auburndale, and told how much the railways now in operation had done for the city, towards saving expense, as another High school would probably have been necessary on the south side of the city, if it had not been for the five cent fare on the street railways.

Mr. Farley then emphasized three facts: 1st—The benefit it would be to High school children going from Riverside and Auburndale; 2d—The convenience for people living in Newton and Newtonville, etc., getting to the Boat Club and the recreation grounds, and 3d—The convenience it would be for the people of Auburndale in getting to the Newton Club, Masonic Hall, and other places in various parts of the city.

President Knowlton asked if there were any remonstrances, and Mr. Wm. H. Magne stated that he desired to remonstrate against the railway going through Auburn street, unless the tracks were placed in the centre of the street, and he desired to be given a hearing before the railway committee before this location is given.

Mr. Henry A. Hazen then stated that the village was well accommodated at the present time and did not require a railway in this street. It would also be a great expense to the city, and to him it seemed an unnecessary one.

Mr. Southgate then stated that if the cars on Commonwealth avenue could be run as often during the winter as they are in the summer, and made to stop at each stopping place, that Auburndale would be much better accommodated than at present.

The hearing was then closed.

COMMUNICATIONS AND PETITIONS.

Communications and reports were then received from city officers, and a request was received to hold the caucuses on Monday evening, Nov. 20th, and the City Clerk was instructed to comply with the several conditions.

Alderman Whittlesey then presented a petition relative to Highland street extension.

Also petition for concrete sidewalks from Valentine street to Berkeley street. These petitions were referred to the highway committee.

Alderman Warren then presented three petitions for street lights, and asked that hearings be called for Nov. 15th, at 7.45.

Alderman Dana then presented a petition from the Auburndale Improvement Society requesting the city government to make such appropriation as would be satisfactory to remove the nuisance on Grove street; also recommending the extension of the public sewer in Grove street, and requesting that Grove street be re-surfaced its entire length.

Referred to sewer committee.

A petition was received asking that drain and sewer be removed from land of Frederick Johnson in Auburndale, and this was referred to the sewer committee, by Alderman Dana.

Alderman White presented a petition for a concrete sidewalk, and it was referred to the committee on highways, without reading.

Alderman Lothrop presented petition of Mr. Brady, for transfer of licenses for public carriages, and moved that it be granted without reading. The license was to be transferred to H. A. Bosworth.

A petition was received from John C. Barthelmes, et al., for plank sidewalk on Langley road, Boylston street, and Jackson street.

Alderman Baily—I wish to say that it is where there is no sidewalk at the present time, and it is a continuation of the present sidewalk. The petition asks for a plank walk, but they will be satisfied with a gravel walk I think. I think this is very necessary, and I am going to ask the board to grant it without reference.

It was then moved that this be referred to the street commissioner, with the request that it be granted, and that it be left to the discretion of the Mayor and Mr. Ross, whether it be built of plank or gravel.

The communication of Mary Desmond relative to damages caused to her land by the construction of a brook drain on Institution Hill, Newton Centre, was referred to the proper committee.

The petition for the widening of Auburn street was referred to the street railway and highway committee for joint consideration.

The claims committee reported recommending settlement of certain claims and appropriation of $150; relative to claim of Mary C. Lyman, that original recommendation be adopted; relative to order for abatement of assessment on Newtonville drain.

The finance committee reported relative to estimate of receipts and expenditures for 1900; recommending appropriation of $500 for expert accountant on treasurer's books; recommending transfer of $2500 from treasury receipts to appropriation for poor out of almshouse; recommending leave to withdraw on petition of call men, fire department, for increase of pay.

The committee on highways reported recommending certain sidewalk assessments on Hollis street; recommending construction of certain concrete sidewalks; relative to laying out, etc., of Court street; recommending leave to withdraw on claim of John A. Evans.

The journal committee reported relative to approval of records.

The committee on licenses reported recommending granting license for intelligence office to Ellen O'Neil, Ward Three.

The committee on sewers reported recommending sewer construction in Hammond street, and Woodman estate, Ward 6, and in Montvale Crescent, Ward Six.

ORDERS.

An order granting the school board a hearing on its petition for additional land to be added to the Williams school site, was adopted.

An order appropriating $250 for the selection of plans for a new fire station for hose 6 at Newton Lower Falls was referred to the public property committee. It was explained by Alderman Lyman that the abolition of the present building, made necessary by the improvements being done under the direction of the Metropolitan park commission, compelled the erection of a new building.

It was also ordered that Dec. 12th should be the date for the municipal election.

These orders were also adopted: appropriating $150 for settlement of certain claims; making sidewalk assessments on Hollis street, Ward 7; relative to laying out etc. of Court street, Ward 2; assigning hearing on taking land for sewers, Woodman estate; assigning hearing on taking land for sewers, Montvale Crescent; Alden street, Ward 6; Lake avenue, Ward 6, and Rice street, Ward 5; transferring $2,700 from any unexpended accounts to poor out of Almshouse and appropriating $500 for examination of treasurer's books by expert accountant.

THE BUDGET FOR 1900.

There were 18 members present to consider this important document Messrs. Fisher, Norris and Ivy being absent.

In the beginning the total of the budget was $1,100,943.02 (that is according to the finance committee's report) and the estimated receipts for '00 were $285,000. After three hours of discussion and action, largely discussion, however, the figures of the budget were $1,098,708.02 and those of the estimated receipts were $282,500.

A decrease is apparent and how it was reached can be understood by the following brief story of what happened to the budget in the hands of the board.

Alderman Whittlesey delivered as his opening address, a disertation on economy. He scolded the board for its extravagance and stated that the city would not be financially prosperous until the board stopped expending money which it did not have.

He thought the entire amount would be wisely cut down at least $50,000. He referred to the free-handed and generous manner which appropriations and expenditures were made, saying they were diredtly in opposition to his views.

The following judicious cuts were recommended by him: highway department $32,000, police $10,000, assessors $2,000, auditor $1,000, engineer $3,000, conveyance of pupils $350 and the balance should come from the school department and the $50,000 would be complete.

Alderman Whittlesey then moved that all salaries over $1500 be reduced 10 per cent. This motion, though seconded by Alderman Morton, was not carried.

A member of the finance committee had to explain the necessity of appropriating $700 for the assessor's block system before that item was allowed to pass.

Alderman Whittlesey said that the amount of $2,000 covering the salaries of seven assistant assessors could be stricken out, and the services of these men be dispensed with. His motion was seconded by Alderman Morton, but was lost. The original figures for the assessors department remained as recommended by the finance committee—$12,700.

Although the Ward 3 member thought $1000 should be taken from the auditing department, this remained as at first $2,900.

Alderman Morton took up the theme of extravagance. He wanted $500 taken off the $4,500 appropriated for the board of printing and stationary, but it wasn't.

When the appropriation for the charity department came up there was anxious inquiry as to the cause of the $2,000 increase over the mayor's figures.

Alderman Nagle explained that the city had had an unusually large number of insane patients to care for and that the number was steadily increasing.

Alderman Whittlesey desired to know if the increase in insanity cases was due to the high taxes.

Alderman Nagle suggested that long sessions of the board of aldermen were partly responsible.

The appropriation for the charity department remained as recommended by the finance committee: $24,650.

In the city clerk's department $7,000 was recommended both by the mayor and finance committee. This amount was not changed.

Under the head of city messenger's department was the item of $700 for carriages for the aldermen.

Alderman Dana suggested giving each alderman $25, that it might be expended according to the wishes of the aiderman.

Opposed to this were Aldermen Baily and Weeks. Some members, they thought, could often walk home while others who were forced to ride by long distances, might soon expend more than the $25.

It was finally voted to wipe out the appropriation altogether and provide for this feature out of a separate account.

The engineer's department was next to be laid before the executioneers. They did nothing to harm it however, though Alderman Whittlesey, seconded by Alderman Morton, thought there could be made a decrease of $400.

The appropriation for the fire department was the next stop. Owing to a misunderstanding on the part of Alderman Lyman some delay was occasioned and the finance committee was busy making explanations. The Ward 4 alderman required

EVENING SESSIONS.

The Board of Assessors will hold evening sessions at City Hall

NOVEMBER 15th and 17th, '99.

From 7.30 to 9.30 o'clock P M.,

AND ON

NOVEMBER 22d from 7 to 10 o'clock P. M.

For the assessment of poll taxes according to the following Section and Chapter of the Acts of 1898.

Section 20, Chapter 548, Acts of 1898.

If a male person resident in a city or town on the first day of May was not assesed for a poll tax, he shall, in order to establish his right to assessment, present to the Assessors a statement, under oath, that he was on said day a resident of said city or town and liable to pay a poll tax therein, and also a list under oath of his polls and estate, and shall also produce before the assessors two witnesses, who shall testify, under oath, that they are registered voters of the ward or town in which such person desires to be registered, and that the statement of the applicant is true.

Any male person becoming a resident of a city or town after the first day of May and desiring to be registered as a voter, shall present to the assessors a statement under oath, that he has been a resident of such city or town for six months immediately preceding the election at which he claims the right to vote, and shall also produce before the assessors two witnesses, who shall testify, under oath, that they are registered voters of the ward or town in which such person desires to be registered, and that the statement of the applicant is true.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

more information which was agreeably furnished by Chief Randlett. Finally the appropriation was allowed to stand at $51,225 or about $1,000 above the mayor's figures. The appointment of a permanent hoseman made the difference.

The next in line was the health department. Although the mayor recommended an increase of $300 in the agent's salary, a majority of the board did not look upon it favorably. Alderman Dana made an explanation of the many added duties now incumbent upon the agent of the board of health, but his remarks were ineffectual.

The health department appropriation remains $16,620.

In the Newton Hospital figures the finance committee saw fit to subtract $500 from the mayor's recommendation. The sum now is $2,000.

The inspection of wires department will stand $6,152.50 and the law department is $1,300.

In the Newton free library appropriation, $600 is provided for a reading room at Newton Upper Falls. The action is taken with the understanding that the residents of that place subscribe an equal amount. The sum of $1,000 is also provided for the new Auburndale branch. The aggregate figures are $16,360.

The police department figures as recommended by both the mayor and finance committee were $71,023.

Alderman Whittlesey moved that this amount be reduced $10,000. He believed in the reduction on general principles. He also moved that all salaries in this department over $1500 be reduced 10 per cent. He did not state that the salary of the chief of police was the only one to which this rule could apply. Both motions were seconded by Alderman Morton and both were lost.

The finance committee's report recommended cutting down the appropriation of the public buildings department from $22,800 to $19,500. The former were the mayor's figures. The committee's recommendation was adopted.

The amount for the registrars of voters, $1800, was allowed to remain.

In the long list of salaries there were but two changes. These were increases favored by the finance committee. They were: Engineer of court house from $960 to $1,080 and assistant engineer of court house from $720 to $840.

The salary of the mayor's assistant was reduced from $1000 to $780. The aggregate of the budget was, according to the committee $31,414, and these figures were adopted.

From this point everything was plain sailing until the street department was reached. Commissioner Ross' salary provoked no little discussion.

Alderman Whittlesey reviewed the entire subject ever since the arrangement had been effected by Mayor Cobb, with Mr. Ross and the city. He did not aproved of an official giving part of his time to the city and part to some employment.

These in substance were Alderman White's views, though he said the proper plan was for the city to take all it could get of Mr. Ross' time.

Alderman Warren moved that the salary of the street commissioner be placed at $3750.

Alderman Chesley spoke of the value of Mr. Ross' services, and said he understood that the street commissioner gave but little time, this part of the year, to the state commission. Mr. Chesley said further, that as the state was soon to construct a highway between Upper Falls and Dover, the services of Mr. Ross in both offices would be invaluable to the city of Newton.

Alderman Baily felt that the board should abide by the recommendation of the mayor as his honor had much to do with Mr. Ross and was the best judge of the wisest arrangement.

The mayor was called upon and said that though he had advocated that the present arrangement be continued, he felt the city needed all of Mr. Ross' time. Further the mayor explained that Mr. Ross would probably retire from the state highway commission in July, and would after that time be prepared to devote his entire time to the city.

The position of Mr. Ross towards the highway commission was explained, and it was the general belief that Mr Ross did not wish to retire from the employ of the state until the new governor elect had been inaugurated and appointed Mr. Ross' successor. Finally it was decided that an arrangement be made with Mr. Ross and that money be appropriated to cover a salary at the rate of $2,000 a year for the first six months and at the rate of $3750 per year for the last six months of 1900.

Though the mayor had not included the special appropriation of $22,000 for special street construction, this sum was adopted on the recommendation of the finance committee.

There was considerable of a stir when Alderman Dana made his plea in behalf of the increase of the deputy sewer commissioner's salary. The alderman charged that the only reason the cut in Mr Childs' salary had been made was because that gentleman was not over-friendly in his relations with his superior officers. This, together with politics, Mr. Dana charged, was the principal reason that Mr. Childs had suffered a reduction.

Continuing, the alderman spoke of Mr. Childs' valuable services and of his exceptional ability.

Alderman Lyman evidently did not entertain the same views, but the majority of his arguments anent the increase were well met by Alderman Dana.

Finally it was voted that Mr. Childs' salary should be $1800, although both the finance committee and the mayor had recommended $1500.

The school appropriation will stand $186,430, the treasury $251,969.52 and the water department $15,910.

In closing it may be said that President Knowlton was in a measure responsible for the remarkable expediency of action. With gavel in hand, he kept the members well in line and no time was lost.

At 12.25 the board adjourned and later enjoyed a collation at the mayor's expense.

Six Frightful Failures.

Six terrible failures of six different doctors nearly sent Wm. H. Mullen of Lockland, O., to an early grave. All said he had a fatal lung trouble and that he must soon die. But he was urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. After taking five bottles he was entirely cured. It is positively guaranteed to cure all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs, including Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup, Whooping Cough, 50c. and $1.00. Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Capt. C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Galishe. Under date of Nov. 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

SUNDAY READING.

"AS IN HEAVEN SO ON EARTH."

Thy will be done on earth, as 'tis in Heaven,
Christ taught us so to say,
We had not dared except Himself had bidden
Such awful prayer to pray.

His angel hosts, they do His will so gladly,
But then they see His face;
No veil of sin or darkened understanding,
His love they clearly trace.

His angel hosts, they do His will so proudly,
But then 'tis in His court,
Where all have learned the nobleness of service
And fain do as they ought.

His angel hosts, they do His will so sweetly,
But sweet are heaven's ways;
The king of love and ecstasy is ruling,
And life is one long praise.

But I must do God's will with mists around me,
Where few think service grand,
Where ways are rough and sin and pain beset me,
Strong foes on either hand,

Where what I ought to do seems most unlovely,
And Heaven is far away.
How can I then, when human tears are falling,
Be glad and light as they?

Too weak, alas! am I for such endeavor,
But strong and tender Thou.
Live Thou on earth in me, the life of angels,
Of angels here and now.

Thus, e'en on earth, so gladly, proudly, sweetly,
Ere Paradise is won,
Be Christ in me in perfect angel fashion.
God's holy will be done.

The above exquisite poem was printed in an English magazine last summer. The writer's name is not recalled. In some respects it is strikingly orizinal. It is worthy of preservation, for it may, in some time of weariness and discouragement help to lighten the sad heart, and show that even here on earth in humble tasks we may be doing God's will even as they do it who are in heaven. After all, God's service does not consist in doing some great things, but in doing all things for Him. What is given us to do now, the little tasks, the commonplace duties, these are what He requires now. If we do them well, as best we can, He accepts them. After a while we may have infinitely greater tasks, but it is not the greatness of the task that indicates true and laudable service. It is the spirit we carry into any task. A holy angel may serve Him acceptably in heaven, but the lowliest child may serve Him acceptably on earth.

The Oneida Indians in Wisconsin are nearly all connected with some branch of the church. It is their custom to speak of the Indians who go to church as "Christians" and of those who do not go as "Pagans." If this is a correct classification there, is it correct everywhere? Is it so in Newton?

It is a great thing to say of a man that he was so faithful to his church as to plan his business and his recreations in such way that nothing could keep him away from his place when Sunday came. The people grew accustomed to seeing him His devotion meant something. If he was absent from his post every one knew he was sick, or far away from home. Contrast such fidelity with the conduct of many who are occasional visitors rather than regular attendants, and who will give up the most important religious duties for the most trifling reasons. We do not need an outpouring of great gifts so much as we need an increase of fidelity.

Christian symbolism evidently has not been studied by every one. A new church in a neighboring place has the Greek letters "Alpha" and "Omega" carved on a stone in front. They mean the beginning and the ending, and set forth the divinity of Christ, who is from eternity to all eternity. It so happens that the "Omega" is a letter with a rounded top. Some one was heard explaining to another that it was a horse shoe and was carved there so that the church might have good luck!

Alluding to the good feeling which prevails in Newton among Christian people of every name, and the absence of denominational bickerings, a witty minister, who had not then long resided here, said that he was greatly delighted to see the happy condition of things, and he had come to the conclusion that when the Millennium came it would be likely to strike Newton first.

A person fond of making rather surprising suppositions submits the following: What would be the effect upon Newton if the 40 per cent. of the population who are not now actively at work as Christians were to connect themselves with the different congregations and do all they could for the prosperity of the church? What would happen? No doubt there would be many good results, but a very prominent one would surely be the rendering a large amount of help for educational and mission work. Just as a German village became noted for its devotion to foreign missions sending out its representatives and supporting them, so Newton might be known the world over as an educational and evangelizing center.

Inasmuch as the late Cornelius Vanderbilt was a conscientious man he probably tried to dispose of his wealth, by will, in what he thought was the best way. Without condemning him, it is not at all improper to suggest that he lost a rare opportunity to do incalculable good. Think of what he might have done with a part of his money without impoverishing his family. He might, for instance, have provided for the completion of the cathedral in New York, in which he had shown so much interest. Regarding it as a great architectural addition to his native city he might have coveted the opportunity of bringing it nearer its completion. Or suppose he had given $50,000 to each of a number of small colleges now struggling for existence, what a help would have come to the cause of education! It must be remembered that these small colleges reach the hard working students who get their education only through much hard work and self denial. Whatever may be the arguments in favor of large colleges and universities, and however defective some small colleges may be, it is still the fact that it is to these humble and less known institutions that many are indebted for an education they could not receive elsewhere. There are 20 of these excellent small colleges that could be named where a gift of even $50,000 would add wonderfully to their efficiency. But a score of good uses of the Vanderbilt money will suggest themselves to any one who looks over the field of opportunity. Perhaps some of his descendants may regard themselves as holding this great wealth only as trustees, and may learn to use it wisely and well. Let us hope so. But this now famous will certainly suggests to other men of means that in settling up their estates they should use a larger proportion in public bequests. It brings before every one the question: What is the best use to make of the possessions which have been put in my control?

EVERY SUNDAY A REMINDER.

The resurrection of Christ is the cause and beginning of a glorified word, a new heaven and a new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness, a condition of internal and external completeness of life where tears shall be wiped away, and God with His inexpressible glory shall be all in all. We should, therefore, value the Lord's Day and use it aright. This world is not our abiding place. It is soon over. To live so as to reach an inheritance in the eternal world is true wisdom.—Auberlen.

THE CHRISTIAN YEAR.

The usage of dividing time so that the different seasons will be associated with the different truths of the Christian Faith is very old. Gradually it has been adopted, in its main features, by most religious bodies in this country, so that Christmas, Good Friday and Easter are now kept everywhere, and there is a tendency even among people who were most opposed to it to adopt the other parts.

It will be interesting, no doubt, to some whose attention has been newly directed to what is generally known as The Christian Year to see an easily remembered summary:

The Christian Year begins with Advent, four weeks before Christmas, and the Advent season commemorates the first coming of Christ to be the Saviour of mankind, and His second coming to be the Judge of the living and the dead. Christmas commemorates His birth in human form to be man's deliverer; Epiphany, His being made known to the Gentile world as the Saviour of the Gentiles as well as of the Jews; Lent, His fasting, temptation, sufferings and death; Good Friday, His crucifixion; Easter, His resurrection from the dead; Ascension, His rising to heaven; Whitsuntide, His sending the Holy Spirit; Trinity, the nature of God—The one God revealed as Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

PREPARING FOR CHRISTMAS.

Already there are indications of the approaching Festival of the Nativity. Illustrated Christmas books and Christmas music have appeared. Dainty work for gifts grows under the industry of skilled fingers. Steadily, as the time moves on, we shall see more and more of these Christmas preparations. But is there not a danger of overlooking something that is more important than all else? Christmas is not a mere social festival, and is not merely a time for giving and receiving gifts.

It is a religious festival, for it commemorates the birth of the Saviour of the world. The coming of this blessed season, therefore, should be prepared for so that it may be kept devoutly and with an increase of spiritual perception of the greatness of His mission of love and mercy.

What do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee but costs about 1-4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

AUBURNDALE.

—Miss Maude Morgan of Central street is very ill at her home.

—Mrs. H. M. Wyman is soon to occupy quarters in the Taylor block.

—Dr. G. A. Bates will occupy quarters in the new Taylor block next week.

—Mrs. Charles Knight has returned from a visit at her mother's home in Maine.

—Mr. Fred Plummer attended the Harvard-U. P. football game at Philadelphia last Saturday.

—Mr. G. Woods, formerly of Boston, has taken a house on Central street and has moved in this week.

—Mrs. F. X. Delorey entertained a large number of her friends with a theatre party and supper in Boston, Monday.

—The engagement is announced of Miss Blanche L. Bancroft of Ware road to Mr. Frank Booth of Linwood avenue, Newtonville.

—Next Monday evening the Norumbega hall of the Taylor building is to be dedicated, with a concert given by several well known artists.

—The ladies of the Church of the Messiah are actively planning for the annual Christmas sale to be held some time next month.

—The Auburndale football team, a strong organization of local talent, went to Wellesley last Saturday and defeated the High school team of that town, 21 to 0.

—Miss Walker's dancing class was formed Wednesday with over 30 pupils. The occasion was unusually interesting and the season promises most successful.

—Mr. E. E. Hubbard has sold for Simeon Stubbs to Laura M. Eckley two parcels of land containing 25,570 and 25,500 feet respectively located on Seminary avenue. The land has been purchased for improvement.

—It is expected that the Auburndale branch of the Newton free library will be opened next Monday. Already there have been many liberal subscriptions, and at present nearly the entire amount has been secured.

—The members of Riverdale lodge, N. E. O. P., met last Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Piuta of Rowe street. Whist formed the chief entertainment of the evening. Mrs. W. F. Hadlock won first ladies' prize and Mr. W. N. Lincoln first men's prize.

—Hose 5 company extinguished a blaze at the new house at 318 Auburndale avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 3.25. The fire originated in a pile of brush near the back door, and before it was extinguished a portion of the bulkhead and the house were slightly burned. Damage $10.

—Among the most interesting additions to the business interests of this place is the new store of Druggist Elliot W. Keyes, at the corner of Melrose and Auburn streets. Mr. Keyes' new quarters have been much admired. The entire fittings are of mahogany, carved and tastefully decorated. On the left, as one enters, are cases for the display of all toilet and proprietary goods usually kept in a drug stock. A prescription case occupies the rear of the store, with mirror in center and oval perfume case on either side. A door on the left takes you to the office and telephone room, while an entrance on the opposite side leads to the prescription department. On the right is the drug department and cases for cigars and confections. On the same side, and nearest the door, is the soda apparatus; this is the latest yet devised. It is what may be called in building parlance, open plumbing; that is, the whole interior construction is visible to the eye. It insures the utmost neatness. It carbonates the water fresh, as it is drank; it does not stand days and weeks; it has no chance to get stale or contaminated; it carbonates automatically from pure water and pure carbonic acid gas.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.—ADOLPH L. NONANTUM.

—Mrs. Bowker and family have returned from R. I.

—The funeral of Maria Bresnahan, who died of diptheria, took place Monday.

—The Nonantum Worsted Co. are paying their help in money instead of checks.

—Yesterday evening a smoke talk was held by the business men of this place at the Atheneum Hall.

—The regular meeting of the Nonantum Club was held Monday evening. A number of resignations were accepted.

—Next Sunday at 3 p. m. Mr. Barber of Newton will speak at the Beulah Baptist Mission. There will be special music.

Sunday, Nov. 19th, Mr. C. F. Arnold of Warrenton street Mission, and founder of the Clark street mission, Boston, will give a talk.

—The firm of La Croix & Genest, druggists, have dissolved partnership. The business will be carried on by Mr. La Croix.

—Mr. Albert Deacks of Kendal's store has received from relatives in Cape Town, South Africa, the "Cape Times" a newspaper published in that town.

How Mrs. Pinkham HELPED MRS. GOODEN.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 12,733]

"I am very grateful to you for your kindness and the interest you have taken in me, and truly believe your medicines and advice are worth more to a woman than all the doctors in the world. For years I had female troubles and did nothing for them. Of course I became no better and finally broke down entirely. My troubles began with inflammation and hemorrhages from the kidneys, then inflammation, congestion and falling of the womb and inflammation of ovaries.

"I underwent local treatment every day for some time; then after nearly two months the doctor gave me permission to go back to work. I went back, but in less than a week was compelled to give up and go to bed. On breaking down the second time, I decided to let doctors and their medicine alone and try your remedies. Before the first bottle was gone I felt the effects of it. Three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of her Sanative Wash did me more good than all the doctors' treatments and medicine.

"The first remark that greets me now is 'How much better you look!' and you may be sure I never hesitate to tell the cause of my health."—MRS. E. J. GOODEN, ACKLEY, IA.

THE election passed off very quietly in Newton, and less than half the registered voters went to the polls. The figures showed that out of a total of 5074 only 2149 cared to exercise the right of suffrage. As compared with last year the Republicans lost 553 and the Democrats 4 votes. Mr. Ray, the Democratic candidate for Senator, led his party candidate for governor by over 200, but he is well known in Newton, and his character inspires confidence. There was a small fight for representative, as the Democrats had put up J. H. Kinsella as their candidate. He was beaten in every ward, but had nearly a hundred more votes than the Democratic candidate for governor. There was no special effort made to call out the voters, and many Republicans who do not like the imperialistic tendencies of the government preferred to keep away from the polls, as they could not conscientiously vote their party ticket after the speeches of Lodge and Roosevelt in their renewement before the Republican club in Boston. If those two men had only been muzzled, the majority for Crane throughout the state would have been much larger, as the platform made a way of escape for conscientious voters.

CAUCUSES are called for the city election and also to determine if Newton Republicans will accept the provisions of the new caucus act. We should say that there could be no objections to applying this act to Newton, as it would do away with any possible parlor caucus nominations and give the voters a fair chance to record their wishes as to the men to be selected to represent them. There has in former years been a good deal of complaint in Newton that the people had no influence in the nomination of candidates, that they were selected by a small clique to suit their own purposes and the men or combinations for whom they were working, and there was some truth in these complaints. This new act seems to offer a remedy for this and makes it possible for the voters to record their wishes, and gives them some power in the matter. With the great Republican majority that exists here a nomination is equivalent to an election, and this makes it of especial importance that the nominations shall have every possible safeguard placed around them.

ELECTION is over and all the political spell-binders profess to be delighted with the result. It was a great vindication for Hanna, also for Bryan, and for all the lesser lights who were concerned. Hanna had a glorious victory in Ohio, he says, though his candidate had a minority of the total votes cast, instead of the usual majority. Both McLean and Hanna are reported to have added greatly to the prosperity of the average Ohio voter, and the general distribution of small bills ought to be beneficial to trade. Golden Rule Jones gave the politicians a great scare, and even in Ohio there seems to be about 100,000 conscience voters, although judging from the average Ohio politician one would not think it. Such a solid phalanx ought to give the bosses something to think of. Bryan carried Nebraska by a respectable majority, so that he is even more pleased than Hanna, and all the politicians agree that the results in the other states were perfectly satisfactory. There has seldom been an election which has given such general happiness to all parties.

THERE have been a number of inquiries as to what will be done in regard to the members of the school board, to be chosen at the coming election. So far as we know nothing has been done by either side, although possibly people may wake up after the caucuses and conventions are held, and the candidates nominated. The Aldrich men feel that the fact that Springfield has hired Mr. Aldrich, at a higher salary than Newton has ever paid, is a pretty good commentary on the whole affair, and certainly the position of the anti-Aldrich men, that they can disregard and defy public sentiment, without any reasons or explanations, is a little too imperialistic for this stage of our development. Perhaps we shall come to submit to such things in a year or two. But the people have the matter in their own hands, for the next few weeks.

THE candidates for the speakership are making a lively campaign, and as is usual before election they are ready to make all sorts of promises to secure votes. Charles Perry Mills of Newburyport is one of the latest to enter the arena, and he has a very nice platform. He thinks the sessions can be shortened at least 30 days, they all do that, and he promises to appoint his committees on a broad minded basis, without regard to any special measures. If he is serious about this promise, his election is impossible, of course. As a matter of current interest, Mr. Mills sends out a circular stating that he is "a flat-footed square-toed supporter of President McKinley." A man made up with that kind of feet must be quite a curiosity.

AN Englishman, residing in South Africa, has naturally enough taken up the side of the British against the Boers, and he charges that the latter read nothing but the Bible and the local paper, while the British residents are great readers, their most popular authors being Ouida, and the author of "Mr. Barnes of New York." Judging from this, however, the British residents seem to be on an even lower intellectual plan than the Boers, and it is little wonder that they are willing to get up raids like that of Jameson, or steal cattle, and even governments, after a thorough course of these two authors.

LATE Tuesday night the extraordinary spectacle was presented of four aldermen being carried to their homes in the patrol-wagon. It was very late, so fortunately there were few people on the street to be scandalized. The reason for this sad spectacle was that, as it was midnight when the board adjourned, there were no hacks to be obtained, and it was either a ride in the patrol or a long and weary walk, and as this particular quartet were not proud they chose the patrol wagon.

THE case of Senator Parsons has attracted a good deal of attention, as he was opposed because he had refused to vote for Senator Lodge and for his opposition to imperialism. Word was sent out that he must be defeated for his anti-imperialism and a great fight was made against him. He was defeated by just 637 votes in a district that has a Republican majority of 2500. That was hardly a victory that the imperialists and Lodge men can crow over.

WHAT is the matter with the street sprinklers? The dust is something terrible, especially to the storekeepers, who find their goods ruined, and it is very uncomfortable for every one. The carts ought to have been ordered out several days ago.

THE AUSTRALIAN CAUCUS SYSTEM.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—

Republican caucuses will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 16th, to determine by ballot whether or not the Australian Caucus Act shall be adopted by the Republican party in the city of Newton. In view of the importance of this question and the fact that the voters have had little or no opportunity to examine the details and workings of this act, I have been asked to set forth its advantages, that the public may be informed thereon before voting. The legislature has provided two caucus systems. The first, the system in use in Newton; the second, the Australian caucus system, and under one of these two systems all caucuses must be held.

THE AUSTRALIAN CAUCUS SYSTEM.

The distinctive features of this system are: First—Candidates and delegates to be voted for at the caucus must file nominations in sealed envelopes with the secretary of the city committee in advance of the caucus.

They must assent in writing to their nomination, which must be endorsed by at least five voters, members of the party holding the caucus.

Against the name of each candidate or delegate there may be added in not more than eight (8) words the public measures, or persons favored or opposed or not committed. At least ten (10) days before the caucus, the sealed envelopes shall be publicly opened and read. The candidates and delegates may within two (2) days thereafter withdraw their nomination if they desire.

The ward committee shall then complete the ballot by selecting candidates and delegates and filing nomination papers therefor to fill all vacancies. A list of candidates and delegates to be balloted for in each ward shall be delivered at least seven (7) days before the caucus, to the city clerk, who shall print and deliver colored specimen ballots to be posted in advance of the caucus, also the official ballots which shall contain blank spaces equal in number to the printed names thereon.

The caucus room shall be fitted with the rail, booths and registering ballot box used on election day, and the ballots shall be marked as in election.

The polls may be opened in the afternoon, say at 4 o'clock, and shall close not earlier than 8.30 o'clock in the evening, in order to give all voters an opportunity to participate in this most important part of their political duty. Experience has shown that under this system more votes are often cast in caucus for nominations than are cast in the succeeding election.

CAUCUS OFFICERS.

The caucus shall be presided over by a warden, a secretary and five (5) inspectors, who shall be elected annually by the caucus and sworn to the faithful discharge of their duty. These officers, fully understanding the duties of their office and the penalties imposed by law, can correctly and impartially administer the same.

This system does not curtail the rights of any man or body of men, but it does prevent so called cut and dried work, and the springing upon the caucus at its opening hour printed ballots containing unauthorized names of persons whose purpose, if elected, is unknown; some of whom cannot or will not serve, but who must resign their credentials into the hands of interested persons to use in convention.

The legislature, after careful deliberation, enacted the Australian caucus law, making it as free from complications as was possible to secure nominations representing the will of the people. This system, when properly carried out, gives universal satisfaction to the voters.

OBJECTIONS RAISED TO THE AUSTRALIAN CAUCUS SYSTEM.

First Objection—"Too great cost." The city pays for printing the nomination papers and the official ballots, also for putting up and removing the rail, booths and ballot box. This is all the extra cost the city must pay, and is a small sum when compared with the benefits accruing. The city pays this cost in elections, and as caucuses are a necessary precedent to elections, there seems no good reason why the city should not pay this caucus cost also. The warden, secretary and inspectors like the ward committee serve without compensation.

The cost to the citizens is practically the same as under the present system, except for printing ballots, to be paid for by the city.

Second Objection—"Too much Machinery." The machinery employed has been fully stated and there is only enough to accomplish desired results.

Under this machinery nominations cannot be controlled so easily as under the present system, which some may object to, but that is the reason the legislature in the interest of pure nominations, enacted this law, and to meet all objections provided that any town or city (except Boston), after using the system one year, by a majority vote in caucus called for that purpose, might return to the old system.

Not a year passes that complaint is not made against the present caucus system. The contests in Ward 5 Republican caucus of last year, and in Ward 1 and 3 caucuses this year, also the nomination made by the Democrats this year, whose legality has been questioned, would have been impossible under the Australian system.

Think of a certificate of nomination from the city of Newton, filed with the secretary of state declaring "that a convention of delegates, who were elected in caucus, called and held in accordance with the requirements of law, representing the Democratic party, was held October 12th, and the following nomination of candidate for representative was made, etc.," when the facts are that the call for the Democratic caucuses did not provide for electing delegates to a Representative Convention, and no such delegates were elected by the caucus. By what authority, then, was a certificate of nomination signed and sworn to by the chairman and secretary of the so called Democratic Representative Convention filed with the secretary of state as a regular Democratic nomination.

If, under the present caucus system, such irregular proceedings can take place, is it not time a new system was adopted that will place reasonable safeguards around our caucuses and conventions so that nominations may be made in order and without question. The acceptance of the Australian Caucus Act by the people is the first step towards accomplishing this much needed reform.

Third Objection—"Newton is too small a city to need it." Melrose, the youngest city in the Commonwealth, with one-third the population of Newton, has just adopted this act; Waltham, Watertown, Cambridge, Brighton and Brookline, surrounding Newton, conduct their caucuses under it; Boston and its suburbs, together with the major part of the Metropolitan district, all use it, while many cities and towns in other parts of the state have purified their caucuses by its wise provisions.

Shall Newton adopt it, is the question which the citizens are asked to answer by their votes in the coming caucus.

JOHN T. LANGFORD.

NEWTON.

—The $2.48 "Lasell Boot" for ladies, kept at J. Henry Bacon's, is equal to many of the $3.00 and $3.50 boots so largely advertised in the city stores, and can be had right here at home. Mr. Bacon can supply all widths and sizes, and fully warrant every pair.

—Rev. C. O. Day, who has taken the position of secretary of the Educational Society, made vacant by the resignation of Rev. Dr. Hamilton of Newton, will make an address on "Congregationalism as an Educational Force in the World," at the missionary meeting at Eliot church this evening.

—Our leaders for vegetables: Celery 10 cts. per bunch; spinach 10 cts. per peck; cauliflower 10 and 15 cts. per head; radish 5 cts. per bunch, three bunches for 10 cts.; Baldwin apples Saturday only 25 cts. per peck. Newton Corner Market, W. S. Hayden, Prop.

—A series of Sunday evening talks on "The New Thought or Metaphysical Movement" will be given in the chapel of the Channing church, beginning Sunday evening, Nov. 12th, at 7.30 o'clock. Mr. Charles B. Newcomb, author of "All's Right With the World," will speak on "The Song of Life." All are cordially invited.

—Thieves gained access to Fred W. Beverly's bakery some time last night and cleaned out the cash drawer. This morning the break was discovered by one of the young lady clerks. It is thought that $2.50 was taken. The safe was not touched nor anything else in the store molested. It was found that the thieves had forced a bulkhead at the side of the building, and also the trap which leads from the cellar to the store above.

—At the Y. M. C. A. last evening the junior department held a reception, to which the boys of Newton were invited. The hours were from 7 to 9.30, and at the close of the informal reception the company adjourned to the hall, where a program was given, consisting of gramophone selections, under the direction of Philip H. Robinson; character sketch by L. D. G. Bentley and Ellis Ward; guitar and banjo solos by Prof. Vreeland of Boston. Later an exhibition was given in the gymnasium and refreshments were served.

—Hon. Thomas Weston will be the speaker at the meeting of the Unitarian Club in the Channing church parlor next Thursday evening at 7.45, and will discuss some of the points of difference between the Pilgrim of Plymouth and the Puritan of Massachusetts Bay. All who are interested, both ladies and gentlemen, are cordially invited. The meetings of the club are held on the third Thursday of each month from October to April. Supper is served to members at 6.30, and visitors are welcome to hear the addresses, which begin at 7.45.

To the Voters of the City of Newton.

Please accept my deepest thanks for the loyal support given me at the polls on election day. It is a great pleasure to feel that your constituents are in touch with you, recognizing and appreciating unselfish service, but it is a double pleasure to find in the face of a secretly organized and strong opposition to your candidacy, that those constituents even in an off year, and without solicitation, show their appreciation of your service by coming to the polls in large numbers to aid in your re-election. An endorsement such as was accorded both of your Representatives this year, is a stimulus to renewed efforts in behalf of the people. Faithfully yours,

JOHN T. LANGFORD.

Newton, Nov. 8.

Death of Edward Page.

Mr. Edward Page died Wednesday afternoon at his home on Centre street aged 64 years. He had been suffering for some time from neuralgia of the heart and his death was not unexpected. He was born on Common street in Boston, Nov. 4, 1835, and has made his home in Newton and Newtonville since 1842. He was a pupil of N. T. Allen of West Newton. At the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted in the 31st Massachusetts, and was elected captain and served with distinction under General Butler at New Orleans. On July 16, 1864, he was married at Paris to Miss Kate Frellsen, the daughter of one of the prominent families of New Orleans. They resided in the winter at New Orleans, where Mr. Page was engaged in the boot and shoe business, and had a summer residence at Newtonville. In 1885, he retired from active business owing to a serious trouble with his eyes which left him nearly blind. His wife died about the same time and he removed to Newton, where he has since resided. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Edward Jackson of New York, and four sons, Edward Page Jr., of Philadelphia, H. Frellsen Page of New Orleans, Alfred F. and J. Murray Page of Newton.

The funeral was held this afternoon, at 3 o'clock, from Grace Episcopal church. Rev. Dr. Shinn officiated. The interment was at the Newton cemetery.

Death of Samuel B. Whittemore.

Mr. Samuel B. Whittemore died at his home on Hunnewell Hill Wednesday evening, after an illness of several months. He was born in Arlington about fifty years ago, and spent his early life in that town, where he attended the local schools and graduated from the high school. At an early age he entered into the oil business in Boston and retired only a few years since.

His father was Eibridge Whittemore and his mother Elizabeth Humphrey of Weymouth, and he was a direct decendent of Samuel Whittemore of Revolutionary fame. His wife was Grace, daughter of Dr. William H. Thorndike of Boston, who survives him, with a son and daughter.

He was a member of the Hunnewell Club of Newton and of the Wompatuck Club of Hingham, where he had a summer residence.

The funeral services were held at his late residence this afternoon, Rev. E. A. Horton of Boston officiating. A quartet consisting of Mrs. Jennie Patrick Walker, Miss Gertrude Edmands, Mr. Geo. J. Parker and Mr. D. M. Babcock sang several appropriate selections, and there was a large attendance of relatives and friends. The interment was at Mt. Auburn.

Hunnewell Club Concert.

The concert at the Hunnewell Club last evening attracted an audience that filled the assembly hall, a large number of ladies being present. The stage was decorated with palms and foliage plants, and the concert was a very pleasing one. Mrs. Fannie Holt Reed sang a number of songs in a charming manner, and the Reed Orchestral Club gave a fine program of music, which was greeted with hearty applause. The club has a fine program of entertainments in prospect for the winter.

MONEY TO LOAN

By the Merchants Co-operative Bank

Why not begin now to pay for your home? The easiest and best way is through the Co-operative Bank system of regular monthly payments, which has been in successful operation in this State over 22 years. Do you want to buy a house? A loan of $2000 requires a monthly payment of $18.33, of which $10 applies on the loan, the balance being 5 per cent. interest. If your mortgage is about due, or overdue, or you want a low rate of interest why not call and look into the system? Money also advanced to build in partial payments. Deal direct with the Bank, and pay no commissions. Further information of —The first of a series of whist parties given under the auspices of the Lend a Hand Society of the Universalist church, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn H. McLain on Grove Hill avenue, Tuesday evening. To say that it was a great success and especially encouraging as being the first one held this year is speaking of it lightly. A dozen tables were filled, and shortly after eight the playing began. At ten, scores were taken and prizes awarded. The successful players were Miss Calley and Mrs Snieder, and the gentlemen winning were Mr. Griffiths and Mr. Jennings. Throughout the evening, refreshments of a light nature were served. These whist parties are to be held the first Tuesday in each month, and season or single tickets may be secured of members of the society. Thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. McLain for their untiring efforts in making the evening pass pleasantly for all The next whist will be given at the home of Mrs. Small on Austin street.

—A leading attraction this week was the fair in the parlors of the Central Congregational church. It opened auspiciously Tuesday afternoon, and continued during the afternoon and evenings, Wednesday and Thursday. Wednesday was children's day and an attractive entertainment entitled "Mystery" was provided for their amusement by Mr. S. Wilson Bailey of Boston assisted by the talented young pianist, Miss Aline M. King. The tables and decorations were as follows: Children's table, evergreen and baubles, Mrs. William Kyle; fruit and preserve table, fruit and evergreen, Mrs. A. H. Cram; soap and cook book table, pansies, Miss H. A. Robinson; Cook book table, pink and evergreens, Mrs A.D. Auryansen and Mrs. H. R. Gibbs; refreshment department, Mrs. W. W. Palmer; silhouettes, the Misses Butler. The tables were arranged and decorated in an artistic manner, no two having the same decorations. The fair has been a success socially and financially. The cook book had a well merited sale, few copies being left. This was compiled by the ladies of the Congregational church.

—The Newtonville Woman's Guild met on Tuesday afternoon, in the parlors of the New church, Highland avenue, at 3 o'clock. In the absence of the president, Mrs. H. H. Carter, Mrs. Walter Chaloner oresided. The new song book issued for the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, was used for the first time, Mrs. Phillip Carter having the music in charge. Miss Whiston gave a very pleasing solo. Mrs. Chaloner announced the sudden bereavement of Mrs. George T. Hill, for so many years the Guild's president, and it was voted that a letter and flowers be sent at once, as expressive of the love and sympathy of the club. Owing to the absence of Mrs. Waterhouse, the "query box" was not opened. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Mary Martin, and the meeting for Nov. 21st, was mentioned. It will be a home meeting in charge of the charitable committee. Mrs. Martin will speak of "Friendly Visiting Among the Poor," at 3 p. m., and tea will be served later by the hospital committee, and the articles for the Needlework Guild will be exhibited. Mrs. D. C. Heath, in a felicitous little speech, introduced as the lecturer of the afternoon, Prof. Earl Barnes of London, who gave a delightful talk on "A Comparative Study of English and American Children." Mr. Barnes was formerly professor of history and of the art of education at Leland Stanford University, and is delivering a course of lectures on "The Evolution of Educational Forces," at Tremont Temple, Boston, under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Club. Among the Guild guests on Tuesday, were Mr. D. C. Heath and Mr. Fifield.

Interesting Experiment In Kite Flying at Newtonville.

Mr. C. Hadley Kinder of Boston, but formerly of Newtonville, who possesses four of the famous Eddy kites, and who is making a study of scientific kite-flying, describes for the GRAPHIC an interesting experiment which he made at Newtonville, Thursday of last week.

"Thursday last, was a model day" says Mr. Kinder, and on that day I went to Newtonville where I learned some valuable information regarding kite-flying.

"The Eddy kites, you know, are made principally of wood though part is constructed of steel. They are about six feet square covered with red cloth, and fly without tails.

"My first one, the leader, had a recording thermometer attached that would mark automatically on a disk with a lead pencil, the different temperature passed through. The first one we started with 800 ft. line, then we started kite number 2, with 500 ft. of line.

"We then attached these two lines together, and let out more line, and then started the number 3 kite with 500 ft. of line, and attached it to the other line. The fourth one I did not send up as it was broken in shipping to Newtonville.

"At this stage we begun to let out line as number 2 and number 3 were sent up to support number 1 line in the air. From my main drum I let out two and one third miles of line, and at this time we were completely exhausted from hard work as it was impossible for two men to hold them. We had to fasten the drum to the earth.

"The balance of my line I did not let out which was two thirds of a mile left on drum, but at this distance the pull of the line registered on our scales 110 lbs. The temperature on ground when starting the first kite was 40 degrees above zero, Fahrenheit, and at the end of three and one half hours, the temperature in the air had dropped to two degrees above zero at the highest temperature which is considered pretty cold at that height, and when brought to the ground the steel and brass connections on the kite and thermometer were covered with frost. Our cable was the best Manilla braided and starched hemp, and tested at 800 lbs. The pull was so great that if two fellows took hold of the line it pulled them almost off their feet."

Charges Against Mr. Laffie Dismissed.

The Hano vs. Laffie case, which has attracted no little interest within the past few weeks, has been disposed of by Mayor Wilson.

It will be remembered that Mr. Hano claimed he had paid Mr. Laffie $4 for dog taxes during the summer, and that Mr. Laffie, had, instead of giving him any receipt, summoned him into court, and secured judgment against him for keeping an unlicensed dog.

Mr. Hano was given a hearing before the mayor and the matter was taken under advisement by His Honor. On Wednesday of this week, Mayor Wilson sent the following communication to the attorneys representing both Hano and Laffie:

"Upon the charges against M. C. Laffie, constable, in which there was a hearing before me, I have carefully heard the witnesses, the parties and their attorneys, and after careful deliberation determine that the charges have not been proven, and therefore dismiss the complaint.

"I understand the authority which the law gives the mayor, as to constables, is that he may, with the consent of the aldermen, remove a constable for "gross misconduct."

"I do not find any misconduct proven against Mr. Laffie, and therefore decline to act upon his removal or to ask the board of aldermen to consent to such a removal."

EDWARD B. WILSON, Mayor.

Grain-O! Grain-O!

Remember that name when you want a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it. Grain-O is made of pure grain, it aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant but a health builder and the children as well as the adults can drink it with great benefit. Costs about 1-4 as much as coffee. 15c. and 25c. per package. Ask your grocer for Grain-O.

REV. MR. NOYES KEEPS THE CUP.

FOR THIRD TIME HE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE NEWTON CENTRE GOLF CLUB.

On the Institution Hill links of the Newton Centre Golf Club, last Saturday, the Rev. Edward M. Noyes for the third time won the championship of the club, defeating his opponent, W. Wadsworth, by a score of 4 up and 3 to play. The final match was of especial interest, owing to the fact that only last week, Mr. Noyes won the championship of Newton. His victory last Saturday, entitles him to keep the cup, which for three seasons he has defended against all comers. The prize is a handsome cut glass loving cup, with a silver rim. It is known as the "president's cup" having been offered by the club's president some years ago.

In the consolation round of the club championship, J. D. Greene beat E. H. Kidder 6 up. Mr. Greene was awarded the consolation prize, and Mr. W. Wadsworth won the prize for the best runner-up in the championship round.

Several matches in the women's club championship tournament were played yesterday, as follow: Miss Haskell beat Mrs. W. E. Merrill 5 up, and 4 to play; Mrs. H. Baily beat Miss Lesh 8 up, and 6 to play; Miss Friend beat Mrs. Clark 2 up, and 1 to play. In the semi-finals, Miss Haskell beat Mrs. Baily 6 up, 5 to play, and Mrs. Daniels beat Mrs. Friend 3 up, 1 to play.

It is not drying nor irritating, and does not produce sneezing. Price 50 cents at druggists or it will be mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York. Upon being placed into the nostrils it spreads over the membrane and relief is immediate. It is an agreeable cure.

WABAN.

—The voting here election day was very light, less than half the voters turning out.

—Mr. G. M. Hayden attended the Rhoades-Bates wedding at Natick last week.

—Mr. A. H. Willis and family are occupying Mrs. Dr. Crawford's fine residence on Windsor road.

—Mr. Ray of Ashland, state senator elect of this district, was a guest of one of our prominent citizens Sunday.

—Mr. Fulsom is occupying his new house on Plainfield street. He is engaged in the engraving business in Boston.

—Mr. J. E. Morse has returned from a two weeks' hunting trip to Maine. He shot one deer, bringing it home with him.

—Miss Bowen of Chestnut street is making good progress with her greenhouse. She is now extensively and successfully engaged in raising violets.

—At a preliminary caucus held here last week a name for alderman from this precinct was selected to present at the regular caucus to be held in Newton Highlands, Nov. 15.

—Mr. and Mrs. P. Isola attended the ceremonies of the unveiling of the statue given the town of Pepperill last week by Mrs. Roger Wolcott, wife of Governor Wolcott.

—Prof. Myron C. Pease, formerly one of the teachers of the Waban school, paid us a visit a few days ago. He is now the agent of the American School of Correspondence at Providence, R. I.

—The new streets through Mr. Strong's and the syndicate land are being pushed rapidly to completion. They open many fine house lots. The land is thoroughly drained and the location very desirable.

—For greater convenience to my patrons I desire to announce that all calls for my services may be transmitted to me by public telephone from Waban drug store, at my expense. Respectfully, Henry F. Cate. tf

—The Waban Women's club opened its year most auspiciously on Tuesday, Nov. 7. A social tea was given at the home of the new president, Mrs. Samuel I. Baker of Windsor road. After a gracious speech of welcome, Mrs. Baker was assisted in receiving the members of the club by the other officers, Mrs. Louis K. Harlow, Mrs. Thomas E. Ripley, Miss Lothrop and Miss Strong. After the reception, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Robinson and Miss Isola, in Japanese costumes and amid many Japanese decorations, served tea and refreshments. The ladies then had the pleasure of listening to Miss Jones, who rendered several piano solos, and then a violin solo was given by Miss Dennis, accompanied by Miss Flint. Mrs. Ripley recited "The Rajpoot Nurse" in a most pleasing manner. A vocal solo was expected from Mrs. Miller, but she was unable to be present. The wish of the president to promote sociability among the club members seemed well accomplished, thus giving many new residents of this delightful suburb an opportunity to meet the older members of the club. The next meeting is at Mrs. T. E. Ripley's on Chestnut street, Nov. 21st, when Mrs. May Alden Ward will lecture on "As Others See Us."

Brave Explorers

Like Stanley and Livingstone, found it harder to overcome Malaria, Fever and Ague, and Typhoid disease germs than savage cannibals; but thousands have found that Electric Bitters is a wonderful cure for all malarial diseases. If you have chills with fever, aches in back of neck and head, and tired, worn-out feeling, a trial will convince you of their merit. W. A. Null of Webb, Ill., writes: "My children suffered for more than a year with chills and fever; then two bottles of Electric Bitters cured them." Only 50 cents. Try them. Guaranteed. How Doctors Disagree.

The following discussion between doctors on hygienics of the skin, which was given in The Sanitarian, may be interesting to readers as a proof of how doctors differ: Dr. L. D. Judd, of Philadelphia, advocated rubbing the skin in the morning with warm water, following this by cold water until the skin was all aglow. Soft linen or a soft crash towel should be used to dry the surface. It was well known, he said, that those who wore woolen clothing next the skin were very prone to catch cold; he therefore preferred porous linen. Wool was the proper material for outside garments, but it should be entirely discarded for underwear. Dr. Bulkley said that these views regarding woolen underwear were entirely at variance with his own belief and experience. It was exceedingly important to use woolen garments having no cotton. He did not favor frequent bathing so much as in earlier days of his practice. Dr. Babcock said that he had tried the mesh linen underclothing, but had found that he could not keep warm without putting on another suit over it. With the linen he had not appreciated sudden changes of temperature so keenly, but had been unable to keep so warm as with woolen underclothing. Dr. C. C. Ransom, of New York, said that an extensive experience with people working in Turkish baths had led him to believe that there was no real connection between much bathing and disease of the skin. He looked upon the cold morning plunge as pernicious for most people, and instructed his patients to take a bath at the temperature which was agreeable for them at that particular time, barring, of course, a decidedly warm bath. Dr. Walker said that he was very fond of woolen clothing, both day and night, but as an undergarment there was nothing so agreeable to him as the linen mesh, though it was not durable and was expensive. Although one often felt cold while wearing this linen mesh, one did not often take cold. Dr. Judson Daland, of Philadelphia, said that he would be loath to recommend the linen mesh underwear indiscriminately, though he believed most people erred on the side of wearing too much underwear.

EGYPTIAN NEWSPAPER OFFICE.

The Compositors and Pressmen in White Turbans and Bare Legs.

I went the other day to see the editor of an Arab newspaper in Cairo. His office is a disused palace. All new khedives build new palaces in this country, so that it is difficult to find a house of any size that has not begun life as a palace. In the middle wing sits the editor writing his leader—a string of Arabic cobwebs down a narrow slip of paper. The editor is a stout man in fez, blue serge and yellow elastic sided boots, with two warts on his nose and a deep blue dimple on his chin. He writes in a light overcoat, with a rug over his knees, for it is a very cold winter—clouds half way over the blue sky, and you must shut your windows by 5.

He has just finished a slip of copy. He rings a bell, and there comes in a little, brown faced devil in a fez, blue gown, bare brown legs and slippers. "May you see the office? Of course." And out we go to the left hand wing of the palace. Here are about six bare rooms, all open to the others, the plaster peeling here and there from the high walls. Here stand the cases of curly Arab type—bigger than ours, because the language has more symbols. Here are the bare legged compositors at work. In the next room the paper is going to press on the old fashioned sort of machine. As the white turbaned, brown legged, white bicycle skirted native turns at the wheel for his life the half printed sheets swing slowly over, one after another, a maze of twirls and dots and quiggles that you would say no man on earth could read.

And not many can. The subeditors can, of course—four grave faced young men in the inevitable fez and overcoat, solemnly translating from The Times. They salaam respectfully, and when the Englishman, who looks as if he had money, returns their salute, as, being brother journalists, it surprises them much. "But," says the editor, "our circulation is as large as any in the east, but not large enough to necessitate a rotary machine. Yet we sell 5,000 copies daily. It is something in a place like this. It is difficult. Other native papers are subsidized by France or Turkey or others. We, because we are independent, must shift for ourselves. Still it grows and grows. Our paper is read in India and Somaliland."—London Mail.

A WELL TURNED REPLY.

The Minister's Answer to an Angry Feminine Critic.

The minister was preaching a course of sermons in which not only his own people, but outsiders were interested, and as the subjects were announced in advance through the columns of the daily papers the people who attended the services knew what they were going to hear in the way of a discourse each night they attended. But one evening the minister had a severe cold, and it was almost impossible for him to get through the regular service. The sermon could be omitted and it was, and the congregation departed with feelings of deep sympathy for the minister. Not so one woman. She was not a member of the congregation, and when she departed if thought could be heard the air would have been filled with maledictions. But if her feelings did not find vent in words just then they did as soon as she was within reach of pen and ink. She wrote a letter to the minister

"Dear sir," it began, "I saw the notice of the subject of your sermon for last Sunday night in the paper, and I was very anxious to hear it. I do not belong to your congregation and went 16 miles to hear that sermon, and when I reached the church I found that I had taken my journey in vain. I realized then for the first time the truth of David's remark, 'All men are liars.'"

The letter reached the minister safely. It was a letter duly signed and with the writer's address, and the minister, not being given to undue meekness, answered it:

"Dear madam," he wrote, "as you were at church on the evening to which you refer you must have understood the circumstances and realized that it was impossible for the sermon to be preached that night. You might not have been entirely out of the way in your quotation, however, if you had given the whole of it, for the words of David were, 'I said in my haste, all men are liars.'"—Chicago Chronicle.

A Thrifty Wife.

A careful, prudent wife is a blessing to a man, especially to a poor man, but some wives are a little too careful. Lord Eldon's wife was somewhat "near," as they say in England. His lordship was very fond of hunting and retired to the country for a few weeks toward the end of the season, where he was in the habit of riding a little Welsh pony, for which he gave 50 shillings. One morning his lordship, intending to enjoy a few hours' sport, ordered Bob to be saddled. Lady Eldon objected, but as company was present gave no reason. In a few moments, however, the servant opened the door and announced that Bob was ready.

"Why, bless me," exclaimed her ladyship, "you can't ride him, Lord Eldon. He has no shoes on."

"Yes, my lady; he was shod this week," said the servant.

"Shameful!" exclaimed her ladyship. "How dared any one have him shod without orders? John," she continued, addressing her husband, "you know you only rode the pony a few times last year, so I had the shoes taken off and have kept them ever since in my bureau. They are as good as new, and these people have shod him again. We shall be ruined at this rate."

A Bad Way to Fish.

A Moplah fisherman at Calicut and three other fishermen were fishing in the Kallai river with a dragnet. They had netted, among other things, a mullet which tried to escape, whereupon the Moplah, unable to let go his hold of the net, stooped down and smartly caught the fish between his teeth. A moment after he dived to free the net from one of the stakes on which it had got caught. Under water, the fish being in its own element, got more vigorous, but in wriggling about it slipped the wrong way and stuck fast in the man's gullet. The man was helped ashore, and attempts were made to remove the fish, but they failed, and the man died of suffocation. —Amrita Bazar Patrika.

In the Parlor.

Tommy—Pop, in his stocking feet.—Brooklyn Life.

A Close Mouthed Pair.

A story told in a French journal some years ago has its amusing side, although it concerns two people who took anything but a humorous view of life.

One was Perlet, a tragedian of much merit and a most excellent man in every respect, who was nevertheless so sensitive and shy that he was regarded as almost a misanthrope by those who knew him in private life.

In spite of his gloom and taciturnity, he took it into his head to marry and settled upon the pretty daughter of Tiercelin, a famous comedian, as the woman he wished to wed.

Tiercelin was as melancholy and morose as Perlet, and a meeting between the young actor and the old comedian was arranged by some friends who saw what pleasure the two men were likely to take in each other's congenial society.

There was a little dinner at which there were but two covers. Perlet and Tiercelin seated themselves in silence, and the dinner was served. Course after course came on and went off without a word from the two participants.

When the repast was ended, Tiercelin rose from the table, and, extending his hand to Perlet, said, with grave cordiality:

"Sir, you are just the son-in-law I want!"

Apparently he was also the husband whom pretty Mlle. Tiercelin wanted, but there are rumors that, in spite of her love, there were days when she had a dull time of it, between her taciturn husband and her gloomy father.

Over Two Centuries Old.

Says the Philadelphia Record: "What is known as 'the old rock house,' in East Penn street, near the Reading railway bridge, Germantown, is said to be the oldest dwelling house in Philadelphia. There is little doubt that it is over two centuries old. It is built upon a high, solid rock, which led to its being called 'the rock house.' Through a meadow which formerly existed and around the base of the rock flowed the Wingohocking creek. There the people assembled to hear William Penn preach, which he did standing on the rock, and it is said he held a meeting in the house. During the Revolutionary war some of the British cavalry had their hats in the meadow surrounding the rock house."

A Stingy Man and His Hen.

The meanest man in Illinois lives at Centralia. He put a large porcelain egg in the nest of an ambitious hen and found that the eggs she had afterward laid were increased in size. Then he put a goose egg in the nest, and the aforesaid hen laid an egg just as large. He was so well pleased with the scheme that he put a whitewashed football in the nest and waited results. When he went the next time to search for eggs, he found one as big as the football, but no hen in sight. Securing the egg, he saw engraved on it by hen photography these words: "I'm no ostrich, but I have done my best." Later he found the hen inside of the egg.—Enfield (Ills.) Clarion.

Have You Heard Of It?

You may have heard about SCOTT'S EMULSION and have a vague notion that it is cod-liver oil with its bad taste and smell and all its other repulsive features. It is cod-liver oil, the purest and the best in the world, but made so palatable that almost everybody can take it. Nearly all children like it and ask for more.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

looks like cream; it nourishes the wasted body of the baby, child or adult better than cream or any other food in existence. It bears about the same relation to other emulsions that cream does to milk. If you have had any experience with other so-called "just as good" preparations, you will find that this is a fact.

The hypophosphites that are combined with the cod-liver oil give additional value to it because they tone up the nervous system and impart strength to the whole body.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

Newton Golf Club Champion.

The championship of the Newton Golf Club was decided last Saturday, when Mr. A. B. Cobb beat Mr. Marshall Stimpson, 6 up and 4 to play. In the semi-final round Mr. Cobb beat E. A. Wilkie, 4 up and 3 to play, and W.T.Mann defaulted to Marshall Stimpson.

OUR VOLUNTEERS.

Gen. Shafter's Met. ds ompared Wnd Clara Ba.t.n's.

The hospital ship Morgan City arrived at San Francisco the other day with 500 sick and wounded soldiers from the Philippines. Gen. Shafter ordered them transferred to the Presidio Hospital, by the steamers McDowell and Vigilant, but made no provision for shifting them from one ship to the other, or for caring for them during the interval—so at least it is alleged. When the Morgan City arrived at Fremont street wharf, no ambulances, stretchers, or nurses met her, and the sick and wounded had to get ashore as best they could, men hardly able to walk struggling to carry those who could not walk at all. They were left on the wharf for hours, with no one to care for them, and with hardly room to stretch themselves out.

"The people about the dock grew indignant. Murmurings arose, but murmurings brought no relief to the pale and trembling men who had to help themselves or not be helped at all. It was about 4 P. M. when the McDowell and Vigilant steamed up to the pier. It must have been 6 o'clock when the sick and wounded reached the Presidio Hospital. All day they had been buffeted about in making the transfer."

The papers are severe upon "the great hammock campaigner, Gen. Shafter," who is held responsible, rightly or wrongly, for this criminal neglect. Not long ago, Gen. Shafter in an intervied declared himself opposed to equal suffrage and said he did not believe Clara Barton or any other woman could have superintended the commissary or hospital department successfully, because she could not drive a six-mule team. While he was thus holding forth on the physical feebleness of women, he was seized with a violent attack of chills, and had to be put to bed by his daughter, which brought the interview to an end. Probably those 500 sick and wounded soldiers from the Phillippines would have been glad if Clara Barton had been in charge of the arrangements for receiving them, instead of Gen. Shafter.

Miss Anthony Upon Our Voters.

Miss Susan B. Anthony recently gave a very able address before the Alling class of young men, in the Central Presbyterian Church, Rochester, N. Y., when she said in part:

"The old maxim that the fountain can rise no higher than its head, is no truer in the law of physics than the law of political ethics, that the government can be no higher or purer than the majority of its constituents. Hence, if our city, state or national government is not what we wish, the remedy is not in securing new officials, but new and larger numbers of real constituents—in other words, make the source higher.

"Is it not fair to assume that men alone have done their very best to purify and elevate the voting constituency? At any rate, I shall not charge them with not having tried to do so. Yet to-day, after a century and a quarter, the existence of new political parties constantly appearing to put down bribery, corruption and all sorts of dishonesty in our government is proof of the futility of their efforts.

"For example, to carry a certain point—the putting down of the Rebellion, slavery was abolished. To perpetuate the life of the Republican party and ensure the election of Gene al Grant, the black man was enfranchised. So, to secure the moral betterment of the government, there must be added a voting constituency to bring up the political scale.

"All men, native and foreign born, white and black, rich and poor, educated and ignorant, virtuous and vicious, outside the state prisons, idiot and lunatic asylumns, are already voters. This new balance of power must come from the other half of the people. Where is the hope that women's voting will bring it?

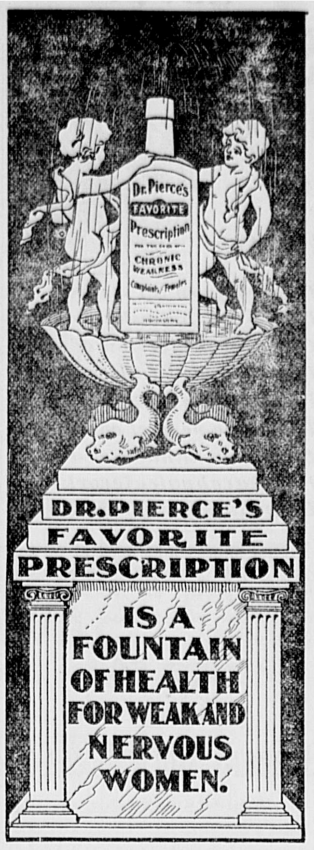

"A very small portion of the occupants of the police stations, poorhouses, jails and prisons are women. The vast majority of the members of churches, reform and literary associations are women. According to statistics, three fourths of the members of churches are women and five-sixths of our teachers are women.

"On the contrary, the men who are now voters elect officials to office who run the government in the interests of the material portion of the community, the men engaged in mercantile and business pursuits, including those who are engaged in the liquor traffic.

"Thus legislators and statesmen are powerless to bring about reforms and enforce laws, because they are not responsible to the women in the community who would vote for their enforcement if they had the power to vote.

"If you put the ballot into the hands of the half that has in it three to one of the best people, you at once change the balance of law-abiding voters, or at least bring a balance of the scales. The three good women put into the scales with one good man would certainly be a help for education to bring over to the good side enough to elect fearless officials who would enforce the law."

The Pingree Gardens, under the charge of the Women's South Side Club of Denver, Col., have been very successful this summer. One boy of thirteen, who had before been a "terror" in the neighborhood, has been so industrious that he has vegetables enough to last his family through the winter. He has also paid for the horse and wagon with which he peddles his produce, and is now saving money to buy a cow. Although Denver women have the ballot, they seem still to have time for good works.

It is possible, in the event of pleasant weather, that the members will arrange another tournament before closing the course for the winter.

—A series of Sunday evening talks on "The New Thought or Metaphsical Movement" will be given in the chapel of the Channing church beginning Sunday evening, Nov. 12th, at 7.30 o'clock. Mr. Charles P. Newcomb author of "All's Right With The World" will speak on "The Song of Life." All are cordially invited.

—Rev. Charles W. Wendte, of Boston has accepted a call to the pulpit of the Unitarian church, to fill the vacancy caused by the removal to Dorchester of Rev. B. F. McDaniel. The call was extended to Dr. Wendte at the annual meeting of the society held on Nov. 1. He will preach his first sermon next Sunday morning.

—A game of rugby was played at West Newton last Saturday afternoon between the Newton Centre R. N. and the West Newton team. The Newton Centre team won 12 to 0. Goals were made by Captain Walter Andrews and Albert Nichols both making long runs from the field. Bartlett kicked one goal and Nichols the other. The halves were 15 and 20 minutes long one goal being made in each half.

—The concert given in the New Methodist Episcopal church on the 8th was attended by a large and appreciative audience. The artists, with the exception of baritone, were all soloists, Newton musicians and have a high reputation. Organ solos by Mr. Trowbridge were grand and impressive. Violin solos by Miss Agnes Trowbridge beautifully rendered. Solos by Mr. Atwood and Mr. Parmelee, given in an extremely effective style, their rich voices under finest cultivation were never heard to better advantage. The piano accompaniments by Miss Louise Trowbridge were all that might be expected by such a gifted and cultivated pianist. It was one of the finest concerts ever given in this place.

Through tickets via rail or steamer, and all information concerning Florida can be obtained at Plant System office, 290 Washington street, Boston. Those thinking of going to Cuba this winter should not fail to get a copy of their "What to say in Spanish," furnished free by J. A. Flanders, New England Agent.

NEWTON HIGHLANDS.

—The Monday Club will hold its next meeting with Mrs. E. H. Greenwood.

—Dr. C. H. Burr of Lake avenue, is confined to the house on account of illness.

—The C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. G. A. Moore, Allerton road, Monday, Nov. 13th.

—Mr. F. Graham, who had a rib broken by an accident, is able to be about town again.

—Mr. B. Dickerman, who has been ill for a few weeks, has so far improved, as to be out of doors again.

—The West End Literary Club will meet next Monday at the home of Mrs. Treadwell, Floral avenue.

—Mason Stone, who was laid up for several weeks on account of a broken ankle, is able now to attend school.

—There were 399 names on the voting list in precinct 2, Ward 5, on election day, of which but 219 cast their ballots.

—Rev. Edward C. Porter of Watertown will conduct the services at the Congregational church, next Sunday morning.

—Mr. Frank Rodell of Parker street has taken the house on Centre street, the old home of the late Miss Josephine Hyde.

—Mr. L. O. Carpenter, who has been a clerk with J. H. Green, druggist, for a number of years, has moved to Somerville.

—The Methodist society have held quite a successful fair at the church, with suppers on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

—Mr. Irving H. Davis, the barber in Stevens' block, has moved from Boylston street to the double tenement house on Lincoln street, opposite the postoffice.

—Mr. A. E. Pennell and family have had as their guests, Mrs. Pennell's brother, Mr. Kent and wife, who resided at Colorado Springs, and have now gone to Aiken, S. C.

—Mr. C. F. Johnson has sold his estate on Lake avenue to Mr. F. J. Hyde, and Mr. Hyde has sold his estate on Erie avenue, formerly the Forristall residence, to Mr. Johnson, who will occupy.

—Mr. Alfred H. Allen, formerly of this place, died at Denver, Col., Nov. 7, aged 39 years. Memorial services at his late home 44 Harrison street, Newton Highlands, Sunday, Nov. 12, at 3 p. m.

—The Social Club, whose members are the wives and daughters of members of the Newton Highlands Club, met at the clubhouse on Tuesday afternoon, and whist was in order, but the names of those winning prizes, have not yet been reported.

—Rev. Wm. Safford Jones, who has been the pastor of the Unitarian society for two years past, has accepted a call to Randolph, and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Jones, will remove to Randolph and occupy the parsonage.

—The United States Electric Signal Company, whose works are at Crane's factory, have placed three automatic signals on the line of the Newton & Boston railway, the patents for which were granted to Mr. J. J. Ruddich, C. E. Rand and others.

—The Rev. Dr. James H. Pettee, a missionary in Japan, will speak at the Methodist church next Sunday evening, at 7.30. The subject will be "Life in the Orient." A cordial welcome to all. In the morning, Rev. N. A. Mayo, pastor of the Methodist church in Newton Upper Falls, will preach at 10 45.

—Mrs. Schwaar has sold her fine residence with stable, on Walnut street, to Mr. F. J. Hale of Upper Falls, who buys for a home. Mrs. Schwaar will make alterations and improvements on her house on the other side of Walnut street, and will occupy, if not sold, or let, when the work on same is completed.

—The ladies of the Methodist church had a very successful sale at their vestry, Tuesday and Wednesday. Supper was served both evenings, and was followed by an entertainment consisting of recitations, vocal and instrumental music. Miss Fanny Stevens was in fine voice, and her cousin, Miss Berry, gave several admirable recitations, as did also Miss Ada Powers of this place, whose elocutionary talent gives promise for the future. Miss Sarah Corbett of Boston, rendered several selections on the violin, in a most pleasant way, and Miss Cook sang with her usual effectiveness. The whole affair was a decided success and was largely attended.

OAK HILL.

—The fair which was held in this place Oct. 28th, and gotten up by some of the ladies in this vicinity, proved a grand success. Although the weather indications were threatening and kept some away, there were a goodly number, especially children, in the afternoon, and a large number in the evening. The tables, which were draped with bunting, presented a pretty appearance. The fancy table, which was heavily laden with things, both useful and fanciful, was attended by Mrs. James Dallachie, Mrs. Wm. Wiswall and Mrs. Wm. Wright, they realizing a good sum of money. The ice cream and cake table was attended by Mrs. Wm. Fuller and Mrs. Charles Hall, and the ice-cream and cake found ready consumers. The confectionery table, which was presided over by Misses Edith F. Hall and Eva E. Sanderson, was well patronized. The peanut basket was superintended by Miss Margaret Dallachie, and was soon relieved of its contents. The fish pond, which was stocked with various kinds of fish, or, rather, things which pleased the children as much or more than fish, was managed by Mrs. Frank Liddell, and was drained before 5 o'clock. The guessing contest, which was for a fruit cake, two angel cakes, a barrel of apples and a barrel of potatoes, was of much interest and amusement and was looked after by Mrs. Wm. Ball. The fruit cake, which weighed nine and one-quarter pounds, was taken by Miss Abbie Newcomb and Mr. James Esty, and was divided. The angel cakes were taken by Mr. Frank Liddell, who guessed nearly correctly the number of beans in a bottle. The barrel of apples, which was taken by Mr. Charles Hall and Mr. Joseph Cahin, the number of apples being 511, was afterwards given to be auctioned off, bringing in all about $6. The potatoes, numbering 467, were taken by Mr. James Esty and Mr. Joseph Cahin. The fair closed with an auction sale of things left, with the exception of a few articles which were left on the fancy table. The proceeds, which reached the good sum of $85.20, clear of expenses, was for the chapel building fund, and has been paid over to the treasurer of the Oak Hill Union Evangelical society, Rev. Lyman W. King. We wish to thank every one who in any way helped to make the sale the success it was.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Gen. A. P. Martin of Boston will give a lecture on "The Battle of Gettysburg," at the Methodist church, next Wednesday evening at 7.45.

—For greater convenience to my patrons I desire to announce that all calls for my services may be left with Mr. John W. Howe, High street, who will forward them to me with the greatest possible dispatch. Respectfully, HENRY F. CATE. 16 tf

—The Pierian club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Bernard Billings. The roll call was responded to with quotations from Sir Thomas Moore. After a short business meeting and reading of current events refreshments were served. Several of the members took the club on an imaginary tour through Naples and visited many points of interest.

—Nearly a score of prominent Newton Upper Falls citizens met last evening in the hall of the Quinobequin Association on High street in the interests of forming a branch of the Newton free library in this village. It was shown that the city was willing to provide $600 with the understanding that the citizens subscribe an equal sum. In addition to this the Saco & Pettee machine shops and the Newton silk mills have consented to give $50 each and Rev. T. J. Danahy, rector of St. Mary's church, $25. Last evening a committee was appointed to prepare a list of officers to be voted upon at next Thursday evening's meeting. The committee includes H. E. Locke, O. E. Nutter, Louis P. Everett, William Hopkins, Dr. McOwen, Walter Chesley, John Temperley and William Mason.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—An alarm was rung in from box 51 at 9.09 last evening for a slight fire in the house on Grove street, owned and occupied by Mrs. Vaughn Jones. The blaze was caused by the explosion of an oil lamp and the damage was about $20.

William Scollay Whitwell.

Mr. Whitwell, the Nestor of American engineers, whose funeral took place Tuesday, in Boston, was an old time resident of West Newton. The prominent position this village took a half century ago in the great reforms was due to the noble men and their distinguished wives who were its citizens.

It was a seething epoch, when reforms in education, theology and antislavery were championed by Horace Mann, Theodore Parker and William Lloyd Garrison. Mr. Mann, Cyrus Pierce, principal of the normal school then here, William Parker, superintendent of the Boston & Worcester R. R., Chesboro, the distinguished engineer who constructed the aqueduct which conveyed Cochituate water from the lake to the old reservoir at Brookline, and who afterwards raised Chicago 8 and 10 feet for drainage, Mr Whitwell, who took the water from Brookline and distributed it through Boston,—these, with the exception of Chesboro, who was a native of Maryland, were intensely interested in each and all the above reforms, and thus gave a name as Radical to our village not yet wholly lost.

Mr. Mann had just emerged victoriously from his controversy with the 31 Boston school masters,—mobbing the abolitionists was then (1848), and continued to be, a pastime with the proslavery of the country,—while Theodore Parker and his views were ostracised from even Unitarian churches. The great Buffalo convention was held that year (1848), when and where the Free Soil Party was formed.

Few are now living who were of an age sufficient to recall the intensity of life with those who took part in the above controversies. None of the last generation can imagine it. Mr. Whitwell joined in the above movements, and with others formed the First Unitarian society of Newton at West Newton.

An intensely active, beneficent life Mr. Whitwell lived from early boyhood to the great age of nearly 91 years.

It need not be added that Mr. Whitwell came of excellent family stock. Such characters come not by accident.

Warden Whitten Resigns.

Warden George W. Whitten of the Newton almshouse has placed his resignation in the hands of the overseers of the poor.

He intends removing to Middleboro, and his resignation will take effect as soon as his successor is appointed.

Warden Whitten's relations at the Newton almshouse have been of the pleasantest character and he has always had the confidence of his superiors.

He came to Newton from Wellesley where he occupied a position similiar to the one held in this city. Under Mr. Whitten's careful direction the Newton almshouse has been admirably conducted.

High School Notes.

The Tau Delta Sigma '02 held a business meeting at Mr. Leonard's house, West Newton, last Friday evening. The officers elected were President, Mr. H. C. Daniels, Vice-President, Mr. H. H. Cheney, Secretary, Mr. A. C. Benton, Treasurer, Mr. K. H. Kendal.

Killed at Belmont.

Joseph Hickey of Newton, a carpenter, was struck by a train and instantly killed at the Belmont railroad crossing Thursday afternoon.

He was fifty years of age, married, and lived at Nonantum.

Officer White Killed.

Joseph B. White, a police officer of Watertown, was struck by an electric car of the Boston Elevated Railway company, on Galen street, last evening, and injured so badly that he died within an hour at the Massachusetts General hospital. His skull was fractured. The motorman, Richard Gallagher, was arrested, but later was released on bail.

Witnesses of the accident attach no blame to the motorman. They say that Officer White tried to cross the street behind a Newton-bound car, and stepped directly in front of a rapidly moving Boston-bound car. The motorman reversed the power, but it was too late.

White was hurled 25 feet, and when picked up was unconscious.

The deceased was 50 years old. He is survived by a widow and three children. He lived with his family at West Watertown. Before becoming a member of the police force he was employed for years in the paper mill at Watertown.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

Pursuant to a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by James L. Murray and Mary A. Murray, his wife, in her own right, to Gamaliel P. Atkins, dated July 29th, 1899, and for breach of the conditions thereof, will be sold at public auction on Saturday, the second day of December next, at three o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises, a certain tract of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Newton, at the northerly corner of Clinton and Crafts streets, and bounded and described as follows:

Being lot No. 2, on a plan of land in Newtonville, belonging to C. P. Harkins, drawn by E. S. Smilie, surveyor, dated Nov. 16th, 1892, and recorded in Middlesex Registry (So. District) at the end of book No. 2188, said tract of land being bounded on the north by lot No. 1 on said plan seventy-two feet; easterly by lot No. 3 on said plan sixty feet; southerly by Clinton street forty-nine and eighty-hundredths feet (49 80-100) (said southerly line running from said lot No. 3 to a stone bound on Crafts street) and westerly by said Crafts street, forty-eight and forty-nine hundredths (48 49-100) feet containing 4019 square feet.

Being the same land conveyed by Cornelius P. Harkins to Mary A. Murray by deed recorded in Middlesex (So. District) Registry of Deeds, Book No. 2188, page 452.

Said premises to be sold subject to a mortgage of $2,300 to The Co-operative Bank of Watertown, recorded in Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds (So. District) book 2704, page 301, and all accrued debts thereon, and also to all unpaid taxes and other municipal assessments. Terms, $50 at time and place of sale.

All kinds of furniture and housekeeping goods will be kept and orders taken for new work. Mr. Given has had many years experience as a manager of one of the oldest wholesale furniture houses in Boston, so that he is well fitted by experience to succeed in this enterprise, and all orders will receive prompt attention, and he hopes to receive a fair proportion of Newton patronage. Ladies are especially invited to call at the store and look over the stock. The location is in the store formerly occupied by the Newton Journal. An advertisement on the fourth page gives further particulars.

—The Simmons Bros.' entertainment given at the parish house of Grace church, last Tuesday evening, was without question a great success. The pleasing way in which both brothers delivered their experiments was both attractive and entertaining and a more unique performance could not have been expected from the most expert magicians. Mr. J. de Vere Simmons presented a series of sleight of hand tricks with coins and other small articles that seemed to appear and fade away at his desire. Mr. Oscar Simmons deserves hearty congratulations for his card tricks, which he performed with great success, being attractive, both in their mysteriousness and the way they were performed. The "Flag Trick," where three handkerchiefs, red, white and blue were made to appear and change into a small American flag, and then into a large American flag, was one of the prettiest tricks of the evening. Another seemingly impossible trick was the bag trick, where Mr. J. de Vere Simmons placed his brother in a large bag, having the mouth tied securely by a gentleman in the audience. A screen was then placed around him and in less time than it takes to tell it, Mr. Simmons appeared from behind the screen holding the bag securely tied as before. To conclude the entertainment Mr. Oscar Simmons performed his wonderful mesmerism trick, selecting a young man from the audience whom he was successful in placing under his power with a few passes of his hand. A series of mathematical experiments were performed, such as reading the number of a bill borrowed in the audience, and lastly a few examples in multiplication and addition done by the subject with surprising accuracy, which was supposed to be entirely due to transmission of thought or what is called "Keller's Mental Telegraphy." The Messrs. Simmons have made quite a reputation for clever and amusing parlor entertainments.

Critically Ill.

Alderman Niles was taken seriously ill on Monday with appendicitis, and an operation was deemed necessary at once. Very serious trouble was found, and his condition was regarded as so critical that the chances were against his recovery. But the three most critical days have passed, and this morning his condition is a little more favorable. The danger has by no means passed, however, but his recovery is now deemed possible. Dr. Reid is his attending physician.

Dissatisfaction in Ward One.

There is great dissatisfaction in Ward One over the nomination for ward alderman, although every one is laughing at the way it was secured. The plan was to promote Alderman Fisher to the two year term, and Mr. Charles E. Riley was persuaded to accept the one year term. At the caucus, Mr. Ivy threw these plans into confusion by getting up and saying that Mr. Riley did not want the one year term, but would like the two year term, and Mr. Ivy was presented as a candidate for the one year term. In the confusion that resulted Mr. Ivy was nominated by just one vote. Mr. Fisher's friends feel that he has been very unfairly treated, and there is talk of opposition candidates.

Death of Gilman Brackett.

Gilman Brackett, a pioneer resident of this city, and one who had watched its growth and development with much interest, died last evening at his home on Centre street, aged 83 years.

Mr. Brackett had been ill but a few hours and during yesterday had been out of doors. Death was due to old age.

Mr. Brackett was born in Newton in 1816. He was the son of Col. Nathaniel Brackett of Centre street, whose house was on the site of the present Luther Adams estate, corner of Centre street and Fairmont avenue.

Mr. Brackett was one of the founders of the Channing Unitarian church and a deacon at the time of his death. His wife, whose death occurred a few years ago, was the daughter of Jeremiah Russell of Watertown.

Two sons, Messrs. Willard G. and W. Russell Brackett, survive him. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at the house at 1.30.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY.

The Finance Committee of the Newton Hospital earnestly appeals to the citizens of Newton for a generous contribution towards its financial needs on the approaching Hospital Sunday, November 26.

It is a matter of satisfaction to those who are specially charged with the administration of this institution to feel that its work, in the direction of ministering to the sick and suffering in our own community, has been so generally recognized by our citizens.

Through the munificence of several of our citizens many important additions and improvements, costing some $45,000, have been made to its facilities during the past two years; and with an added equipment in every department, of a superior character, it is now second to no other hospital in its appointments.

While its thorough effectiveness is so generally recognized, and while it is a matter of congratulation that its field of usefulness is to be increased, such an increase in its work can only be had through an increased cost of maintenance, estimated to be about thirty per cent. the present year. It should also be remembered that after exhausting the reserve fund there exists an indebtedness of $35,000, incurred for the improvements made by the corporation last year. This, we feel, needs only to be emphasized to meet a hearty response.

We feel assured that the praiseworthy action of those who have so generously contributed to place the hospital at the front will be fully appreciated by the citizens of Newton, and that the additional means necessary to maintain it will be forthcoming.

We therefore earnestly appeal to all to make the offering on Hospital Sunday, November 26, a generous one.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

HEARING ON THE SCHOOL BOARD'S PETITION FOR LAND TO BE ADDED TO WILLIAMS' SCHOOL SITE AT AUBURNDALE —ALDERMAN MORTON ON WATER RATES.

The board came together precisely at 8 Monday evening and devoted 55 minutes to hearing the school committee and several Auburndale residents regarding the need of an addition to the Williams school at Auburndale.

Mr. Hardy revealed a surprising condition of affairs at the Williams school, which, he said, was the cause of mental suffering to the school board, and at which the residents of Ward 4 were indignant.

By his remarks, which in some respects were similar to those made by him at a previous hearing, it was shown that the overcrowded condition of the Williams building had forced the board to utilize a coat room, 7x24, and also to convert the basement into a recitation room.

"We have so many pupils in each room," Mr. Hardy said, "that one teacher cannot do her charges justice, such as the elements of teaching require."

He said further, in reviewing the history of the schools for the past ten years, that every effort had been made by the school board to use every particle of room and give the pupils the best accommodations obtainable.

There are, according to Mr. Hardy's statements, 310 pupils in the Williams building and 149 in the Ash street building, both being badly overcrowded.

It was absolutely necessary that more room be provided, and that at the earliest possible date, as the number of pupils increased annually at the rate of one room a year. "The present condition of things cannot continue," said Mr. Hardy.

Further, he stated that in his opinion, despite the fact that there are various views on the question, he felt that the most economical thing for the city to do in any event was to provide for the accommodation of pupils by an addition at the Williams building and leave the erection of a new building on the north side of the tracks to the future.

Mr. A. C. Farley, president of the Auburndale Improvement Society, urged the need of additional accommodations, and emphasized the need of a school hall. His description of his experience in attending the graduating exercises last June showed the great disadvantages which visitors labor under upon occasions of this character. Further, Mr. Farley told how the teachers were forced to neglect some of their charges because of the vast number under their care.

Rev. F. N. Peloubet endorsed the remarks of the previous speakers and said he thought Auburndale should be given this, that favors from the city government might be evenly balanced throughout the city. He urged the need of a school hall.

Mr. Charles Brown, Mr. G. B. Fiske and Superintendent of Schools Fifield were among the other speakers. Their remarks were along the line of the other speakers.

Mr. R. L. Bridgman, owner of the land upon which it is contemplated to build the new addition, thought it wiser for the city to erect a new building on the north side of the track. He pointed out the growth in that quarter of Ward 4 which had more than doubled that of the south side. His sentiments were endorsed by two other speakers.

At 8.55 the hearing was closed and the board voted to refer the matter to the public property committee.

OTHER BUSINESS.

The petition of Miss Hall for an intelligence office at Auburndale was granted.

The sewer committee recommended the construction of a sewer in Montvale Crescent, and a hearing on the subject was ordered for Dec. 4.

The recommendation of the public property committee that $250 be appropriated for plans for the erection of a new hose house in Newton Lower Falls was referred to the fire committee

The public buildings commissioner was authorized to purchase a gas plant, gas fixtures and coal for the new almshouse building. An appropriation covering the cost was adopted.

The city treasurer was authorized to issue $63,000 worth of Washington street widening bonds.

ABOUT WATER RATES.

Alderman Morton introduced an order, which to say the least was unexpected. It called for the appointment of a committee of three to consist of one alderman and two citizens, who should consider the improvement or change of the present system of distributing water throughout the city, and also a readjustment of the water rates.

In support of his order Alderman Morton said the present system was the cause of much dissatisfaction, and that tenants and landlords as well thought the meter method susceptible of improvement. The method of measuring the water might be readjusted with success, he thought.

Chairman Knowlton ruled that he had no right to appoint a committee from the citizens.

Finally it was decided that the water committee should consider the subject, and that Alderman Morton should be made a member of that body pro tem. At 9.16 the board adjourned.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.—ADOLPH L. No Golf Saturday.

Owing to Saturday's storm there was very little golf playing on the links of the various Newton clubs. Several players were out for practice work, but none of the tournaments arranged for the day took place.

Newton Congregational Club.

The next regular meeting of the Newton Congregational Club will be held in the chapel of Central church, Newtonville, on Monday evening, Nov. 20, 1899.

The address of the evening, "Light upon the Bible from the Ruins of Babylonia," will be given by Edgar James Banks, Ph. D., lately United States consul at Bagdad. Vocal music may be expected from Mr. Stanley R. Fisher and Dr. David E. Baker.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

ENCOMIUM TO THE FLAG.

A POEM READ BEFORE THE WATERTOWN HISTORIC SOCIETY MARCH 14TH, 1899.

The American flag is a sacred emblem of the independence of the thirteen American Colonies from the mother country, England, and of the arms of the father of our country, Gen. George Washington.

It is also co-existent with the Declaration of Independence of the United States, of the opening clause of which "All Men Are Created Equal," it is a symbol and a souvenir.

Its stars were suggested by the three stars quartered on the shield in the heraldry of the Washington family, granted in A. D. 1533, to Lawrence Washington.

The white and red stripes were used upon a flag by the East India Marine Company which was organized in A. D. 1600.

The combination of these two designs for the flag of our country, was conceived by a committee of Congress chosen at the time of the Declaration of Independence, July 4th, 1776.

This committee consisted of Gen. George Washington, Hon. George Ross and Robert Morris. The first model of the flag was made by Betsy Ross, at 239 Arch street, Philadelphia. This flag was adopted by Congress, June 14th, 1877.

All men born equal, by Nature free
God gave them right to say
Who may be the trusted leaders, when
The people own the way.

When leaders grand show us the path
The way to truth and right—
The people's duty is—"Do and Dare"
Sustain them in the fight.

The peoples flag; Emblems of men's trust
In Liberty's true way
When born by free men with brave true hands
Shall always win the day.

This famous flag by our fathers made
Shall be a thing to stay;
Can we keep it free and pure from lust
Of Empires' Servile Sway.

'Tis the peerless flag of liberty,
Our fathers' fondest pride,
The one they have to victory bourne
O'er land and ocean's tide.

'Tis the one that all on foreign ground
Is safeguard sure, A grand
Protection for each wandering one
Away from father-land.

The flag that above his steel clad ship
The sailor loves to see,
And carry it to victory; o'er
The restless rolling sea.

'Tis the flag that cheers our soldiers on
'Mid battles fierce array,
When charging squadrons meet and clash
Where freedom gains the day.

No slavery vile polutes its home
No tyrant mars its sway,
Its folds protect each sovereign state,
In freedoms onward way.

These proud states united all as one
Their sons and daughters true
Shall forever keep its colors bright,
The red, the white, the blue.

And rally quick at their country's call
The nation's cause is just,
It is not for us to question why,
Defend its flag we must.

For its starlit field of azure blue,
Its stripes of white and red
Gave hope and cheer to our fathers brave
When they for freedom bled.

This glorious flag of Washington
The people's pride and boast
Shall forever wave o'er land and sea
And all around our coast.

No kingly power shall tear it down,
No treason stain its place
While there remains a patriot band,
Sons of a hero race.

Truth, justice, faith, education free
With liberty, and law,
These to keep pure with supreme power
"In God we trust," with awe!

Brave and strong, united we will be,
To keep this flag unfurled,
Emblem ground of all the people's rights,
Proclaim this to the world.

We only seek for extended sway
To check foul wrongs increase,
Our mission true is the cause of right,
Our policy is peace.

Golf at Brae Burn.

On the links of the Brae Burn Golf Club at West Newton last Friday afternoon the tournament for the founder's cup was completed. In the finals C. I. Travelli defeated Fred H. Hovey by a score of 2 up. The contestants were obliged to play 36 holes.

Willis E. Stacey Found.

Willis E. Stacey, whose home is on Henshaw street, West Newton, and who is employed as a travelling salesman by an Oliver street house in Boston, left Boston, Nov. 1, for a business trip to Vermont and New Hampshire. He had been suffering from some trouble with his head, and, as a week elapsed and no tidings came from him, his family and associates became alarmed for his safety. Inquiry at points he was expected to visit while away revealed the fact that he had not been there.

Saturday last it was learned that Mr. Stacey was at Athol, where he had been stopping at the Pequoig House for over a week.

The disappearance of the younger Mr. Stacey is understood to be ascribed by his father to temporary aberration, induced by a recent illness.

School Game in Newton.

Brown & Bradford school of Boston defeated the Newton club at Newton Tuesday afternoon by a score of 23 to 5. The visitors were much the heavier, averaging over 170 pounds.

On the first kick-off Pratt of the Boston team caught the ball and ran the entire length of the field for a touchdown. Newton's score was made on a difficult drop kick by Andrews from the 25-yard line.

Examine the new oil cloth on the kitchen floor; its color and gloss are being destroyed and you may see where a cake of common soap fresh from the hot water in the scrubbing bucket has been laid on it for a moment, the free alkali having eaten an impression of the cake into the bright colors.

A more careful examination will show small "pin holes" here and there where the alkali has cut through the surface to soak into and gradually weaken the whole floor covering.

This is what cheap soaps do. Use Ivory Soap, it will not injure.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

THE NEW CAUCUS ACT HAS A MAJORITY —DELEGATES FOR MAYOR UNPLEDGED BUT BELIEVED TO FAVOR MAYOR WILSON—NOMINEES FOR WARD ALDERMEN.

The Republican caucuses were held Wednesday night, and five out of the seven wards voted to accept the new caucus act. The total vote of the city was 254 yea and 137 no.

The majority of the delegates to the city convention are said to be in favor of a second term for Mayor Wilson, but none of them are pledged.

The attendance was fairly large and there were no very exciting contests.

Ward One had a fight as usual, and there was a contest between Jesse C. Ivy, present alderman at large, who was a candidate for ward alderman, and Charles E. Riley. Mr. Ivy won by the close vote of 29 to 30, and Mr. Riley is the choice of the ward for alderman at large. There was a strong vote for the new caucus act, which was very complimentary to Mr. Langford, who is a resident of the ward, and as representative had a good deal to do with the drawing up of the act. The delegates are said to favor Mayor Wilson.

In Ward Two there was a majority against the new caucus act, curiously enough, although the attendance was not a large one. The candidate for ward alderman is Walter H. Pulsifer, and Alderman Stickney is favored for alderman at large.

In Ward Three the attendance was unusually large, and there were 54 votes against the caucus act to 20 in favor. The delegates are said to favor Mayor Wilson, and the nominee for ward alderman is Thomas B. Fitzpatrick, and George Hutchinson is favored for alderman for two years. Capt. S. E. Howard and Robert Gorham are said to be favored for school committeemen.

In Ward Four Mayor Wilson was endorsed and Quincy Pond favored for alderman for two years, and Charles A. Brown was nominated for ward alderman. Messrs. F. M. Crehore and E. E. Hardy, present members of the school board, were renominated without opposition.

In Ward Five there was a light attendance and perfect harmony, and Mayor Wilson was strongly favored. Alderman Chesley is endorsed as alderman at large and Charles H. Wardwell is nominated for ward alderman.

In Ward Six Henry Baily was favored for another term as alderman, and Alfred S. Norris was renominated for ward alderman.

Ward Seven had about fifty voters present and Alderman Dana is favored for another term as alderman at large and Alderman Weed was renominated as alderman for one year. There was a ticket against the renomination of Frank H. Howes as member of the school board, but it only received three votes, and the others were for his renomination.

The votes on the caucus act and the delegates chosen in the several wards were as follows:

Ward 1—For caucus act 56, no 5; alderman for one year, Jesse C. Ivy; delegates to city convention, D. F. Barber, C. J. Bailey, J. R. W. Shapleigh, W. S. Bowen and I. T. Fletcher.

Ward 2—For caucus act 14, no 28; alderman for one year, W. H. Pulsifer; delegates to city convention, N. H. Chadwick, Henry F. Ross, J. F. Lothrop, W. C. Boyden and H. H. Carter.

Ward 3—For caucus act 20, no 54; alderman for one year, Thomas B. Fitzpatrick; delegates to city convention, George P. Bullard, Harry L. Burrage, Vernon E. Carpenter, Joshua B. Langley and George H. Ellis, Ward 4—For caucus act 49; no 8; alderman for one year, Charles A. Brown; delegates to city convention, G. M. Fiske, H. M. C. Bunker, Peter C. Baker, Frederick Johnson and A. C. Farley.

Ward 5—For caucus act 59; no 4; alderman for one year, Charles H. Wardwell; delegates to city convention, C. S. Luitweiler, Frank J. Hale, George N. Towle, E. P. Bosson, Benjamin P. Dresser.

Ward 6—For caucus act 29, no 23; alderman for one year, Alfred S. Norris; delegates to city convention, E. H. Mason, Daniel T. Kidder, Jr., George S. Smith, William E. Shedd and Norman H. George, Ward 7—For caucus act 27, no 15; alderman for one year, Alonzo R. Weed; delegates to city convention, Isaac T. Burr, Edwin W. Gay, William P. Ellison, George C. Travis and N. C. Whitaker.

Six Frightful Failures.

Six terrible failures of six different doctors nearly sent Wm. H. Mullen of Lockland, O., to an early grave. All said he had a fatal lung trouble and that he must soon die. But he was urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. After taking five bottles he was entirely cured. It is positively guaranteed to cure all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs, including Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup, Whooping Cough, 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at all drug stores.

The Dawn of a New Day.

The Young Men's Christian Association of Newton has been under a cloud for some time owing to a large indebtedness which handicapped the committees of the association in all the departments of the work.

Just when the night was darkest, a gentleman who had been identified with association interests at large for many years, and probably, has had as large experience in this phase of Christian activity as most men, became available for the presidency of the association.

Mr. S. M. Sayford, feeling the necessity of a year's rest from his labors among college men, consented to take the helm, and as he expressed it lately, though he is out of the saddle for a while, he finds plenty to do on foot.

Friends of the work have rallied splendidly under the new management, and already the entire debt has been cancelled, and nearly the whole amount asked for by voluntary subscription for current expenses, has been secured, so that for the first time in its history, the association has the necessary funds secured in advance, and the new president makes the promise that no contributor shall be asked for another dollar during the coming year.

Mr. Sayford, in a public address in Eliot church last Sunday morning, answered the question: "Is the Y. M. C. A. needed in Newton?" and did it so satisfactorily, that many people who doubted its use here have been converted, and a most generous offering was made to the treasury of the association.

The new policy, "pay as we go," is to be strictly adhered to, and there is every indication of the association being put on a sound financial basis.

A most competent physical director has been secured, and already new life is apparent in this important department of the work. In this connection our business men are offered a fine opportunity for the better development of their bodies and the conservation of health. No exercise is comparable to the all round exercise in a good gymnasium under the care of a competent instructor. Every boy, ten years of age and over should have the advantage afforded now in this department.

The services of Mr. Parker have been retained, who, with the new president, is perfecting plans for larger work.

Among the new features will be Tuesday evening entertainments, (beginning with Tuesday, 21st inst.,) of a high order. Rev. C. M. Southgate of Auburndale will open the series with an address entitled "Allies from Gath." Later will be informal addresses on electricity, health, law business, etc. This interesting series is to be punctuated with musical and other entertainments. The Sunday afternoon meetings are to be made a strong feature of the religious work.

Arrangements are being made for a special praise service which will be of peculiar interest to all our people.

With the request to write this article, the president desires us to state that the conditions are met, upon which pledges have been secured, and therefore all pledges are binding, and early remittances will be gratefully appreciated by the management of the association.

The Billiard and Pool committee also announce billiard, bottle billiard, pool and bottle-pool tournaments for club members.

Arrangements have been made for a weekly exhibition of famous paintings in the smoking room.

Throughout the winter Saturday evening will be observed as "Gentlemen's Night," the usual lunch being served at 9.30.

Brave Explorers

Like Stanley and Livingstone, found it harder to overcome Malaria, Fever and Ague, and Typhoid disease germs than savage cannibals; but thousands have found that Electric Bitters is a wonderful cure for all malarial diseases. If you have chills with fever, aches in back of neck and head, and tired, worn-out feeling, a trial will convince you of their merit. W. A. Null of Webb, Ill., writes: "My children suffered for more than a year with chills and fever; then two bottles of Electric Bitters cured them." Only 50 cents. Try them. Guaranteed. Sold by all Druggists.

NEWTON CLUB.

Gentlemen's night at the Newton Club last Saturday evening was a well attended event, there being over 150 members present. The entertainment of the evening, which was rather unique in its way, was furnished by Sunetaro, known as the "Oriental Wonder." From 8 till 9.30, Sunetaro entertained the members with sleight-of-hand tricks of the most puzzling order, which were well received. The balance of the evening was taken up by pool, billiards and whist.

An event which brought out a large number of Newton's society ladies was the first "ladies' matinee" of the season, which was held Tuesday afternoon at the Newton Club. It was held in the club's handsome assembly hall, which was decorated with flowers and plants. The entertainment of the afternoon was furnished by Mr. Leland T. Powers, who delighted the audience with his graphic impersonations of "Lord Chumley."

A large company enjoyed the illustrated lecture of Mr. Robart Harper given Wednesday evening in the assembly hall on "Around the world in a man of-war." Mr. Harper's talk contained much of interest and his manner of describing his experience completely captivated the audience.

REAL ESTATE.

Robert F. Miller reports the sale of a lot of land in Newton Highlands, fronting on Centre street and containing about 9356 feet, by Belle A. Moffitt to Charles Clifford Metcalf, who has bought the handsome house adjoining, and adds this land to his grounds. Belle A. Moffitt has also sold two lots, fronting on Boylston road, Newton Highlands, to Walter H. Bathrick, who intends to build a house in the near future.

Edward A. Bangs has bought from Augustus P. Loring, for investment and improvement, several lots of vacant land in Newton, situated on Waban Hill road, there being some 32,800 square feet. While the price is not stated, it was in excess of the taxed value of $9000.

Another sale of land in Newton is that of about 7389 square feet on Norwood avenue, the grantors being Albert M. Fowle and others, and the purchaser Alice Weir. The terms of sale were private.

Recent transfers include the sale by Daniel O'Driscoll to Francis R. Howley of a house and lot on Parker street; the sale of a house and 2275 feet of land on Clinton street, by James W. French, to Martin Dorsey, and the purchase of 15,176 feet of land on Commonwealth avenue, Newton, by A. C. MacKay from Augustine Shurtleff.

"Free?"

The Sultan of Sulu mused thoughtfully.

"Free?"

"They told me that I would be free when I became a citizen of the United States."

Then he went into the palace again and resumed his task of explaining to his 20 wives the reasons why he stayed out so late the night before.—Philadelphia Record.

—Messrs. George Simpson and George Saunders have left for Porto Rico, where they will engage in the carpentering business.

—Tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 8 there will be a bazar in the barn of Mr. Dutton at the corner of Woodland road and Hancock street.

—The members of Riverdale lodge N. E. O. P., will be entertained by Mr. W. N. Lincoln at his home in Brookline next Monday evening.

—The Auburndale 2nd football team defeated the Newton Lower Falls team at the Riverside Recreation grounds last Saturday afternoon. 17-0.

—There are many enthusiastic admirers of the Harvard football team in this village who will attend the Yale-Harvard match in large numbers.

—The highway department of the city have begun the construction of a concrete sidewalk in front of Mr. Johnson's property on Lexington street.

—The regular meeting of Auburndale lodge 111, A. O. U. W., called for last Wednesday evening has been postponed for one week on account of the caucuses.

—In the vestry of the Congregational church last Thursday evening the monthly sociable was held. Supper was served at 6.30 and the evening was spent in a social way.

—At the Methodist church last Sunday Rev. W. T. Worth preached at the morning and evening services. A young people's meeting at 6.30 p. m. was a new feature inaugurated.

—The new front of the postoffice, which is constructed of buff brick, is about completed. It will enlarge the old wooden building and add much to the appearance of the square.

—This evening a coffee party and dance will be given in Odd Fellows hall West Newton by the members of St. Bernard's Aid Society which is composed largely of young people of this place.

—The Ladies of the Church of the Messiah will hold their annual fair next week, Wednesday and Thursday, in Norumbega hall, Taylor's block. The doors will open at 2 o'clock. A supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

—Auburndale residents are much interested in the question of an addition to the Williams school. There is great need for more room that all the pupils may be accommodated. The city government should give the matter immediate consideration.

—There will be no more notices of "lost, strayed or stolen" posted on the bulletin in the postoffice. Hereafter this board which has served some residents of Auburndale so well, will contain nothing but official notices. Moral—use the advertising columns of the GRAPHIC.

—Lasell Seminary has received $1000 by the will of the late Jeremiah Clark of Lowell. The directions regarding the execution of the will requires that the income of this bequest be used in defraying the school expenses of students who are not able to meet the entire cost.

—The most interesting event of the week to a majority of Auburndale ladies and gentlemen was the opening Monday evening of the branch of the free library and the new Norumbega hall, both of which are situated in the new Taylor block. The affair took the form of a concert in the Norumbega hall, over 250 were present. The proceeds will be devoted to the reading-room fund. Monday evening's program consisted of selections by Miss Glenn Priest violinist, Miss Victoria Johnson contralto, Mr. John Orth piano and Miss Adeline Raymond accompanist. Mr. Orth played his numbers with the clear scholarly insight which is characteristic of the man, and gave a program which interested the audience, and which was at the same time of the best character. He is a musician who should be heard more often than he is, and the Staccato Brillante his own composition, showed him to be an interesting writer as well as player. Miss Johnson has a fine contralto voice, which she uses to the best advantage, showing good training and musical intelligence. Her singing gave great pleasure and she was obliged to respond to an encore. Miss Priest is a young violinist of great promise and has an undoubted future as an artist. She has a large, broad and firm but flexible tone, and her bowing is graceful and well under control, and her playing gave pleasure to the large and critical audience which filled the hall. Miss Raymond filled the place as the accompanist to the satisfaction of performer and listener. Mr. Arthur Farley made a short speech before the last number, voicing the feeling of the audience in thanking Mr. Taylor for giving such a beautiful hall to the people of Auburndale. The hall, which is in the new Taylor block, is one of the most dainty and artistic halls one can imagine. The tinting is delicate and pleasing to the eye, the lighting is bright but pleasant, the acoustics perfect, and altogether the hall is a great success. The new reading room contains many references, a number of interesting periodicals and daily newspapers. In addition to this there are several games. Already many have been attracted to the new rooms, which now stand as a monument to the enterprise and public spirit of Ward 4 residents.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—A new fruit store has been opened in Gammon's block.

—Mr. Thos. Flanagan has purchased 3 cottages between Wales and Washington streets from the Park Commission and is removing them to Walnut street.

THERE are women everywhere who suffer almost constantly because they cannot bring themselves to tell all about their ills to a physician.

Such women can surely explain their symptoms and their suffering by letter to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for the confidence reposed in her has never been violated. Over a million women have been helped by her advice and medicine.

A WOMAN HELPS WOMEN

Mrs. Pinkham in attending to her vast correspondence is assisted by women only. If you are ill, don't delay. Her reply will cost you nothing and it will be a practical help as it was to MISS ELLA E. BRENNER, East Rochester, Ohio, who says: "I shrunk from the ordeal of examination by our physician, yet I knew I must have treatment. My troubles were backache, nervous tired feeling, painful menstruation and leucorrhœa. I am so grateful to you now that I am willing to have my name published to help other girls to take their troubles to you. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound used as you wrote me has made me entirely well and very happy. I shall bless you as long as I live."

Mrs. Pinkham receives thousands of such letters from grateful women.

MISS NELLIE RUSSELL, of 138 Grace St., Pittsburg, Pa., in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham says: "From childhood I suffered from kidney trouble and as I grew older my troubles increased having intense pain running from my waist to my womb and the menses were very painful. One day, seeing your advertisement in one of our papers, I wrote to you.

"When your reply came I began taking your Compound and followed your advice and am now in perfect health, and would advise any lady rich or poor to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I can praise above all other remedies. It is a wonderful help to women."

—The demolishing of the tenement buildings along Wales street has caused the many occupants a hasty removal, and every house about here is now occupied.

—Dillingham & Wiswall are almost ready to start Bishop's mills after a long shutdown resulting from a fire destroying the most important machinery of the plant.

—Workmen are employed at the Billings & Clapp laboratory. It is rumored a syndicate has leased the plant and put it in shape for the manufacture of automobiles.

—The alarm from box 51 for a fire at the Jones residence was caused by a defective hall lamp and was extinguished without any damage before the arrival of the department.

—The citizens here will most assuredly agitate strongly the matter of a wider street through here next spring. When a team in turning must collide with an electric car for want of street room it shows up a very dangerous thoroughfare.

—A decided improvement is noticed where the Finlay mill and yellow block once stood. Concord street to the river is being graded, dead wood and unshapely trees removed. A bridge to the island is another of the improvements soon to come.

—The funeral of Mrs. Morrill, a long time and respected resident of this place, took place Sunday. The deceased was advanced in years and retained good health up to a few weeks ago when she was removed to the hospital for treatment. The interment was at St. Mary's church cemetery.

—There are letters remaining in the postoffice for Geo. W. Allen, W. J. Anderson, Miss Pearletta Allen, Mrs. Harriet Augoin, Albert D. Bostoin, Mrs. J. A. Cassidy, Oscar Dudley, C. M. Hewing, Miss Mammie E. Lewis, W. A. Logan, Christo-Morrison (3), Wilbert Ogilvie, Mrs. Philomone Quintal, Mrs. Charles Smith, Miss Ethel Laber.

NONANTUM.

—Mr. Albert Carrs has entered the employ of Edward La Croix.

—Mr. John Dugan has commenced his duties as station agent at Bemis.

—Mr. Herbert Davis has accepted a position in the Atlas Shoe Co., Boston.

—Sunday evening a praise service at 7 15 will be held at the Beulah Baptist Mission.

—Mr. Thomas Wilson of California street has received an appointment as Notary Public.

—Sunday evening the Club Charette entertained visitors from Waltham, Watertown and Cambridge,

—The three children of Mrs. D. Sullivan of Chapel street are at the Newton Hospital sick with diphtheria.

—Next Sunday at 3 o'clock Mr. Edward Arnold of the Warrenton Street Mission, Boston, will speak at the Beulah Baptist Mission.

—W. J. O'Neil's house on Adams street was raided Saturday evening by Sergt. Purcell and officers of division 2, which resulted in seizing a small quantity of liquor, —A number of citizens are trying to get some store to keep stamps on sale. At present there is no way to buy stamps without going to the Newton post office, which is inconvenient to many.

—The French court of Foresters held a smoke talk on "Naturalization," last Thursday evening. Speeches were made by Alderman Weldon, Mr. Forknall, Mr. J. T. Langford, Dr. Boucher of Watertown, Mr. T. Genest, deputy of the Quebec court of Foresters, Mr. J. E. Burke and others.

—Word was received last week by Mr. Halfrey, for many years sexton in the Grace church, Newton, that his son Frank, a private in the 12th U. S. Infantry, which is serving in the Philippines, had died. Private Halfrey had served a number of years in the navy and the army. He participated at the battle of San Juan, Cuba, and numerous skirmishes in the Philippines.

—In court Tuesday morning, Pasquale Todera, the Italian arrested Sunday night for cutting a fellow-countryman named Giovane Cobacio, was found guilty of assault with a dangerous weapon and sentenced to one year in the house of correction. He appealed and was held in $1000 bonds. Ancangella Furat and her husband, who were arrested at the scene of the cutting, for disturbance and drunkenness, respectively, were found guilty, and Ancangella was fined $10, and her husband $5. In securing the arrests of these prisoners, Sunday night, Sergt. Purcell and Patrolmen O'Halloran, Dalton and Desmond encountered no little difficulty. The affair caused a minature riot among the inhabitants of the Italian quarters on West street, and to take the prisoners to the police station, the officers were obliged to draw their clubs and occasionally use them.

THE REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

THE caucuses held on Wednesday night declared in favor of the new caucus act by a decisive vote, five out of the seven wards giving good majorities in favor, which is very gratifying to the lovers of good government. The act provides for fair and honest caucuses and will prevent any snap actions or other tricks by which the will of the voters is often thwarted.

In regard to the mayoralty question, the delegates seem to favor the re-election of Mayor Wilson for the usual second term, although as a general thing no pledges were exacted.

The most notable caucus was the one held in West Newton, which was one of the largest ever held in that ward, and evidently some hard work had been done in inducing leading men to allow their names to be used as candidates for the board of Aldermen. The ward delegation next year promises to be an exceptional one for ability and standing in the community and in the business world. Captain Weeks has another year to serve, and so the caucus had a high standard to start with, and they selected Mr. George Hutchinson, the head of the great boot and shoe jobbing firm, the Clark-Hutchinson Co., for the two year term. He has lived on Chestnut street for the past seven or eight years and has always taken great interest in local affairs. For the ward alderman an equally strong nomination was made, in Mr. Thomas B. Fitzpatrick, of Brown, Durrell & Co., who is so well known for his interest in all that is best in public affairs, and whose name alone is sufficient endorsement of any movement. Ward Three may well feel proud that such men can be persuaded to serve her in the city government, and they will probably have a pretty unanimous vote.

In regard to the school committee, Mr. Lawrence Bond, who has served on the school board for several terms, absolutely refused to serve again, and hence it was decided, it is said, to nominate men who were in no way connected with the recent troubles in the school board, one way or the other, and Capt. S. E. Howard and Mr. Robert S. Gorham were selected. Capt Howard has represented the city in several capacities with credit. Mr. Gorham is a young man, a graduate of Harvard and a successful lawyer of Boston, being a member of the firm of Ropes, Gray & Loring. He is said to be much interested in educational problems, is president of the Neighborhood club, and a very popular man.

As Ward Three selected all new men, its action is worthy of extended notice, and its aggregation of talent would seem to indicate that the West Newton end of the aldermanic board would rather tip down the scales next year and its representatives will have great influence in the board.

FOR THE NEWTON HOSPITAL.

The West Newton Unitarian parish has early set a good example, having anticipated the usual "Hospital Sunday" contribution by officially notifying the trustees of the amount collected, and stating that the church treasurer may be drawn upon at any time. But best of all, the sum to be contributed largely exceeds any previous figures, notwithstanding the fact that this parish has for many years been numbered among the most liberal givers. To quote figures, which we are now at liberty to do, the amount already subscribed is $2000 00 with a possibility of more to follow, as against $1400.00 given last year. This excellent showing is largely the result of a new plan by which the individual subscriptions have been obtained by a system of pledges taking the place of the usual method of a box collection on "Hospital Sunday."

This is a worthy home institution benefitted at a time when extra funds are greatly needed to keep active the several new wards so generously donated by friends, and also to enlarge the facilities for work along the usual lines. The West Newton Unitarian parish is commended for its generous contribution, and we trust this evidence of its interest will prove an incentive to associate churches throughout the city.

DUMPING STATIONS.

The franchise for a railway on Boylston street may be all right for the few people that live in that locality, but it looks to us very much that, if granted, they would be in the same position that the people are who live on Commonwealth avenue, or who wish to reach the city of Boston by electric cars that go to Nonantum square. We have every reason to believe that the terminus of this road will end in Newton, and that the people who wish to reach Boston will have the privilege of changing cars and paying two fares, which is decidedly objectionable. One reason that no more real estate is sold on the boulevard is because residents there are subject to the annoyance named above. If a franchise is to be granted, why not let the West End have it. This we believe would do more to build up that section of our city, and we are sure would be more attractive than it would be if we had another dumping station.

PROF. ATWATER of Wesleyan University addressed the New England Association of School Superintendents in Boston, last Saturday, on his experiments with alcohol as food, and his paper has aroused a good deal of interest as well as raised a nice question in morals. He gave as a result of his investigations that alcohol in limited quantity is as much a food as starch or sugar. The so-called scientific text books in our schools teach that alcohol is a poison which the system rejects or cannot consume without harm. Prof. Atwater said that he was opposed to the view that it was justifiable to deceive in a good cause. Children will in the end find out the truth and the result will be more harm than good. Here is where the question of morals comes in, and the extreme temperance people are finding all sorts of fault with Prof. Atwater. The evils of intemperance are so great that many hold that even if the truth is twisted somewhat, the result will be good in warning the growing generation away from anything that contains alcohol, and so they are asking for more stringent teaching in the schools as to the poisonous nature of alcohol. Like Portia they plead that to do a great good one should not be afraid to do a little harm. Others hold that the effect will be worse upon the children, if they learn that the statements in their text books are not to be depended on, and that they will lose confidence in all statements made in these books, on this question. Possibly some compromise might be made and the text books altered so that the children might be taught that owing to the failure of our government to provide any reliable inspection, nearly all liquors sold in this country are so adulterated with poisons of various kinds that the use of them will be followed by the dire results set forth in the text books and charts. This would warn the children away from liquors, and besides would not be disputed by Prof. Atwater or any other really scientific authority. Prof. Atwater made his experiments with pure alcohol, which is a very different thing from what is sold in saloons and other places.

Timoney, J. F. Freeman, James Kiplahan and A. W. Summerville.

—A business meeting of the Newton Education association was held Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. W. C. Richardson, Highland avenue. Mr. D. C. Heath was elected president for the coming year. The remainder of the officers are the same as last year. Arrangements were made for a public meeting to be held Tuesday evening, Dec. 5th. It is proposed to have an address by the president of the association, followed by an informal reception that the teachers and citizens may become better acquainted.

—About a year ago Mr. Andrew Wellington of Bowers street received from Florida a number of Japanese squash seeds. Their peculiar appearance attracted the attention of all who saw them. On each seed a character or figure (apparently Japanese) was plainly stamped. It was supposed that the seeds were so marked when taken from the squash. Mr. Wellington planted the seeds and six squashes was the result, but owing to the shortness of the northern summer only one ripened. Upon investigation it was found that the seeds are marked in the same manner as those received from Florida. A number of seeds have been left on exhibition at the store of Mr. Strout and have attracted much attention.

—The first hurdy gurdy party of the season was given Wednesday evening in Temple hall by Mrs. J. L. Atwood. About 50 couples were present including guests from Boston, Cambridge, Denver and the Newtons. The hall was tastefully decorated with potted plants and colored lights. The matrons were Mrs. J. W. Fenno, Mrs. H. C. Fisher, Mrs. C. P. Curtis, and Mrs. Geo. Pope. The following young ladies acted as ushers: the Misses Fenno, Miss Josie Pierce, and Miss Kittie Atwood. Music was furnished by Marie Grosse. She gave one of her charming tambourine solos, at the same time playing the hurdy-gurdy. The floor director was Mr. J. L. Atwood. Mrs. Atwood was earnestly requested to give another of the parties in the near future.

—On Tuesday evening, Nov. 14th, Mrs. A. E. Cunningham, Tent No. 2, Daughters of Veterans, celebrated their anniversary at G. A. —Mr. E. E. Hurd of Watertown street narrowly escaped a serious accident in the subway station, Sunday evening. As he started to board a Newton car it started. His foot slipped throwing him violently to the platform. His lip was cut necessitating several stitches, and he was badly bruised and shaken up.

—The Ladies Mission Circle of the Baptist society, met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Cordingley, Central street, Auburndale. Owing to the inclemency of the weather, only a small number of ladies were present. Several interesting papers on the mission work in China were given. At the close of the business session a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

—A business meeting of the suffrage fair committee and the executive board of the Newton League was held Monday forenoon. Arrangements were made for the annual meeting of the league, which will be held the second week in December. Several prominent suffragists will be present and will make short addresses. A number of valuable donations for the Newton table at the fair were received and further donations may be sent to the chairman of the committee, Mrs. T. E. Stutson It is hoped that the Newton table will surpass in beauty and success any in the hall.

—Owing to illness, Prof. A. E Dolbear of Tufts College, was unable to give his lecture at the West Newton Women's Educational Club, Friday afternoon. Col. E. B. Haskell of Auburndale, kindly took his place and gave an interesting address on "The English Commonweaith and the Events which led to its Establishment." Previous to the lecture a touching appeal was made for the starving Cubans, A good sum was contributed which was afterward increased to $25. This will be forwarded to the New England Branch of the Cuban Industrial Relief Fund. Music was under the direction of Mrs. Baker.

—Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Chief of Police Fred A. Tarbox was married to Miss Alice Adams Butler. The ceremony was performed at their new home on Margin street, by Rev. Dr. George W. Shinn, rector of Grace Episcopal church. There were present only the immediate relatives. The bride was gowned in white duchesse satin with trimmings of fur. She carried bride roses. She was given away by her uncle, Mr. Richard J. Adams. Her only attendant was her younger sister, Miss Maude Butler. At the close of the ceremony there was a brief informal reception, after which Chief and Mrs. Tarbox left on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside on Margin street.

—Tuesday afternoon the Allen school football team met on their home grounds the team of La Salle school of Waltham, and defeated them by a score of 12 to 0. La Salle kicked off. Kennedy caught the ball and carried it nearly to the center of the field. Allen then, by a series of line bucking plays, advanced the ball several yards. Then Hunter (Allen) punted to Hurley, who made a good run, but was tackled by Hunter, who seized the ball and ran about 60 yards for a touchdown. Bright man (Allen) then kicked a goal. Allen made one more touchdown and goal, and the game was called on account of darkness about the middle of the second half. Allen 12, La Salle 0. The features were the line bucking by Hurley and good runs by Hunter, Magin and Nielson.

A Welcome Calendar.

Among the attractive calendars for 1900 just issued is the Pottery Tile Calendar of Jones, McDuffee & Stratton, made by the old Wedgwood Pottery in Staffordshire, which adds to their series of historical buildings, this year being the old Hancock House, (built 1737, demolished 1863), on Beacon street, with the coach-and-four in front. This issue makes the seventeenth year of the series.

MONEY TO LOAN
By the Merchants Co-operative Bank
Why not begin now to pay for your home? The easiest and best way is through the Co-operative Bank system of regular monthly payments, which has been in successful operation in this State over 22 years. Do you want to buy a house? A loan of $2000 requires a monthly payment of $18.33, of which $10 applies on the loan, the balance being 5 per cent. interest. If your mortgage is about due, or overdue, or you want a low rate of interest why not call and look into the system? Money also advanced to build in partial payments. Deal direct with the Bank, and pay no commissions. Further information of Death of George L. Thayer.

Mr. George L. Thayer, who died Tuesday morning at Belmont, was formerly a well known Boston leather jobber, and at one time was a resident of Newton. He was born in Boston,and was about 81 years old. He was educated in the Boston public schools.

When a young man he embarked in the leather business. For a long term of years he was at the head of the firm of Thayer, Field & Co., prominent Boston leather jobbers on Central street, and later of the firm of Thayer, Field & Whitcomb.

Mr. Thayer was a son of George W. Thayer, formerly president of the Exchange Bank of Boston. He was a member of the Central Club and the Boston Art Club, and when in Boston attended Dr. Edward Everett Hale's church.

He retired from active business about 15 years ago, and since then had resided part of the time in Newton. He leaves a widow, a son, Mr. George A. Thayer of Brookline, and a daughter, Mrs. George E. Hatch of Newton.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 2 from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hatch, on Waverley avenue. Rev. W. H. Davis, pastor of Eliot church, officiated and the interment was at Forest Hills cemetery.

There is a Class of People who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over 1-4 as much. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15 cts. and 25 cts. per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

High School Notes.

The Pi Delta Sigma '01 met at Miss Stone's, Waban, Friday evening.

The T. C. S. '02 have elected Pres., Miss Richardson; Vice-Pres., Miss Carter; Sec'y., Miss Lovell; Treas., Miss Freeman.

The P. B. held a business meeting at Mr. Henry Tolman's, Monday evening.

The '02 foot ball beat Newton Highlands Saturday morning by a score of 5 to 0.

Newton High defeated Medford High in the second of the league games, Wednesday afternoon, score 11 to 5.

This afternoon the team will play Watertown High at Newton Centre.

D. A. R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter D. A. R. was entertained at the Newtonville Club house on Monday afternoon. The rooms were appropriately decorated with silk flags and beautiful chrysanthemums. The hostesses were Mrs. E. E. Thompson, Miss Alexander, Mrs. S. A. Ranlett, Mrs. C. E. Hatfield, Miss E. W. Bennett and Mrs. Arthur Hosmer.

Miss Allen, the regent, presided. Mr. Ashenden sang several selections, which were charming in their impressiveness. A letter was read from Miss Daggett, the state regent, withdrawing her resignation, which was greeted with hearty applause. Mrs. Arthur Hosmer read a most entertaining account of the state conference of the D.A.R. at Hingham, which twelve members of the chapter attended. After again listening to Mr. Ashenden's wonderfully rich voice, Miss Allen introduced Col. Samuel Allen Drake, who gave a most delightful and instructive paper on the "Diplomacy of the American Revolution," which was thoroughly enjoyed by all of those who heard it. After singing America a dainty collation was served and a social hour enjoyed. Under the auspices of this enterprising chapter two historical lectures are to be given, by Prof. John Fiske, Nov. 21st, at 8 p. m., in Unitarian church parlors, West Newton, and by Edwin D. Mead on Nov. 28th.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your Grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. 1-4 the price of coffee. 15c. and 25 cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

Sunday Golf Playing.

Printed in the Boston Herald of last Monday is the following interview with Chief of Police Fred A. Tarbox, regarding Sunday Golf playing

Chief Tarbox of the Newton police, when interrogated by a reporter as to what action he would take against Sunday golf playing, declined to state just what he might do. The chief, however, expressed himself as not having the slightest doubt that Sunday golf playing, while inoffensive in itself, was a violation of law.

Speaking of the latter matter, he said:

"A law passed in 1895, entitled 'An act to regulate the observance of the Lord's day,' to my mind, covers all sports similar to base ball and golf. This law is to the effect:

" 'Whoever takes part in a game, sport, play or public diversion on the Lord's day, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $50.'

"There is no proviso modifying or annulling this statute, or, at least, none that I know of.

"In a certain town, not far from Boston, I have heard that golf is played on Sunday for charitable purposes, but, to my mind, it is nonsense for ball players or golfers to attempt to justify themselves on this ground. The privilege that the statutes grant to charitable societies or religious organizations to give entertainments on the Lord's day for charity does not apply in this case. The law stands, even if it be called a 'blue law,' and should be enforced, for it is recent legislation."

The Home Circle

are to hold a sale of useful articles, aprons, home made cake, and candy, and to provide a grand good supper, on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, Nov. 23, at the Unitarian church, West Newton. A mystery table will offer marvelous attractions for old and young. Our charity work through the Newtons is with every year demanding more money and attention. The calls from the poor and suffering are very imperative, and we prepare these tables and provide this supper, extending to our friends most cordial invitations to help us by their presence and patronage. The doors will open at 2 p. m. Supper served from 6 to 8 o'clock. Admission 10 cents. Admission to sale and supper, 50 cents. 2t

At Springer Brothers.

Every week sees some new feature at Springer Brothers, in wraps, furs and gowns. The winter styles are now settled upon and a visit to their store is well worth while for every lady who wishes to keep up with the times. Some of the latest things shown are electric seal coats, made after the same mode as the Alaska seal coats and with fully as much style to them. Electric seal is said to have sprung into great favor this year, and the better qualities are very fashionable.

Muffs and collarettes will be indispensable with the stylish short jackets, and a great variety is shown both in the expensive and moderate priced furs.

The tailor made skirts are a great centre of attraction, as they are cut and made in the best manner, and have that air that is so difficult to get in the work of the ordinary dressmaker. One of the newest designs is shown in the illustration. It is made in perpendicular lines, and is said to foreshadow the favorite of the future.

The skirt is shaped to the figure by clusters of tiny tucks reaching from the waist nearly to the foot, but meeting a circular ruffle from which the body of the skirt is separated by three bands of stitched silk. It would be hard to find a nattier jacket than the one worn with this skirt. It has the prettiest flare imaginable, just below the belt in the back. The jacket is decidedly short and is trimmed by a piece of the material cut at the neck in pointed yoke shape, graduated in width and extending entirely around the jacket and up the side seams of the back. This piece is ornamented with rows of stitching.

The wraps, both long and short, from the popular golf cape to those trimmed and lined with fur, are shown in great variety, and the assortment is such that all tastes and purses can be suited.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

Boston Museum—A welcome attraction will come to the Boston Museum next Monday evening, when "Because She Loved Him So," will begin a limited engagement there. This production will be remembered for the conspicuous success which it made here last season when it was Charles Frohman's annual production in Boston. It had its presentation at the height of the season and ran for weeks to crowded audiences. Its run was only interrupted when it came necessary to take the production to New York for the presentation at the Madison Square Theatre, where it ran all the remainder of the season. All summer was given to an equally successful engagement in Chicago, and now the play returns with the Boston verdict indorsed by all the principal cities of the country. Every body has laughed over it and pronounced it the funniest play in years. Taking a French suggestion, William Gillette has improved upon his original and the result is the richest treat in the comedy line that Boston will have this season. J. F. Dodson, who made the principal character emphatically his own, again returns at the head of the company and will repeat the impersonation which was unanimously agreed to be the most genuinely artistic and deliciously droll bit of comedy work that the local stage has seen. Many of the original cast will return with the company which includes Francis Carlyle, Ralph Dean, Tilly Marshall, Franklin Garland, W. J. Constantine, Charles Eldridge, Roy Fairchild, Annie Irish, Kate Meek, Leonora Braham, (of Charles Frohman's Duke of York Stock Company, London,) Maggie Fielding, Margaret Mayo, Marion Fairfax and Frances Comstock. The Boston engagement is positively limited to two weeks

SUNDAY READING.

SELFISHNESS.

Selfishness, in the sense of wishing to be spared trouble and bother that we do not like, is no uncommon feeling. Take, for example, the question of ministering to the poor. Do we not very often give money in cases where money is the last thing we ought to give, simply to save ourselves trouble? To inquire, to visit, to sympathize would cost far more. It is so easy to give the coin that stops the pitiful cry for a while. It is so much more troublesome to be kind than to be liberal. We are not to be selfish. We must do what we can.

"Ask God to give thee skill in comfort's art,
That thou mayest consecrated be,
And set apart unto a life of sympathy;
For heavy is the weight of woe in every heart,
And comforters are needed much
Of Christ-like touch."

A. H. Browne.

THOUGHTLESSNESS.

Day by day there are countless opportunities for little acts of kindness, of sympathy and of love. These are the true flowers of life, and we are passing them by without ever knowing their fragrance and their beauty.

Nor are we careful enough about the words we speak or the deeds we do. If we are not helping others to be rid of the dark shadow that clouds their lives, if we are not striving to lift them up to purity and strength then our very thoughtlessness is putting a stumbling block in their way, since what might have helped them is withdrawn and held back. We should seek to have that clearness of vision which will enable us to see the inner meaning of life's little duties and life's daily opportunities. Much wrong is done, many openings for good are lost because we do not think—A. H. Browne.

A PRECIOUS OPPORTUNITY.

Hospital Sunday is near at hand, when, in all the Newton churches, the offerings of the people will be asked for the support of an institution which has grown to such noble proportions and has done such good work for many hundreds of the sick and suffering. Every one in Newton should seize the opportunity of showing practical interest in the hospital by giving generously to its support. It will not be hard if a concerted effort is made to secure from $10,000 to $12,000 on Hospital Sunday. The institution needs help now very greatly, and it should receive all it needs.

IS THE SUNDAY SCHOOL A FAILURE?

Now and then we hear some one expressing disapproval of the Sunday school, or complaining that it is not more efficient. Such persons do not realize the great work that is accomplished, nor how disastrous would be the results if the Sunday school were abolished. As it is, a large proportion of young people are indebted to it for nearly all the definite religious training they get. If it were given up they would grow up ignorant of the most elementary religious and moral truths. No one claims that as an institution it is as efficient as it might be, but with the appliances usually at command it is doing so well that it is worthy of more commendation than it usually receives. If those who complain would only take hold and help they would realize the difficulties more than they do now, and would be convinced that it is a most useful agency which deserves their deepest sympathy.

UNCHARITABLENESS.

The spirit of uncharitableness shows itself often in the coldness with which people are disposed to look upon anything that does not fall in with their own views and methods. They regard with suspicion work that is not done as they wish it to be, and refuse to lend a hand. And yet methods which they may not approve are often blessed with success, and efforts which they discouraged by holding aloof from them are often found the very wisest efforts that could be made under all the circumstances. The true plan is to try and see the good at which others aim and to be eager to have them succeed. If God's work is to be helped forward and His Kingdom enlarged we may well bid them God speed.

Rev. John Reid, Jr., of Great Falls, Mont., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize his statement, "It is positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Pres. church, Helena, Mont.

After using Ely's Cream Balm six weeks I believe myself cured of catarrh. Joseph Stewart, Grand Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Balm does not irritate or cause sneezing. Sold by druggists at 50 cts. or mailed by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York.

WABAN.

—Valuable improvements are being made at the station grounds this week.

—Mrs. J. E. Heymer has been quite ill the past two weeks but is now a little improved.

—Mr. W. D. Noyes, one of our enthusiastic huntsmen, is spending a few weeks in the wilds of Maine.

—Mr. Henry Seaver has taken a position with one of the large wholesale grocery stores in Boston.

—Mr. O. R. Rice of Boston has purchased one of the Hano houses on Waban avenue and will soon occupy.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Phelps have returned from Lebanon, N. H., where they attended the funeral of Mr. Phelps' mother. She died at the age of 88.

—The dancing school for the little people in Waban hall is well attended each week. A lady from West Newton is the teacher.

—Mr. G. W. Whitten has resigned as warden of the city farm here and will move to Middleboro some time next month.

—For greater convenience to my patrons I desire to announce that all calls for my services may be transmitted to me by public telephone from Waban drug store, at my expense. Respectfully, Henry F. Cate. tf

—Mr. C. M. Culver has returned from a two weeks' hunting trip in northern New York. He was not so successful as in frost season owing to the warm weather, but he brought home with him considerable winged game.

—At the Republican caucus held at Newton Highlands Wednesday evening, Waban was well represented. Mr. C. H. Wardwell of this place received the nomination for Ward alderman for one year. He has been a resident of Waban about three years, owning a very fine residence on Plainfield street. He stands high in the estimation of the citizens of this village, which was well manifested by the support they gave him. He is 30 years of age, a lawyer by profession, with an office in Boston.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR!

Ask your physician this question, "What is the one great remedy for consumption?" He will answer, "Cod-liver oil." Nine out of ten will answer the same way.

Yet when persons have consumption they loathe all fatty foods, yet fat is necessary for their recovery and they cannot take plain cod-liver oil. The plain oil disturbs the stomach and takes away the appetite. The disagreeable fishy odor and taste make it almost unendurable. What is to be done?

This question was answered when we first made of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. Although that was nearly twenty-five years ago, yet it stands alone today the one great remedy for all affections of the throat and lungs.

The bad taste and odor have been taken away, the oil itself has been partly digested, and the most sensitive stomach objects to it rarely. Not one in ten can take and digest the plain oil. Nine out of ten can take SCOTT'S EMULSION and digest it. That's why it cures so many cases of early consumption. Even in advanced cases it brings comfort and greatly prolongs life.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.
SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

WANTED—A case of bad health that R-I-P-A-N-S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R-I-P-A-N-S on the package and accept no substitute. R-I-P-A-N-S, 10 for 5 cents may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., 10 Spruce St., New York.

MOTHER AND CHILD.

EIGHT STATES WHERE FATHERS AND MOTHERS ARE EQUAL.

In all Others the Father is Sole Owner of the Children—Cases of Mothers Parted From Their Offspring—Hard Cases in Which This Power Has Been Exercised.

The public has been following with interest the report of the Perot case—Mrs. Perot's "abduction" of her daughter Gladys, the arrest of the mother on reaching England, the demand of the United States for her extradition, the discussion whether the question of her extradition might be dropped by mutual consent after she had agreed to give up her child to her husband's father, and finally the return of the elder Mr. Perot to America with the unwilling little girl. No doubt it has occurred to some persons that it was rather "small business" for two great nations to put forth all their strength to part a mother from her own child. There may have been special reasons that made Mrs. Perot an unfit guardian for her daughter; one cannot pronounce upon this particular case without knowing all the circumstances. But the affair has called attention anew to the fact that in most States of the Union a mother, as a general rule, is regarded as having no right to her child unless it is illegitimate.

In New York and seven other States, fathers and mothers are joint guardians of their children by law, as they are by nature. In all the remaining States it is literally true that a married mother, so long as she lives with her husband, has no more legal right to her child than a cow has to its calf.

The husband has the sole control and disposal of the children. He may separate them from their mother entirely, may place them in the charge of the person most unfit to bring them up, and may even send them where the mother will never see them again. This power has been exercised. For instance, a few years ago a Chinaman married a respectable Irishwoman. When their first baby was three days old, the husband gave it to his brother, to be taken away to China and brought up there. The mother, through the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, appealed to the courts. The judge promptly decided that the husband was within his rights. He was the sole legal owner of the baby; he had the sole right to say what should be done with it. The same thing might happen to-day in most of the States of the Union.

A Massachusetts farmer had a child that was not quite full-witted. He disliked the child, and wanted to board it out at the poorhouse. The mother naturally wished to keep it where it would be better cared for; but the law gave her no voice in the matter. She had to leave her husband, and to apply for a legal separation from him, which she did not want, in order to keep her child from being sent to the poorhouse. By Massachusetts law, when the parents are legally separated the court decides which of them shall have the children, and makes the welfare of the children the criterion. That is fair. But unless a woman is willing to resort to the extreme measure of leaving her husband and applying for a legal separation, thus breaking up her home altogether, she has no remedy. The "Massachusetts Association Opposed to the Extension of Suffrage to Women" has published over its imprint a leaflet defending this law.

On the other hand, the "New York Association Opposed to the Extension of Suffrage to Women" boasts of the more liberal New York law on this subject as a proof that all unjust statutes may be amended in course of time by "indirect influence." They may; but the indirect way is needlessly long and troublesome. It suggests the Chinese conundrum, "How long did it take the patient old woman in Hong Kong, when she wanted a needle, to make one by rubbing down a crowbar?" Half a century of effort by indirect influence has secured the amendment of this law in only eight States out of forty-five. Moreover, the vicissitudes of this law in New York show that even when a good statute has been obtained, there is no certainty that it will "stay put."

In 1863 the equal suffragists of New York got the harshness of the old common law modified by a provision that no husband should apprentice or part with the control of a child without the mother's consent. A few years later, this just and merciful statute was repealed, and the old law was restored in its full rigor, with a clause expressly authorizing the husband to bequeath the custody and guardianship of the children away from their mother by will. This continued to be the law in New York for a long time. A few years ago it was repealed, and the present just law of equal guardianship was enacted; but how long it will remain on the statute book nobody knows. Until women have the ballot, they hold all their rights subject to the caprice of a legislature whose composition is constantly changing, and every improvement granted to them is in the nature of a concession at will, which may be revoked at pleasure.

Most men are better than the law, and few husbands use the extreme and tyrannical power which the law gives them. But "the law is not for the just, but for the unjust;"—not for the many men who are willing to do right without compulsion, but for the few who are inclined to be just as mean as the law will let them.—Alice Stone Blackwell, in N. Y. Sun.

The book was suggested to Miss Whiting by a residence during the summers of 1895 and 1896 among the scenes that had known Mrs. Browning in her life.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Capt. C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Galishe. Under date of Nov. 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Beechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

"The Idol of The Blind" by T. Gallon, author of Tatterley and is one of the strongest novels that have appeared in Appleton's Town and Country library. The scene is in England, and the characters are out of the common run. The title refers to a blind but imperious old lady, who is not deterred by her blindness from living her life in her own way, and by means of her great wealth she is able to have most things just as she pleases. She is a remarkable character and has many redeeming qualities in spite of her worldliness and her imperious nature. She has two nephews, the father of one being the direct opposite of his sister. His son she tries and after he proves a failure she adopts the other nephew, the son of a sister, who is one of the most attractive characters in modern fiction, and the story tells how his goodness and simplicity of character are imposed upon by his uncle and cousin, who borrow all the money that is given him by his aunt, and involve him in great trouble. It is a very absorbing story and the events follow smoothly and naturally to the climax. It is not a romance but reads like a section of real life.

"The Heiress of the Season," by Sir William Magnay, an English baronet, is a light and entertaining story of fashionable London life, rather satirical, and far from flattering, and the author shows that the sacred realm of the peerage is as devoted to Mammon worship as are other less exalted circles. It is a relief to find a story where the heiress is not an American and evidently there are some of these fortunate beings that are English born and bred. The heiress and her family have all sorts of experiences in their advent into London society and having their fair share of culture and common sense are often led to ask the question if it is all worth while. How they finally answer it the reader will be interested in finding out for himself.

In the course of a very interesting review of Miss Lily Dougall's remarkable novel, "The Mormon Prophet," recently published in "The New York Times," Congressman-elect Roberts, of Utah, makes the significant statement that the Mormon church has "never repudiated one of the early claims or teachings of the prophet Joseph Smith, nor is there any institution or doctrine of the church which has not sprung from his teachings." It will be remembered that on July 12, 1843, Joseph Smith had a "revelation" authorizing him to take "spiritual wives," and when the Mormon church openly avowed polygamy later this "revelation" was the basis of its defense.

The "Reminiscences of a Very Old Man, 1808-1897," is the quaint title which the distinguished engraver, the late John Sartain, gave to the attractive volume soon to be published by the Appletons. Mr. Sartain was born in London, where as a boy he witnessed the Peace Jubilee, and saw many picturesque phases of old London and its life which have since disappeared. He studied under Varley and Richter, and began to engrave in Ottley's school. In this country his associations were literary as well as artistic. He knew Washington Irving and others of the Knickerbocker literary circle, and his close relations with Edgar Allan Poe form the subject of a most interesting chapter. His "Reminiscences" include personal phases of the development of American art and letters for over sixty years, and the unpublished history which he presents is of most intimate interest. The illustrations include reproductions of rare old prints of London scenes in the first quarter of the century, together with American portraits and pictures which have a lasting historical interest.

"A Corner of the West" is the title of the new novel by Miss Edith Henrietta Fowler, the sister of the brilliant author of "A Double Thread" and "Concerning Isabel Carnaby." Of "A Corner of the West" the London News says: "A fold of the mantle of Mrs. Gaskell seems to have fallen on this young writer, who has a charm and a delicacy of manner and perception that are all her own."

Teaching in this country is so largely dependent upon the text-books used, that publishers have an important place in all efforts for the improvement of education. Fortunately, American publishers of school books are the most enterprising in the world. A notable instance of this enterprise is the Announcement of the Twentieth Century Text-Books just issued by D. Appleton and Company. Nearly one hundred volumes are in preparation, and they will cover the entire field of instruction in high schools, academies, and the lower college classes, embodying the latest results of pedagogical and scientific investigations. The books are prepared by eminent American scholars and teachers, who represent over forty of the foremost educational institutions in all parts of the country. A unique feature of the plan is a complete series of texts for commercial schools, the first of the kind ever presented in this country. The clear discussions of the different phases of education, evidently written by master hands, give the Announcement great interest and value. Never before, so far as we know, has a list of such extent and value been offered at one time to the American public by any publisher. The work has evidently been organized with the greatest care. A few of the volumes that are already published bear out fully all the expectations aroused by the Announcement. The presentation of this series may fairly be called an event of the first importance in the educational history of the country.

"About the Weather," by Mark W. Harrington (D. Appleton, New York.) No more interesting subject could be presented to the general reader, and all that is essential for the understanding of the known laws governing the weather and its variable moods is found in this readable volume. It is not a scientific treatise, but states scientific facts in a way to be readily understood.

"The Story of the Fishes," by James Newton Baskett, M. A., (D. Appleton & Co. New York,) presents a branch of natural history in an attractive form and in a manner that can be readily understood by the average young student. The species are classified, their habits and characteristics are put in a readable form, leaving out all that is dry and dull. The value of the book is much enhanced by the lifelike illustrations, some of which are reproduced in colors.

"A Voyage at Anchor," by W. Clark Russell D. Appleton & Co. New York,) has all the flavor of the sea which characterizes the author's writings, yet in this story his adventures come without voyaging to seek them. He conceived the idea of spending a summer vacation on an old ship anchored off the Kentish coast, and many things happen to the party. The description of a burning ship and the final storm which wrecked the holiday abode is graphic and adequate.

The New York Times says that MARY CAMERON is one of the most delightful stories of the year. Is is founded largely upon facts and has to do with the Maine coast, Boston and Newton. For sale by all Boston Booksellers.

A Rebuke to the Administration.

(From the Chicago Chronicle.)

The republicans carry Ohio only by a moderate plurality. The majority was against them and against McKinley's policy. They carried the state only through the divided vote of their opponents. In round numbers the republican vote was 345,000, the democratic vote was 301,000, and the "golden rule" vote was 110,000. The total democratic and "golden rule" vote was 411,000—a majority of 66,000 over the republicans. All of the democratic and "golden rule" vote was anti-imperialistic; it was anti-administration. The plain result is a rebuke of the policy of the administration. The divided opposition vote will be united next year and then where will the administration appear?

An Innocent Critic.

[From the Youth's Companion.]

Gov. Roosevelt is always glad of a laugh. A short time ago he enjoyed an opportunity and paid for it. The incident happened while he was visiting Cornell University during a convention. The students, glad of a chance to display their enthusiasm, entertained the governor at one of the fraternity houses. Just as he was about to leave, one of his staff said to him:

"Governor, the boys have the foundation of a capital library, and I think they would appreciate a copy of your 'Rough Riders.'"

"All right, boys," said the governor, heartily, "I'll be glad to send you a copy with my compliments. The book would be but a small return for your hospitality."

Whereupon one of the students broke in excitedly:

"That's so Governor, I've read it."

Peddlers from Out-of-town.

There has been a petition presented to Mayor Wilson by a number of fruit and vegetable peddlers of this city, asking that the mayor compel those peddlers who come here from out-of-town to pay a license fee of $25. The matter is at present being considered by the board of health, and a report will probably be received from that body next Monday evening.

"Then you cannot be the sunshine of my life?" asked the young man, with the insistence of one under a fixed idea. "No," replied the lady detective softly, "you know I am a professional shadow."—Indianapolis News.

is a very common consequence of indigestion and torpid liver. Sometimes there are spots before the eyes and hot flashes. At other times a sensation as of vertigo occurs, at once suffocating and blinding. It is a waste of time to attempt to cure this condition by ordinary means or medicines. The stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition must be restored to healthy activity, the blood must be purified, the liver cleansed and strengthened, before a cure can be hoped for. This is the work done by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a medicine specially beneficial in diseases of the stomach, blood and liver. It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, cleanses the clogged liver, and promotes the health of every organ of the body.

"My wife was greatly troubled with indigestion, torpid liver, dizziness, and also irregular periods," writes Mr. W. A. Preston, of Shuqualak, Noxubee Co., Miss. "We tried many different remedies, but none of them gave perfect relief until we were induced by a lady to try your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' 'Favorite Prescription,' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' These medicines did more good than anything we ever tried for those complaints. We have used four bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one of 'Favorite Prescription,' and two vials of your 'Pellets.' These medicines have done the work we desired, and I do heartily recommend them to all similar sufferers."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the acion of the "Discovery."

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

The housewife will find the Royal Baking Powder indispensable in making finest foods. It makes the hot bread, hot biscuit, cake and other pastry, light, sweet and excellent in every quality.

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, the most healthful and pleasant of all fruit acids, and adds anti-dyspeptic qualities to the food.

Many low-priced, imitation baking powders are upon the market. These are made with alum, and care should be taken to avoid them, as alum is a poison, never to be taken in the food.

—Among the guests present at the fifth annual ball of the employes of Joseph Breck & Sons, held in Berkeley hall, Boston, Friday night, were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Breck of Bellevue street.

—Mrs. Mary R. Martin, secretary of the Newton Associated Charities, made an address on "Friendly Visiting," at the meeting of the Social Science Club, at the Hunnewell club, Wednesday morning.

—For Saturday, fancy turkeys, 18cts. per pound; large fancy chickens, 5 lbs. and over, 18cts. per pound; fresh killed fowl, 15 cts. per pound; Western fowl, 12 1-2cts. per pound. Newton Corner Market.

—The grand opening of the Newton Furniture Company took place at the new store, 304 Centre street, Nonantum building, yesterday. Mr. John Given, a gentleman of large experience, is the manager.

—Mrs. Katherine Lente Stevenson, state president of the W. C. T. U., gave an address on "Suffrage," at the second anniversary celebration of the Willard Y settlement held in Tremont Temple, Boston, Sunday afternoon.

—Mr. Warren A. Rodman, secretary of the Boston Metaphysical Club, will speak in the chapel of the Channing church, Sunday evening, Nov. 26, at 7.30 o'clock. Subject, "The Power of Silent Service." All are cordially invited.

—The service in Grace church next Sunday evening will be "The Choral Even-Song." This includes the chanting of the Psalms, the Creed, etc., as is usual in cathedrals and other places where choirs have the requisite training.

—The Curiosity Sketch Club of Boston, of which Mr. Winthrop B. Allen is a member, will hold their second annual sale at 386 Boylston street, Boston. The exhibit will open Nov. 27, closing Dec. 23. All are most cordially invited to attend.

—Messrs. Allston Burr and Frank E. Soule, who are Harvard graduates, were among the guests present at the complimentary dinner given by the athletic association of Harvard graduates at the American House, Boston, Friday evening.

—When looking for your Thanksgiving dinner bear in mind that the Newton Corner Market will receive from good reliable shippers, fancy Vermont and Rhode Island turkeys, which they will sell at cash prices and save you from 15 to 25 per cent. on your purchases.

—According to recent despatches from Manila, Commander Samuel Very of the U. S. Gunboat Castine, was recently called upon for protection of some of the natives against the insurgents. Commander Very's family are residents of Newton, his children attending the Bigelow school.

—There will be a series of special musical services in Grace church on the Sunday nights in December as follows: Dec 3, the oratorio of "The Redemption;" Dec. 10, "The St. Cecelia Mass," and "Gallia;" Dec. 17, "The De Profundis;" Dec. 24, "The Holy Child." All the seats will be free.

—Miss Victoria A. Bartlett, the well-known teacher of water color and china painting, will have an exhibition of decorated china at F. A. Hubbard's drug store, beginning Dec. 1st, and continuing for one week. Miss Bartlett's work is very highly spoken of, and this will be an admirable opportunity for selecting holiday gifts. Original designs are a feature of Miss Bartlett's work, and the exhibition will attract those interested in china painting.

—A quiet home wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bartlett on Richardson street, Wednesday evening, when their niece, Miss Edith Beach, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter Herbert Keith, Jr., of Watertown. The officiating clergyman was Rev. William H. Davis, D. D., of Eliot church. Only relatives and a few friends were present. The decorations were of cut flowers. The bride was gowned in a brown traveling costume. After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Keith will reside at 128 Wilton road, Newtonville, where they will be at home Tuesdays after Feb. 1st.

—The nomination of Mr. J. E. Briston for ward alderman from Ward One has given general satisfaction, and there seems no doubt of his election as he has carried that ward several times by a large majority after spirited contests. Mr. Briston has served in the board before, and given general satisfaction, as he is a successful business man and carries his business habits into the board. He has received assurances of support from a large number of the prominent Republicans of the ward, who did not approve the way Mr. Ivy secured the nomination at the Republican caucus, nor the scheme to defeat the nomination of Mr. Fisher, which was so successfully worked. As Mr. Ivy has withdrawn there will be no opposition candidate, it is said.

—Miss Ida Morrow of Gloucester is visiting Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Whitney of Bacon street, this week.

—Mrs. J. Edward Hollis has returned from Europe and re-opened her home on Hunnewell Hill.

—Rev. Mr. Ninde has been in town the past week visiting his children at the Wesleyan home on Wesley street.

—Mrs. Curry has returned to Ironwood, Mich., after a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Ralph Bartlett of Arlington street.

—Mr. and Mrs. James H. Wheeler, Jr., of Franklin street were over in New York city last week, attending the horse show.

—A hare and hounds run between the Newton and Boston Y. M. C. A. members will take place here on Thanksgiving Day.

—Mr. P. F. Parker will give a chalk talk at a harvest concert to be held in the Congregational church, Melrose, Sunday evening.

—At the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday, boy's meeting at 3 o'clock and men's meeting at 4 o'clock, both led by Mr. S. M. Sayford, the president of the association.

—A very pretty children's party was given by Mrs. Frank W. Stearns at her Park street residence, Thursday afternoon. The program consisted of games and refreshments.

—Ladies wishing their fur garments or cloaks made over, should consult M. Kaufman, Nonantum block. Tailor made suits at moderate prices and satisfaction guaranteed. See adv.

—Mrs. Lydia J. Barnes has sent out announcements this week, of the marriage of her daughter, Miss C. Belle Barnes to Mr. E. Clifton Allen, at her residence, 31 Channing street, on Wednesday, Dec. 6th, at 8 p. m.

—The Union Thanksgiving service will be held at Eliot church next Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. F. B. Hornbrooke, D. D., will be the preacher, and the pastors of the other churches will take part in the service.

—Mr. and Mrs. Hosea Hyde have issued cards of invitation to the reception to follow the marriage ceremony of their daughter, Miss Adelia Elizabeth Hyde and Walter Howard Nash on Monday, Nov. 27th, from 8 to 10 p. m., at 95 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands.

—The business of the Newton Bazar has been purchased by Miss Rathbone and Miss Lynch. The Misses Parker, who have conducted the business for thirty years, wish to thank the public for past favors, and hope its patronage will be given to the new proprietors.

—The Read Fund course of lectures began Wednesday evening, when Dr. John C. Bowker gave his illustrated lecture on "The Transvaal," at present an interesting region on account of the war between the Boers and Great Britain. There were over one hundred stereoptican views, many of them colored, and Dr. Bowker gave an interesting account of the people, the customs, and the scenery. He also explained the causes which led up to the war.

—The annual business meeting of the Eliot Y. P. S. C. E. was held in the Eliot church parlors, Tuesday evening. At the close of the banquet a business session was held with a reading of the annual reports, and the election of officers, solos by E. L. Bacon and H. S. Johnson, and remarks by P. H. Robinson, Allan Emery, and Rev. Dr. W. H. Davis. The new officers are, Philip H. Robinson, president; Miss Mary C. Childs, vice president; Miss Gertrude L. Hall, rec. sec'y; Miss Jennie L. Mason, cor. sec'y; Charles S. Eusign, Jr., treas.; chairmen of committees, lookout, Allan C. Emery; prayer meeting, Miss Grace C. Lamhart; social, H. S. Johnson; Sunday school and pastor's aid, Miss Helen E. Partridge; missionary, Miss Anna L. Daniels; music, Henry W. Morton; flower, Miss S. Maude Bush.

—Arthur H. Bailey of Boyd street has been in New York city three weeks superintending shipment to Manila, P. I., by government transports, of 80,640 ounces of Bailey's patented "Extract of Clams," ordered of him by Com. Gen. U. S. A., for use of the soldiers at Manila. This order amounts to about four tons, and is the largest single order ever given by the U. S. government for this article of food. Mr. Bailey has for ten years supplied the Bureau of Medicine & Surgery, U. S. Navy, not a ship having gone out during that period which was not supplied with this article. Mr. Bailey has also contracts for supplying the U. S. Marine Hospital Service, this in turn sending it out to its large number of hospitals located all over the United States. Mrs. Bailey is visiting friends in New Jersey, and will return with her husband to spend Thanksgiving at home, meeting Mr. Bailey in New York, as he comes through from Washington, D. C., to which place he has gone on business.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY.

The Finance Committee of the Newton Hospital earnestly appeals to the citizens of Newton for a generous contribution towards its financial needs on the approaching Hospital Sunday, November 26.

It is a matter of satisfaction to those who are specially charged with the administration of this institution to feel that its work, in the direction of ministering to the sick and suffering in our own community, has been so generally recognized by our citizens.

Through the munificence of several of our citizens many important additions and improvements, costing some $45,000, have been made to its facilities during the past two years; and with an added equipment in every department, of a superior character, it is now second to no other hospital in its appointments.

While its thorough effectiveness is so generally recognized, and while it is a matter of congratulation that its field of usefulness is to be increased, such an increase in its work can only be had through an increased cost of maintenance, estimated to be about thirty per cent. the present year. It should also be remembered that after exhausting the reserve fund there exists an indebtedness of $3,500, incurred for the improvements made by the corporation last year. This, we feel, needs only to be emphasized to meet a hearty response.

We feel assured that the praiseworthy action of those who have so generously contributed to place the hospital at the front will be fully appreciated by the citizens of Newton, and that the additional means necessary to maintain it will be forthcoming.

We therefore earnestly appeal to all to make the offering on Hospital Sunday, November 26, a generous one.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

MONDAY EVENING'S MEETING DEVOTED LARGELY TO CONSIDERATION OF THE BUDGET---MAYOR VETOES SEVERAL ITEMS AND IS SUSTAINED ON ALL BUT ONE OF THEM--SMALL AMOUNT OF ROUTINE BUSINESS FOLLOWED BY A COMPARATIVELY EARLY ADJOURNMENT.

At their meeting last Monday evening the appropriation budget was finally disposed of by the aldermen. The figures after all changes are $1,092,518.02. The sum was voted.

The meeting was called together at 8 o'clock, President Knowlton in the chair. Members present were Aldermen Baily, Dana, Fisher, Ivy, Knowlton, Lothrop, Lyman, Morton, Nagle, Norris, Pond, Stickney, Warren, Weed, Weeks, Weldon, White and Whittlesey.

A communication was received from His Honor, the Mayor, stating that the appropriation order number 24456 had received his approval, with the exception of the following items:

The item of $7,400 street railway tax is an estimated amount to be received under the provisions of Chapter 578 of the Acts of 1898, an act relative to street railways. Section 10 provides that "All amounts paid to cities and towns under the provisions of section five, nine and twenty-eight of this act shall be applied towards the construction, repair and maintenance of the public ways, and removal of snow therefrom, within such cities and towns."

The amount is based on the receipts for 1898, but it may be less or possibly and probably will be more than $7,400 in 1899. Since the law provides for the application of all sums so received, it is manifestly improper to name a stated sum, or to provide by order of the board for its expenditure.

Whatever the amount the city treasurer, by ordinance, is to receive the same and to "forthwith credit the amount of such money to the appropriation for street department, street railway account."

It seems to me that the same treatment should be given to this sum as to the dog tax, which goes to the general appropriation for schools, and when received by the city treasurer, is by ordinance credited to such appropriation. I suggest that the words "street railway tax to be added" be placed in the appropriation order after the words "general repairs," in the highway division of the street department.

2nd. The item for sidewalks and street crossings, which I suggest be made at $15,000. More work under this head has been accomplished during this year than in previous years, and $1000 of the appropriation has been transferred to the appropriation for drains and culverts. The amount of $15,000 in my opinion, will meet the reasonable demands of all petitions, without causing any public injury or inconvenience.

3rd. The item of $700 rebate on water bills, in the water department. I regret that this matter was not more fully considered in my previous recommendation to the board.

This item represents an accumulation of deposits made on estimated cost to applicants for putting in water services, use of water for buildings, in course of erection, etc. When the work for which the deposit is given, is completed, the account is made up, and any surplus is repaid to the applicant or shortage collected. It is not properly a water construction account nor does it have any relation to the tax levy. It is a measure of protection to the department in the usual and necessary performance of its duties. As these receipts are paid to the city treasurer, an order of the board of aldermen authorizing him to refund all excess over estimated cost, on certificate of the water commissioner, would cover the matter.

Similar method of procedure exists in the sewer department, for house connections, and very properly no provision for the same appears in the budget.

Striking out these items and adopting the recommendation for sidewalks and street crossings at $15,000, the budget will be reduced by $13,100, making the total $1,087,518.02.

Alderman White—Will you take these items up separately?

Alderman Knowlton—That is what I intend to do.

Alderman Dana—I have some doubt whether the mayor, as a matter of law, has any right to veto an appropriation order or any item of it. If these corrections ought to be made I am in favor of making them, but it seems to me that the message of His Honor, the Mayor, ought to be referred to the committee on ordinances, to report to the board. I do not wish to enter into the law part of it now, but if it ought to be corrected as the mayor suggests, I am in favor of doing so.

Alderman Nagle—There is one matter in connection with sidewalks which I think we ought to consider very carefully, that is, whether we will be able to get as good a price another year for concrete work as we got this year.

Alderman White—As regards the appropriation for sidewalks and street crossings, as a member of the highway committee, I would like to say a word. It may be correct that more work has been done this year than in previous years, but certainly there has not as much sidewalk work come before the highway committee this year, as there was in previous years.

The 1st of November the following work had not been done:

Petition 23668 passed the board Mar. 29th for sidewalk on Woodbine street. W. H. Blood, owner of house.

Petition 23804 passed this board May 17th for sidewalk on Woodbine street, by the estate of Gordon et al.

Petition 23827 passed this board May 17th for sidewalk on Valentine street by estates of C. P. Hall and J. W. Weeks.

Petition 23928, for crosswalk on Woodbine and Auburn street.

Petition for crosswalk on Browning road at Oxford road; also crosswalk on Warren street.

Petition 24209 passed this board June 28th for sidewalk repairs on Claflin place, by estate of Curtis Abbott.

Petition 24311 passed this board Sept. 20th for crosswalk on Edinboro street.

Petition for sidewalk on Watertown street, on Waverley avenue; also on Church street.

It seems to me it is always well to have the means at hand to furnish proper sidewalks for people, sometimes they ask for gravel walks, and where they ask for concrete and agree to pay one-half the cost, I think it is only fair that they should have their sidewalks.

Alderman Whittlesey—I think it is better to meet this thing here, rather than have it referred to the committee on ordinances.

Alderman Dana—As I said before, I do not think that the mayor has the power or authority to veto the order, or any item of it. The charter vests general powers in this board, authorizing them to pass orders. Now it is wholly within the discretion of the board whether it does or does not pass these orders. The original provision of the charter was, that the mayor should make certain recommendations to the board, and that these were to stand as the budget, unless the board by two-thirds vote changed any particular item in the budget. I remember one morning riding in town with Mr. Goodrich, and he stated that he had several objections to it, and among others were, that he thought it was contrary to our form of government, to permit a single man to have such powers as were conferred by that draft of the charter, and he said he would do all he could to oppose that particular section; and I think he went before the legislature, and also came up here to the city hall, and as a result of his efforts the provision was changed from two-thirds to a majority. As a matter of law I think it is not the intention of the charter that the mayor should have a veto power over the budget.

Alderman Ivy—I do not care to discuss the legal aspects in this matter. If the board has full authority there is no need of the mayor approving this or any other order. If the board of aldermen has exclusive authority to make an appropriation and that is the argument, why then there is no need as I say, of having the approval of the mayor.

Alderman Dana—I think he misunderstands me. It applies only to the general appropriation order. However, I will withdraw my motion.

Alderman Knowlton—If there is no objection the motion will be withdrawn.

The motion now comes on sustaining the veto of the mayor. Yea means that the $7,400 be left in the budget, and nay, strikes out the $7,400 from the budget.

A vote was then taken standing, 16 nays, 4 absent.

Some discussion was then had as to whether the street railway tax should be added at all.

Alderman Knowlton—The motion then is, that the item stand, notwithstanding the objection of the mayor. Yea makes it stand, nay strikes it out. A vote was then taken standing, 11 years, 4 nays, 4 absent, 2 excused. The veto is not sustained.

Alderman Knowlton—The question then comes on the third item of the veto, $700 rebate in the water department. This the mayor objects to as he thinks it is a matter that should be omitted. He states that it was an error and it was also overlooked by the finance committee.

A vote was then taken standing, 16 nays, 1 absent

Alderman Knowlton—The question now comes on the veto of this item, namely, the item of $7,400 standing, notwithstanding the objection of His Honor, the Mayor. Are there any remarks?

Alderman Baily—As a member of the finance committee and a member of this board, I am interested to know what the dog tax and the street railway tax is. I cannot sustain the mayor's veto.

Alderman Nagle—You cannot properly add an estimated receipt if you have no expenditure. It would make the street appropriation $105,000, when really we are spending $113,000. The estimated receipts are taken from the expenditures, and the tax rate is fixed on that authority.

Alderman Baily—I think the dog tax amounts to about the same from year to year, but there is probably an increase in the street railway tax.

Alderman Nagle—The street railway tax should be added into the receipts and should also appear in the expenditures. If you take it out of the receipts you have got to take it out of the expenditures. I would like to ask the alderman from Ward 6, why the dog tax was taken out of the estimated receipts.

Alderman Baily—I did not intend to have it.

Alderman Nagle—It has been.

Alderman Ivy—This is an exceedingly interesting question to get at the bottom of it. I would just like to ask the alderman from Ward 6 what an estimated receipt is?

Alderman Baily—I am not a walking encyclopedia. I presume the object is—

Alderman Ivy—I did not ask what the object was. I simply asked what an estimated receipt is. I do not think that this tax from street railways is an income or a receipt in the sense that it would give this board any control over it, and for that reason, neither the dog tax or this ought to be in the budget.

Alderman Weed—Suppose these estimated receipts were $30,000 instead of $285,000, would it have any effect in making up the total tax levy? Suppose the receipts were not estimated, but were actual receipts.

Alderman Warren—It should be left out of the receipts, without question.

Alderman Nagle—Every debit must have a corresponding credit, if you not do this your books will not balance. Put both the dog and street railway tax in the receipts and expenditures, but if it is left out of one, leave it out of the other. The finance committee felt that they should both show.

Alderman Knowlton—The question now comes, shall the item of $7,400 stand, notwithstanding the objection of the mayor?

A vote was then taken standing, 10 nays, 5 yeas, 5 absent, 1 excused. No sustains the veto, the item is eliminated.

A communication was then received from His Honor, the Mayor, recommending that the sum of $760 be transferred from the appropriation for curbing and added to the appropriation for drains and culverts, for the extension of a drain in Otis street near Forest avenue.

Alderman Knowlton—If there are no objections this will be received and placed on file.

Alderman White—I would say that the men are at present at work on this, and it should be passed now if done at all.

A petition was received from Mrs. Mary J. Davis for permission to erect a shop on Watertown street, for horse-shoeing purposes. Referred to the license committee.

A communication was received from Mr. John W. Benis, stating that he felt some injury was being done to his property by the work which the city is doing on California street. This was referred to His Honor, the Mayor, for action.

Alderman Ivy presented a petition signed by 60 petitioners, desiring that the matter of number of hours constituting a day's labor be determined at the coming election. They request that 8 hours constitute a day's work.

The same was placed on file on motion of Alderman Dana.

A petition was received from the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Co. requesting permission to place attachments on poles on Elm road between Walnut street and Lowell avenue, and a hearing was ordered for Dec. 13th at 7.45.

A petition was received from the Newton & Boston Street Railway Co. for a location for a turn out on Lincoln street between Chester and Bowdoin streets, and the same was referred to the street railway committee, and a hearing ordered for Dec. 13th, at 7.45 o'clock.

A report was received recommending leave to withdraw on petition of Pettee et al for street light on Cliff road, Ward 5.

Report was received on petition of H. F. Ross for 2 street lights on Cloelia terrace, Wade et al on Dedham street, 1 light, and Perkins et al, for 1 light on Highland street.

Alderman Stickney:—The select committee on water department appointed to consider the same, report requesting further time.

Further time was granted to this select committee.

A report was received from the Farlow Hill land trust for the laying out of a portion of Nonantum street from Waverley avenue to the Boston line. A report was received recommending the construction of a concrete sidewalk on Walnut street from Duncklee street past the estate of Atkins, and also on Auburn street, by land of the Boston & Albany Railroad.

A report was received granting leave to withdraw on petition of Mary E. Bancroft for concrete sidewalk on new street in the Travelli estate.

A report was also received relative to the assessments of betterments for highway purposes.

A report was received from the special committee on fire department, appropriating $250 for plans for the new fire station, recommending the passage of said order.

Alderman Dana—Are we to take final action on that report. If so I wanted to say that Alderman Lowell wished me to ask to have final action delayed until he could be present.

Alderman Lyman—I think the Alderman from Ward 7 does not know that I have seen Alderman Lowell since that time, and any current action of this board will be advanced to the finance committee.

Alderman Knowlton—Under the rules it is referred to the finance committee with the order.

An order was received for the widening of Nonantum street from Waverley avenue to the Boston line, and a hearing ordered for Monday evening, Dec. 4th, at 7.45.

An order was received for the laying out of a concrete sidewalk on Auburn street from the bridge to Melrose street, and a hearing ordered for Monday evening, Dec. 4th, at 7.45.

An order was received for the transfer of $700 from curbing to drains and culverts, to be used for the extension of the drain in Otis street near Forest avenue.

Alderman White—This comes from the Mayor, it has never been through any committee. I understand that the work is being done on Otis street extending the drain up to another street, and they need $700 more to do the work.

Alderman Ivy—I should like to ask the chairman of the highway committee if this order is a proper one.

Alderman White—I am not a lawyer sir.

A vote was then taken standing 17 yeas, 4 absent. Order passed.

An order was received for the street commissioner to locate street lights as follows: Chestnut street, Highland street, Dedham street and Cloelia terrace. A vote was then taken standing, yeas 17, 4 absent The order was passed.

The following order was also received:

Be it ordained by the board of aldermen of the City of Newton as follows:

Section 1. Upon the completion of any work under authority of law or any order of the board of aldermen authorizing the assessment of betterments the street commissioner shall forthwith report thereon to the board of aldermen and to the city engineer stating in said report the cost of said work and the damages if any, for land and buildings taken, also that said work has been done under provisions of law authorizing the assessment of betterments; and said report shall state such other facts as he may deem necessary for the levying of such assessment for betterments.

Section 2. This ordinance shall take effect upon its passage. Referred to the committee on ordinances.

An order was received authorizing the mayor to execute a quitclaim deed to Sarah M. Stuart, for 1520 square feet of land. The order was adopted.

Alderman Dana—I am very happy to announce to the board that my friend and colleague, Alderman Niles has escaped from very great danger, and it seems now that he is likely to recover. It has been suggested that it would be a very proper and appropriate thing for the board to do, to extend to him, or request the city clerk to extend to him in the name of the board, the congratulations of the board upon his chance of recovery, and perhaps it would be a gracious act, to send with the congratulations some flowers. The cost of such flowers could be taken from miscellaneous expenses. I therefore move that this be done, if it meets with the approval of the board. The motion was seconded by Alderman Knowlton.

Alderman White—I think it would be a nice thing for each member of the board to give a little towards the flowers. The motion was then put and adopted.

There being no more business to come before the board, they adjourned at 9.45 o'clock.

REV. DANIEL L. FURBER.

DIES SUNDAY EVENING AT HIS HOME AT NEWTON CENTRE.

The Rev. Daniel L. Furber, pastor emeritus of the First Congregational church of Newton Centre, died at 7 o'clock last Sunday evening at his home on Commonwealth avenue, near Centre street, Newton Centre. Death was due to complicated troubles, with which the aged pastor had been ill for over three months.

The Rev. Dr. Furber was born in Sandwich, N. H., in 1820. He was the son of Jeremiah Furber, a prosperous farmer, and during the earlier part of his life spent his time at the farm. Shortly after his 16th birthday he entered Sandwich Academy, where he studied for college. He also attended Portland and Fryeburg academies, and in 1843 entered Dartmouth College.

Owing to adverse circumstances while at college, Dr. Furber became dependent upon his own resources, but, thanks to an early training in music, he was able to support himself by instructing others. Possessing an excellent voice in addition to his other musical talents, while at the college he secured the position as musical instructor in a young ladies' boarding school, whose principal, Mrs. Maria Peabody, afterward became his wife.

From Dartmouth, Dr. Furber went to Andover, there to attend for three years the theological seminary. Among his classmates at Andover were the Rev. Alvah Hovey, former president of the Newton Baptist Theological Institution, and Prof. John N. Putnam, and the Rev. Drs. George H. Atkinson, W. H. Lord and Leonard Swain.

On completing his course at Andover he received and accepted a call from the First Congregational church of Newton Centre. He was ordained its pastor Dec. 1, 1847, and on the following Sunday preached his first sermon. At that time there were only three Congregational churches in Newton, and the people from Newton Highlands and Newtonville were obliged to attend the church at Newton Centre.

The society was nevertheless small, but under the guidance of Dr. Furber it soon grew to be the largest in the town.

His marriage with Mrs. Maria Peabody of Hanover, N. H., whom he had met while a student at Dartmouth, took place in 1850. She was a lady having many excellent qualities and proved herself a fit help-mate to her husband.

In 1855 Dr. Furber, in company with Prof. Park of Andover, visited several European countries and again went abroad in 1869 and 1875. On his last trip he visited the Holy Land with Prof. Park and Prof. Hackett.

In 1881 Dr. Furber had the honor to be called on to preach the election sermon before Gov. Long and the Massachusetts Legislature, now an obsolete custom.

In 1860 congregational singing was first introduced at his church, the congregation before that time sitting still, while the choir sang.

On the Sunday following the assassination of President Lincoln, Dr. Furber preached a memorable sermon on the great calamity, to which the large congregation present responded with audible sobs.

In December, 1872, the 25th anniversary of his ordination was observed.

The first Sunday in the year 1879 was an interesting one to Dr. Furber, as on that day a debt that had been carried by the church for nine years, was raised. This debt was incurred by the enlargement of the meeting house in 1869.

A severe blow to Dr. Furber was the death of his wife in 1882. Her popularity was indicated by the fact that her funeral was attended by nearly everybody in Newton Centre.

In the latter part of that year, Dr. Furber resigned his position as pastor. He was succeeded by the Rev. T. J. Holmes, who remained 10 years, and in turn was succeeded by the Rev. Edward M. Noyes, the present pastor.

Dr. Furber's life was an extremely active one. Apart from his ministerial labors, Dr. Furber published several discourses, and, together with Profs. Park and Phelps, brought out a book of hymns and tunes. He was a close friend of the late Samuel F. Smith, author of "America." Almost the last call the aged poet made was one of congratulation on Dr. Furber on his 75th anniversary.

In October, 1895, his neighbors and other friends met at his home and celebrated the 75th anniversary of his birth.

In December, 1897, Dr. Furber observed the golden anniversary of his installation, and on Sunday, Dec. 5, preached an interesting semi-centennial sermon.

On the previous Sunday, the venerable clergyman preached, by request, the same sermon which he delivered on the occasion of his installation 50 years before.

He was one of the best known clergymen in New England, and his loss will be keenly felt throughout Newton.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the First church, Newton Centre.

As a mark of respect the schools of the village in which he had made his home for half a century, were closed, and there was a general suspension of business among the storekeepers, and flags were at half-staff.

The church was completely filled with sorrowing friends and members of the church, to whom Dr. Furber had ministered during his life. The sad event has cast a gloom over Newton Centre, where the reverend gentleman was much beloved by the church going people of all faiths.

The services were conducted by Rev. E. M. Noyes, pastor of the church.

Rev. Calvin C. Cutler, pastor emeritus of the Auburndale Congregational church, read several passages from the Scripture, after which there was singing by the church choir.

Addresses eulogistic of Dr. Furber's life were made by Rev. Henry J. Patrick of Newtonville, and Rev. Dr. Alvah Hovey, former president of the Newton Baptist Theological Seminary.

A letter which had been received from Rev. Mr. Holmes, Dr. Furber's successor, as active pastor, who is at present in Baltimore, was read and expressed deep regret and sympathy.

During the services these favorite hymns of Dr. Furber were sung, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," and "There is a Land of Pure Delight."

The pallbearers were Judge Robert Bishop, Mr. John Ward, deacon of the First Congregational church; Mr. D. H. Andrews, Hon. Alden Speare, Mr. W. E. Webster, Mr. Joseph Colby, Mr. A. C. Walworth and Mr. Samuel Jackson. The floral tributes were of an unusually elaborate character, and those present included many Newton Centre people and prominent Congregational clergymen of New England.

At the close of the services the remains were taken to the Newton cemetery for interment.

Brave Explorers

Like Stanley and Livingstone, found it harder to overcome Malaria, Fever and Ague, and Typhoid disease germs than savage cannibals; but thousands have found that Electric Bitters is a wonderful cure for all malarial diseases. If you have chills with fever, aches in back of neck and head, and tired, worn-out feeling, a trial will convince you of their merit. W. A. Null of Webb, Ill., writes: "My children suffered for more than a year with chills and fever; then two bottles of Electric Bitters cured them." Only 50 cents. Try them. Guaranteed. Sold by all Druggists.

Harold Gilbert.

The citizens of Newton remember the tragic death of a young Dartmouth student by drowning in the spring of 1897. Young Gilbert graduated from the Newton High school in the class of '94. During his school course he manifested talents, character and scholarship, which made him beloved by all who knew him. He was frank, affable, manly. These traits manifested themselves in still more marked degrees in College, and he won the esteem and love of President Tucker and his teachers there. Prof. Richardson writes: "His forth-faring touched me more than that of any student since I began to teach here, seventeen years ago."

His class in the High school has decided to place in the library an English Memorial Alcove, as both in school and college he manifested decided literary tastes. Prof. Richardson again writes: "I send you as of possible interest, the last paper he wrote in my department. It shows his insight and is, unconsciously, a spiritual mirror of his own fine and sweet character." In order that many not in the class of '94 may have part in this memorial, Mr. George will add to the funds raised by his class, the proceeds of his next lecture, "Cambridge and her Poets," to be given Saturday evening, Dec. 2d, in the Assembly Hall of the High school.

Diphtheria Outbreak Checked.

Although no official announcement has been made by the board of health the members of this very important department of municipal government feel that the recent diphtheria outbreak has been successfully checked. The number of cases was not unusually large though some apprehension was felt, particularly in the Nonantum district. Agent H. A. Stone and his assistants were kept busy and without doubt the success of checking the spread of the disease is due to their efforts combined with the co-operation of the physicians throughout the city.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

New Rule Framed by Board of Health.

At its meeting, Monday evening, the board of health adopted a new regulation, prohibiting housekeepers from depositing rags in the cellars of their houses. This new rule, it is understood, is made as a result of a recent discovery on the part of the board of health inspectors, who found in the basement of many buildings large quantities of refuse. It is the opinion of the board of health that such accumulation of rags breeds contagion.

Hovey a Braeburn Winner.

At the Braeburn Golf Club in West Newton, Monday, F. H. Hovey of class A won the Noyes cup by defeating E. F. Woods of class B by a score of 3 up, 2 to play, 36 holes.

The match was the last in the Day and Noyes cup tournament, the Day cup being won by W. H. Rothwell of class C on Saturday. The tournament began Oct. 15, with 28 entries, in four classes. The winners in classes A and B played for the Noyes cup, and the winners of classes C and D for the Day cup.

Hunnewell Club Wins.

The annual championship series of the Circuit league was started Monday evening, with a match between B. A. A. 2d and Hunnewell at the B. A. A. The match was rather dull, and low figures prevailed. Hunnewell won all three games—a fine start for the season—and led in the aggregate. B. A. A. bowled under a handicap. Cooke was high man with 325. Lord, Steere and Wellington all qualified for the high class.

NEWTON CLUB.

Whist was the entertainment feature at Saturday evening's gentlemen's night. A large number of the club members were out, 25 tables being in play from 8 to 10.30 o'clock. Prizes were won by Lincoln and Gill, Bishop and Jewett, Rice and Ellis and Copeland and Delano.

One of the best attended and most successful of the season's "ladies' nights" at the Newton Club was that of Wednesday evening in Newtonville. More than 175 of Newton's fashionable set were present, attesting the popularity that these events have attained in Newton. Whist furnished the entertainment of the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. L. Coffin, Mrs. J. B. Thompson, Mrs. W. J. Follett, Mrs. A. F. Cooke, Mrs. A. C. Dunmore and Mrs. A. F. Cole.

End of Golf Season Near.

The fall golf season in this city is nearly over. Last Saturday, however, there was an interesting match on the links of the Newton Centre golf club between Mrs. J. A. Daniels and Miss Marion Haskell. Mrs. Daniels won 5 up, 4 to play. Through this victory Mrs. Daniels won the title of champion lady player of the Newton Centre golf club.

Several matches in the tournament for the Noyes and Day cups at Braeburn were completed. In the class A semifinals, Fred H. Hovey beat George Wright 1 up. In the semifinals of class B, E. F. Woods beat C. I. Travelli by default.

W. H. Rothwell, winner in class C, defeated Dr. H. P. Perkins, winner of class D, 3 up and 1 to play. By this match Mr. Rothwell captured the Day cup.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Capt. C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Galishe. Under date of Nov. 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES.

POSITION OF VOTERS REGARDING THE MAYORALTY CONTEST NOT INDICATED—NO PLEDGES REQUESTED OR VOLUNTEERED.

The democrats held their municipal caucuses Monday evening, but the result leaves a doubt concerning the position of these voters in the mayoralty contest. In none of the wards was there any reference to the mayoralty.

Friends of Alderman Marcus Morton were in the majority at the Ward 3 caucus. Although the republicans placed T. B. Fitzpatrick as a candidate for ward alderman for one year, he was opposed by many of the democrats. A vote resulted in Mr. Morton receiving 30 and Mr. T. B. Fitzpatrick 13. No pledges were requested or volunteered concerning the mayoralty or alderman at large. The same was true of the school committee question.

Ward 4 turned out but few democrats and as was expected there was no voice of the caucus concerning the mayoralty or school board.

The principal action of the Ward 5 caucus was the nomination of Alderman Walter B. Chesley for ward alderman, although he is the probable republican candidate for alderman at large.

In Ward 6, Alderman Alfred S. Norris, republican, was strongly indorsed as ward alderman for one year.

The appointed chairman of Ward 7 was faithful to his trust, but as only one other voter appeared the caucus was adjourned.

Ward 1 democrats were out in unusually large numbers, there being nearly 100 present. In this ward the delegates to the city convention were unpledged, and their choice for mayor and alderman at large is unknown. No mention was made of the mayoralty or school board question, though several spoke in indorsement of John E. Briston, who was nominated as ward alderman for one year. Without doubt there will be a close contest between Mr. Briston and Mr. J. C. Ivy, the republican nominee, as the residents of the north side of the Boston & Albany track in this section of the city are anxious for representation.

In Ward 2, the home of the Jefferson democratic club, there was unusual harmony, though the attendance was as great as at any of the wards. Contrary to expectations there was no reference to the mayoralty or other contests. There was a contest over the nomination of a ward alderman for one year, which was won by J. J. Taylor.

Ward 1—Delegates to city convention, E. J. Burke, C. H. Smith, C. W. Keefe, J. A. Nevins, P. J. Murphy, J. E. Murphy, Hugh Monnahan, Eugene Trudo, and F. H. Murray; ward alderman for one year, John E. Briston.

Ward 2—Delegates to city convention, W. J. O'Leary, J. J. Fitzgerald, J. A. Hannan, W. H. Thomas, M. D. Farrell, J. H. Kinslea, M. Kinslea, J. Dargan, W. H. Baker, E. G. Sullivan, D. T. Ryan, and M. Keating; ward alderman for one year, J. J. Taylor.

Ward 3—Delegates to city convention, T. J. Klocker, James McGlinchy, W. Cahill, T. J. Green, William O'Neil, J. T. Roach, P. Sullivan, R. Gaw, T. Carroll, B. D. Farrell and F. C. Sheridan; ward alderman for one year, Marcus Morton.

Ward 4—Delegates to city convention, Daniel Walsh, J. Gallaghet, P. A. McVicar, T. B. Hart, T. J. Lyons, and J. A. Coleman; ward alderman for one year, C. G. Milham.

Ward 5—Delegates to city convention, S. W. O'Connor, Thomas Lees, William Brown, C. S. Fitzgerald, Frank Liddell, Ellis O'Hara, William Fitzgerald and C. S. Sullivan; ward alderman for one year, Walter B. Chesley.

Ward 6—Delegates to city convention, F. E. Kneeland, Daniel Horgan, T. G. Woodman, J. B. Welch, E. O. Taylor, M. F. Furdon and J. W. Hoar; ward alderman for one year, Alfred S. Norris.

Total Registration 5144.

The sessions of the registrars of voters which were opened last Monday at City hall closed at 10 last Wednesday evening. Since Monday 85 men and 18 women registered. The total registration of men at present is 5144 and of women 576.

A. Hudson, Newton; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls and J. H. Green, Newton Highlands, guarantee every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and will refund the money to any one who is not satisfied after using two-thirds of the contents. This is the best remedy in the world for la grippe, coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough and is pleasant and safe to take. It prevents any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia.

Company C Notes.

A number of the company will try to qualify at the company's range Thanksgiving day. The range has recently been put in excellent shape by the city, and it is expected that some good shooting will be made.

What do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee but costs about 1-4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

REAL ESTATE.

Among recent Newton transactions is the purchase of a Warwick road building lot containing 5673 feet of land by Henry G. Davenport from Walter H. Gleason.

A house and lot on Circuit avenue have been purchased by Fanny Lippman from Charles E. Tucker.

Edward B. Hitchcock has conveyed his frame house and 6000 feet of land on Hollis street near Centre street, to Joseph J. Gallagher.

William P. P. Longfellow and wife have sold to Mary W. Bridgeman a house and 10,146 feet of land on Lasell street.

William Lincoln & Son have sold for Benjamin B. Newhall his property on Eastbourne road, Newton Centre, consisting of frame house and about 7000 feet of land, taxed for $6200. Mrs. Sarah Wilson was the purchaser; the terms are private. Mrs. Wilson, through the same brokers, has purchased the adjoining lot, which contains 2109 feet of land.

William Lincoln & Son have just completed the sale of two lots of land, one of 7688 feet and the other of 7488 feet, on Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, near the Boston reservoir. The buyer, A. C. MacKay, is to start at once the erection of two single dwellings, to be ready for the spring market.

Frank Curtis has transferred his title to a large parcel of land and buildings on Newtonville avenue, near Cabot park, Newton, to Fayette Shaw, the consideration passed being $14,500.

William A. Watson has sold to Thomas P. Ward a house and 6000 feet of land on Centre street.

Two building lots containing, respectively, 7596 and 7216 feet of land, Nos. 10 and 11 Kimball terrace, have been conveyed by Matilda J. Kimball to Caroline K. Tucker. The parcel is near the William Claflin property.

Edward B. Bowan and wife have transferred to Theresa A. Holden a lot containing 6521 feet of land on Morseland avenue, a new street.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

MATTERS OF MINOR IMPORTANCE OCCUPY ATTENTION OF THE MEMBERS—SUPERINTENDENT FIFIELD ORGANIZES SYSTEM OF FIRE DRILLS.

The regular monthly session of the school board was held Wednesday evening in the old Claflin school building at Newtonville, matters of minor importance only coming up for transaction. Chairman Benner presided and ten members were present.

The resignation of Miss Clara B. Barnes, assistant in the High school, was accepted and Miss Sarah W. Bassett appointed to fill the vacancy at a salary of $625 a year. Miss Emma B. Larrabee was appointed an assistant in the Eliot school, vice Miss Lillian A. Simmonds, resigned. Miss Susan H. Lane was appointed an assistant in the same school at a salary of $650.

In his monthly report, Supt. Fifield dealt at some length with the school census, which shows a decrease of 87 pupils from that of 1898. The total number of pupils at present is 5170 against 5259 last year. The superintendent has also organized a system of fire drills in which the pupils are regularly instructed. The arrangements for improved sanitary facilities in the Hyde and Claflin schools are completed and the system will be installed at once.

Upon recommendation of the finance committee $16,893.85 was appropriated for the expenses of the school department for November, and $281.33 for temporary location of Bigelow school pupils during the present month.

NEWTON LOWER FALLS.

—Mr. Frank Donlon has returned to the employ of James A. Early, grocer.

—The Colonial Automobile Co. are making extensive alterations at the laboratory leased from Billings & Clapp, for manufacture of carriages.

—A new organ is soon to replace the one now in use at St. Mary's church, and for that purpose a large sum of money has been subscribed by the church members.

—Many of the oldest houses here are now out of the way making an improved change. The park property, bounded by Concord and Washington streets, shows up handsomely after much labor and expense.

—A committee of citizens have conferred with the fire department relative to the new hose station on Grove street. The present station is in no condition for removal, being badly damaged at time of the sewer excavation, when the constant blasting parted the building from foundation in many places. A strong protest would result if old station was removed to the new site.

A Card From Alderman Morton.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—

Having just been informed that at the Republican caucus recently held in Ward Three, a certain gentleman improved the occasion to allude to me in a sneering manner, I desire the indulgence of a few lines in your paper. Not that I have any special grievance, nor that I am particularly disturbed by what he said, but that my acts while in the board of aldermen, may be justified in the estimation of the voters who elected me to that position. If I am correctly informed, this gentleman remarked, while the question of nominations were pending, "Mr. Morton has done as well as he could," adding, "but we were not responsible for him." Very true, as a partisan caucus it was not responsible for me. But the use of the plural "we" was an assumption on the part of the speaker, as there were several gentlemen present at the caucus, who voted for me last year, and who have since told me that they would gladly vote for me if I would again be a candidate. However, the sneer was clearly apparent, and was uncalled for at such a place. To make a sarcastic, or a satirical allusion to another person requires wit, and some activity of intellect. To utter a sneer requires no effort, and is generally prompted by a lack of knowledge, weakness of argument, or a malicious disposition. The latter trait, even with my slight acquaintance with the gentleman, I cannot believe him to be capable of. But why should my name be dragged before the public in such a manner? I asked no favors at his hands, nor of the caucus.

I have never sought nor desired the position of alderman, and had even, previous to the aforesaid caucus, declined to accept a nomination from another political party. And I submit that his remarks were in bad taste, and a breach of the amenities that should exist between gentlemen. Referring to my acts when "I did as well as I could," I will briefly review them as performed in the different committees on which I served: In the committee on sewers, having previously been somewhat familiar with the system, I was very much interested. Much time and careful consideration was given to the questions brought before us, and our conclusions were generally unanimous. Hence I infer that my associates on the committee, including myself, "did as well as we could." The auditing committee was composed of gentlemen who carefully examined the bills, questioning some. We supposed that we had a duty to perform, and were there for a purpose. We had no differences of opinions on the matters that came before us. Possibly we "did as well as we could." Yet our acts have been criticised by two or three persons who evidently thought that they could obtain two or three dollars more from the city, than from a private party. The military and charity committees had so little business that any action of mine connected with them, could hardly furnish cause for criticism or sneer. So much for committee service. When the "budget" for 1900 was brought before the city government, a motion was made to reduce by ten per cent., all salaries in excess of $1500. While I did not favor such a sweeping reduction, believing as I do that there are heads of departments with large responsibilities attached, and that require special abilities to perform the duties of, and should be compensated accordingly, I seconded the motion in order to bring the matter before the "board" for consideration, the motion being defeated by a large majority. This act has uncorked the bottles of pent-up ire in certain quarters, as might naturally have been expected. It is peculiar, but traditionary in the city of Newton, that whenever an attempt is made to reduce expenses at city hall, then politicians are active, and a victim must be found. Frankly stated, I should again take the same position. Although a firm believer that "the laborer is worthy of his hire," it is a burlesque of business principles to pay a man more than he had even demonstrated the ability to earn in any other position. Politics, favoritism and corruption are a growing evil in the larger cities; happily no taint of corruption is manifest in the city of Newton. But politics and extravagance are the stepping stones to it. If we mean economy, let us be consistent.

M. MORTON.

P. S. Since the above was written, I have, at the solicitation of several non-partisan voters, consented to again be a candidate for alderman.

Mrs. Pinkham's Medicine Made a New Woman of Mrs. Kuhn.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 64,492]

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I think it is my duty to write to you expressing my sincere gratitude for the wonderful relief I have experienced by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried different doctors, also different kinds of medicine. I would feel better at times, then would be as bad as ever.

"For eight years I was a great sufferer. I had falling of the womb and was in such misery at my monthly periods I could not work but a little before I would have to lie down. Your medicine has made a new woman of me. I can now work all day and not get tired. I thank you for what you have done for me. I shall always praise your medicine to all suffering women."—MRS. E. E. KUHN, GERMANO, OHIO.

"I have taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used two packages of your Sanative Wash, also some of the Liver Pills, and I can say that your remedies will do all that you claim for them. Before taking your remedies I was very bad with womb trouble, was nervous, had no ambition, could not sleep, and my food seemed to do me no good. Now I am well, and your medicine has cured me. I will gladly recommend your medicine to every one wherever I go."—MRS. M. L. SHEARS, GUN MARSH, MICH.

Buying a Piano by Renting It.

There are advantages in our Rental Purchase Plan that are worth serious consideration. Briefly stated, we rent pianos and by agreement apply all rent toward purchase. If you don't want to pay all cash, our Rental Purchase Plan will solve the problem. A little cash down, and monthly or quarterly payments running through two or three years, and you own the instrument. MAYOR WILSON'S RE-ELECTION CERTAIN.

There is evidently to be no effective opposition to Mayor Wilson's re-election. The custom of giving the Mayor a second term in Newton has never been set aside when an official desired it, and the majority think that it would not be fair to make any exception at this time. The second term theory has substantial arguments in its favor, as a Mayor can not carry out any fixed line of policy in one year. For this reason many thought when the new charter was made that the term of the mayor should be extended to two years, and thus save the trouble of a re-election, as every mayor is given the two years anyway.

It is no easy task to secure a first class candidate for Mayor of this city, as the opposition this year are in a position to acknowledge, because the duties of the office call now for so much time that only a man who is in a position to give up most of his other business can afford to accept it, There are any number of men who would make excellent officials, but they are in active business, which requires all their time and strength. Those who could accept seem to feel that there is no reason why Mayor Wilson should not be given the usual compliment of a second term, and hence the difficulty in finding any opposition candidate.

Every Mayor who comes new to the duties of the office makes mistakes, and Mayor Wilson of course has not escaped, but no one denies that he has striven to conduct city affairs economically and efficiently, that he has endeavored to cut off unnecessary expenditures and to make every dollar appropriated go as far as possible. He has done one thing also that ought to entitle him to the approval of every citizen and that is, he has forced every department to keep within its appropriation, and there will be none of the usual deficits at the end of the year, and the effect of this will be gratefully felt when next year's tax rate is made out.

A policy of economy is not calculated to make a man popular, as every one whose portion is cut down becomes a kicker and makes more noise than all the thousands who approves such a policy. Some at least of the opposition to Mayor Wilson comes from this source, and though it may make a good deal of noise, such opposition never makes much of a showing when the votes are counted.

What Newton needs, after all the extra expenditures of the last few years, is a policy of strict economy, without fear or favor, and this policy has been inaugurated this year to some degree, and in a second term, with an accurate knowledge of the needs of all the departments that experience has given, it can be made much more effective as Mayor Wilson will know just where to insert the pruning knife. For these reasons it seems the wiser course to give a hearty support to his re-election.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY OFFERINGS.

The appeal for the Hospital which appears elsewhere should be carefully read by every citizen, and acted upon as his purse and generosity may warrant. The poor we have always with us and the hospital finds its work increasing with the growth of the city. The relief of suffering is the highest form of charity and as the response for this purpose has been generous in the past it is hoped that it will be unusually so this year as the needs of the hospital are greater than ever before.

It is certainly rather remarkable that when the enterprise was first talked of the objection was made that there was no thing for such an institution to do in Newton as the poor were so few, and cases requiring such care were not numerous enough to even partially fill one ward. But experience has shown that even with the many enlargements of the Hospital that have been made year by year the accommodations are at times insufficient to care for all who need its care. Its reputation has stood so high that many seek its aid as full pay patients, so that its revenue is largely increased from such patrons. Besides it has served as a model for many institutions of the kind that have been started in other cities, which have followed the good example thus set by Newton.

The Sunday before Thanksgiving is set aside by the churches as the day when contributions for the Hospital are received and every one is invited to give according to their ability. It is hoped that the contributions will be large enough to be worthy the name of offerings, according to the version of the little boy, who wanted to set aside the best of his meat for his dog, but was prevented and had finally to take him a plateful of scraps. He told the dog that he wanted to make him an offerring, but he could only bring him a collection. The Hospital is worthy of the most generous offering that the people can make, and the money is certainly needed.

DUMPING STATION.

We cannot believe for a moment the selectmen of Brookline are going to consent to have a dumping station in the heart of that town and compel people to change from one car to another in all kinds of weather. Neither do we believe that the selectmen will grant a franchise for a railway which will compel the residents on a line from Chestnut Hill to Cypress street to pay two fares to get into Boston. That is not the way the selectmen of Brookline look after the interest of the people. Neither can we believe the residents of Chestnut Hill will be satisfied with such accommodations.

We firmly believe that people who live in Newton and wish to reach Boston by electric cars are entitled to do so without such great inconvenience, and the time has now come when our city fathers ought to take a stand that will be in our interest. If we are to have another line of electric railway in our streets why not give that franchise to the West End railroad. Our editorial in last week's issue on Dumping Stations has met the approval of many thinking men of our city, which of course is very gratifying to us.

VICTORY FOR CLEAN POLITICS.

The storm of indignation roused by the action of the Ward One caucus had its effect in the Republican convention, and the result is that Alderman Fisher was nominated for the two year term, and Alderman Ivy withdraws as a candidate for the one year term. Delegates from all over the city took the matter up, there were any number of interviews with the parties concerned, and the truth was sifted from the many rumors. It should be said that no blame can be attached in the whole affair to Mr. Charles E. Riley, who has acted throughout in a perfectly straightforward manner.

But there are other years, and Mr. Riley would have a unanimous election at any other time. The debate in the convention was very bitter and some very plain truths were spoken, and the result is that some Ward One politicians have received a decided rebuke.

The convention was a remarkably harmonious one, aside from this incident, and all the other nominations were made by acclamation. Evidently there are to be no contests this year, and the Newton people are a remarkably happy family politically.

THE nomination of ex-Alderman John E. Briston for the ward alderman from Ward One is heartily indorsed by a large majority of the voters of the ward, as he is a straightforward, business-like man, who made an excellent record when in the board before. He does not take up the time of the board with useless talk about finical points, but he attends the board and committee meetings, performs the duties of the office faithfully, and is open and aboveboard. Mr. Briston is one of the most popular men in the ward, and he has several times proved his ability to carry it against any kind of opposition. In fact there was very small doubt of his election had Mr. Ivy remained in the field, and possibly that may have had something to do with Mr. Ivy's withdrawal. The field is thus left clear to Mr. Briston, who is such an unexceptionable candidate in every way, that the wise thing for the Republican committee to do, is to put his name in place of Mr. Ivy's, and so make the election unanimous all round.

WHETHER laws are made to be obeyed or to be evaded, is a question that is being raised with regard to Col. Dick of Ohio, who sent out the famous circulars to the postmasters all over the country asking for contributions for the Ohio campaign fund. The law in regard to the matter is very plain. It provides that no representative in Congress shall directly or indirectly solicit or receive, or be in any manner concerned in such soliciting or receiving of contributions for any political purpose whatever from any employe of the United States. The penalty is a fine of $5000, or imprisonment for a term of three years or both. Civil service reformers all over the country are watching for some action on this gross violation of law, and they will hardly be satisfied with any plea that "we have outgrown all that." If the law can be violated by one man with impunity, why can it not be by another, and if one law can be, why not all laws?

THOSE who fear that Admiral Dewey may somehow get the Republican nomination for the Presidency, made themselves ridiculous by their too previous criticism of his deeding his house to his wife. There was nothing too bad for them to say of him, but had they waited a day they would have known more and said less. His action was taken simply to carry out the wish of the contributors, that the house should belong to the Dewey family, and that there should be no obstacle to his son succeeding him, in the event of his death. The Admiral is a practical man and believes evidently in taking thought for the future, and hence he deeded the house to his wife, and at the same time Mrs. Dewey deeded it to "son George," so that there could be no possible dispute. The day that intervened between the filing of the two deeds gave the Admiral a chance to find out how much the friendship of some of his alleged friends was worth.

THERE are many stories as to the difficulty of obtaining army chaplains to serve in Manila. The government might resort to a draft and send the ministers who have been so loudly advocating imperialism and the policy of shooting Christianity into the Filipinos. It could begin with Dr. Lyman Abbott and other conspicuous examples, and such men certainly ought to have the courage of their convictions. How could they conscientiously resist the call of duty and destiny about which they have been saying so much, and it is surprising that some of them have not already volunteered as an example to the common soldiers and the people generally.

THE trouble in the Library Hall Association in Cambridge is said to be due to a tradesman who did not get the patronage he wanted from Mayor Champlin, and so he made a great outcry. The Mayor thought the city patronage should be given out in a business-like way to the lowest bidder, and the people of Cambridge seem to think the revelations only confirm his title to a reelection. The spoils question invades all ranks and is responsible for more trouble than any other that can be named.

KEROSENE oil has advanced in price some 30 per cent, and possibly the Standard oil millionaires have in contemplation some gifts to colleges and hence have to ask consumers for more money. This is a trust that dictates to the railroads of the country as to what shall be charged for carrying the freight of its rivals, and it is said that the railroads have to pay over to the trust this excess of freight rates. Its whole history is an illustration of the evils of trusts, but it is said to be a generous contributor to campaign funds so that it does not have to observe the laws unless the laws happen to be favorable to its plans.

THE death of Alderman Niles is a distinct loss to the city, as during his service in the board of alderman he had shown marked ability, and had won the esteem and confidence of the people. Expressions of regret are heard on all sides, and his family have the sympathy of the many friends he had made throughout the city.

MAYOR MAYBERRY of Waltham is another man who is to have an almost unanimous re-election. Waltham evidently approves of his policy in keeping the appropriation down to a reasonable limit, in spite of vigorous protests, from more or less interested parties.

MR. HOBART is the sixth vice-president to die while in office. The others were George Clinton, who died in 1812, Elbridge Gerry in 1814, William Rufus King in 1853, Henry Wilson in 1875 and Thomas A. Hendricks in 1885.

Death of Alderman Niles.

Alderman John M. Niles died Wednesday morning at 3.30, at his residence on Arlington street. Mr. Niles had been ill about ten days. A week ago Tuesday he underwent an operation for appendicitis from which it was expected he would recover. Until Tuesday the physicians had strong hopes, and at last Monday evening's meeting of the board of aldermen it was announced that he was convalescent.

So confident were the members of the board of aldermen that their fellow member would recover, that at the meeting last Monday evening, they instructed City Clerk Kingsbury to write a letter to Alderman Niles. Accompanying the letter were a number of flowers, the personal gifts of the board members. The letter written by Col. Kingsbury is as follows:

November 21, 1899.

My Dear Mr. Niles:—

Last evening at the regular meeting, Alderman Dana gave to the board of aldermen the cheering intelligence of your improved condition and the prospect of complete recovery.

On his motion, and by unanimous vote, I am privileged to convey to you the congratulations of the board, with sincere wishes of the members that you may, at an early day, be able to resume your active and official duties.

The further pleasure of the board is best expressed in the fragrance of the accompanying flowers.

Yours very sincerely,
I. F. KINGSBURY,
City Clerk.

Alderman John H. Niles,
70 Arlington street,
Newton, Mass.

Tuesday his condition became worse and late Tuesday evening the doctors despaired of his recovery.

John M. Niles was born in Montville, Conn., about 46 years ago. When a young man he entered the employ of the Brainerd & Armstrong Silk Manufacturing Company of New London, Conn., with which he was connected for 27 years. He was first employed as a travelling salesman and afterwards promoted to the position of manager of the Boston office, which he held for 17 years and occupied at the time of his death.

In 1896 Mr. Niles was elected a member of the common council from Ward 7, and served for one year. The following year he was made a member of the board of aldermen, representing his ward. In December 1898, he was elected a member of the board for two years, and at the time of his death had an additional year to serve.

Mr. Niles was looked upon as one of the most valued members of the city government. He was a member of the finance committee and always expressed a deep interest in the city's affairs. As a member of the Eliot Congregational church he was highly respected, and held in great esteem. He was an earnest supporter of the Newton branch of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Niles was a member of the Hunnewell Club and well known socially. The flags were placed at half-staff on all the public buildings throughout the city.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The final tributes of love and respect to Alderman John H. Niles's memory were paid today by his fellow members of the board of aldermen, city officials, business associates and relatives and friends, at the funeral services, which took place at 2 this afternoon from the house.

Mayor Edward B. Wilson, twenty-one aldermen, city hall officials, and nearly 100 friends were present. There was a manifest expression of sorrow among the large gathering, as the late alderman was one of the most valued and popular members of the city government.

City Hall was closed today at noon and flags on the public buildings were placed at half-staff. As the funeral cortege passed from the house to the cemetery the fire bells throughout the city were tolled.

The services this afternoon were conducted by Rev. William H. Davis, pastor of the Eliot church, and appropriate hymns were sung by the Albion quartet.

The pallbearers were Mayor E. B. Wilson, representing the city government, Mr. C. A. Haskell representing the Hunnewell Club, Col. D. W. Farquhar, Mr. Frank A. Day and Mr. Moses R. Emerson, representing the Eliot church, Mr. S. M. Sayford, president of the Newton Y. M. C. A., and ex-president Tucker of the same organization, and Mr. C. P. Smith of the Brainerd & Armstrong Silk Manufacturing Company, which company Mr. Niles represented in Boston.

There were delegations present representing the Boston business associates of the late alderman, together with members of the Hunnewell Club, the Newton Y. M. C. A. and the Eliot Congregational church.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes was a broken column of ivy from city hall, a cross from the Brainerd & Armstrong Silk Manufacturing Company, and wreaths from the Hunnewell Club and the Newton Y. M. C. A.

The remains were taken to the Newton cemetery for interment.

Appropriate Action of Aldermen.

The board of aldermen held a special meeting Wednesday evening to take action on Alderman Niles' death. After the board had been called to order by Chairman Knowlton, the following communication from the mayor was read:

To the Board of Aldermen,

Gentlemen—The painful duty devolves upon me to announce to you the death of Alderman John M. Niles at his home this morning. I need not refer to the conscientious manner in which he has undertaken all the public duties devolving upon him since he became a member of the city government in January, 1897, nor to his good business ability shown at all times.

Such qualities constitute the best equipment for service in the conduct of municipal affairs or in wider fields, and the death of one of our number in the full tide of manhood, possessing these qualities, seems an untimely event. We shall best honor his memory by emulating his virtues and giving of our best thought and labor as representatives of our fellow citizens.

I recommend that action be taken by you as may seem most befitting.

Respectfully,
EDWARD B. WILSON,
Mayor.

The reading of the mayor's communication was followed by a motion of Alderman Dana, who moved that the president appoint a committee to frame resolutions and complete the arrangements for the city's representation at the funeral.

MAYOR WILSON RENOMINATED.

LIVELY DISCUSSION AT NEWTON REPUBLICAN CONVENTION OVER NOMINATION FOR ALDERMAN-AT-LARGE FROM WARD ONE.

At the municipal convention of Newton Republicans, Thursday evening, in the hall of Associates block, Newtonville, Mayor Edward B. Wilson was nominated for a second term by acclamation. The result was not unexpected.

The convention was called to order by Col. D. W. Farquhar, chairman of the ward and city committee. Mr. George M. Fiske was chosen chairman and C. E. Hatfield secretary.

Mayor Wilson was nominated by George P. Ballard of ward 3 and the nomination was seconded by William Garland of ward 6. The vote was carried by acclamation.

All the other nominations but one were also carried by acclamation. The exception came when the name of Charles E. Riley was presented as the choice of the ward 1 delegation for alderman for two years. It was opposed by the friends of Alderman O. M. Fisher of ward 1, and with success for the latter. The debate was bitter and nearly half of the delegates took part in it.

Alderman Fisher was elected last year to serve as ward alderman for one year. He, it is understood, expected to receive the indorsement of the ward 1 voters at their caucus of last week for the two-year term. This, however, was not the action of the caucus, and in place of Mr. Fisher the name of Mr. Charles E. Riley was presented, and the ward 1 delegates were instructed to present his name for nomination at last evening's convention.

Ward 1 voters at their caucus of last week nominated Alderman Jesse Ivy as ward alderman for one year. It was commonly reported prior to the caucus that Mr. Ivy was not a candidate for a second term, and some surprise was expressed when the action of the caucus was announced.

To-night a letter from Alderman Ivy was read declining the nomination of ward alderman for one year. The ward and city committee will be expected to fill the vacancy.

Hon. H. E. Cobb then presented the name of Charles E. Riley as the unanimous choice of the ward 1 delegation. He said that Mr. Ivy had previously signified his intention of withdrawing in Mr. Fisher's favor, but that the latter would not have it.

From this point until the final ballot was cast the friends of both Mr. Riley and Mr. Fisher were heard from. All referred to the so-called "misunderstanding," which was in substance a statement said to have been made by Mr. Riley. The ward 1 delegation and their friends declared that Mr. Riley had said he was willing to take the two year term. Some of the speakers went so far as to say that he had said he would take nothing else.

Statements were made to the contrary by Mr. Fisher's friends, who hinted that while the ward 1 delegation were above reproach the man who had quoted Mr. Riley at the ward 1 caucus of last week had made an error.

After the vote was taken it was announced that Mr. Fisher had received 20 votes and Mr. Riley 14. Mr. Fisher was then declared the candidate of the convention as alderman at large for two years.

The remaining nominations occasioned absolutely no discussion. They were as follows: Alderman at large for two years each, J. M. Stickney, ward 2; George H. Hutchinson, ward 3; Quincy Pond, ward 4; Walter B. Chesley, ward 5; Henry Baily, ward 6; William F. Dana, ward 7.

For the school board these nominations were made: Ward 3, for two years, Capt. S. E. Howard; three years, Robert S. Gorham; ward 4, for one year, F. M. Crehore; three years, E. E. Hardy; ward 7, for three years, F. H. Howes.

The ward and city committee were empowered to fill any vacancy that might be caused.

—Twenty-five autographs of Ralph Waldo Emerson will be on sale at the Universalist church fair Dec. 6, 7 and 8, and will be sold to the person making the highest offer.

—Rev. Howard A. Bridgman of Brookline occupied the pulpit at the Congregational church Sunday. Rev. A. E. Dunning, D. D., will preach the next three Sundays.

—The next regular meeting of Boynton Lodge Odd Ladies, will be held next Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 28th, in Dennison hall. Deputy S. J. Boynton of Hyde park will be present.

—A prayer and social meeting will be held at the Central Congregational church this evening. The subject will be "How far is Christian Union Possible and Desirable?"

—There are letters remaining in the post office for Mr. Godfrey, Mrs. George H. Converse, Miss Mollie Donovan, 275 Mill street, Miss Frances Healey, Miss Hattie Piegon, Washington terrace.

—Mr. George F. Williams of Washington park sailed for Europe Wednesday. Mr. Williams expects to be gone about six weeks and will visit many of the principal cities on his route.

—The night patrolmen held their first drill Tuesday afternoon in the High school drill hall under the direction of Lieut. Mitchell. They will drill every Tuesday during the coming season.

—Mr. J. L. Roll, president of the Newton C. E. Union, was the leader of the Y. P. S. C. E. at the Central Congregational church Sunday evening. The subject was, "Liberty and Love."

—Mr. Fred Read sailed Wednesday on the S. S. New England for Liverpool. Mr. Read will visit his mother at her home at Leicester, Eng., and will pass several weeks visiting many of the leading cities.

—The regular meeting of the Young People's Missionary Club was held Wednesday afternoon in the parlors of the Congregational church. An interesting letter from Inanda Seminary was read and other papers were presented.

Springer of Newton, Mrs. C. F. Cheney and Mrs. Bachelder of Newtonville. It was voted a grand success by all.

—Preparations for the fair at the Universalist church parlors, Dec. 6, 7, and 8 are rapidly progressing. The Ladies Aid Society intend it to be one of the most successful efforts of the kind ever given by this society. One of the attractions will be the suppers under the direction of the Lend-a-hand club, Ladies Sewing Circle and the gentlemen of the parish, respectively.

—The Ladies Shubert Quartette of Boston, assisted by the well known reciter, Hester B. Holmes, gave an enjoyable concert Thursday evening at the Methodist church. A fine program was rendered and was well received by an appreciative audience. The members of the quartet are Mattie A. Magoun, Mezzo soprano; Jennie B. Worcester, alto; Winnie C. Butler, second alto; Annie L. Whitcomb, contralto.

—The friends of Walter H. Pulsifer, the Republican nominee for ward alderman, are reminded that it will not be safe to look upon his election as certain. The labor and Democratic vote in the ward is a large one, and J. J. Taylor, the Democratic candidate, represents both classes. Mr. Pulsifer can be elected if his friends will come out in force and put in some effective work, but the lack of contests in the city generally means a light Republican vote, and hence the nominee for ward alderman runs some risks of being in a minority.

—First of the series of four whist parties under the auspices and for the benefit of the Newton Masonic Hall Association was given in Temple hall last evening and was a grand success socially and financially, many of Newton's representative people being present. Refreshments were served and six prizes awarded. The highest scores were as follows: 1st lady's prize Mrs. A. F. Cooke; 2nd, Mrs. R.C. Bridges; 3rd, Mrs. F. C. Lyons. 1st gentleman's prize, F. L. Cook; 2nd, O. N. Gove; 3rd, C. D. Meserve. The committee on arrangements were Messrs. A. H. Decatur and Edward P. Hatch, Mrs. A. H. Decatur, Mrs. E. D. Van Tassel, Mrs. Robert Bennet and Mrs. T. E. Stutson. The second in the series will take place on Thursday, Jan. 4.

—Now is the time to buy coke when coal is so high and scarce. Leave your order at the Gas Office. 4t

—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jones, who were the guests of friends here, have returned to their home in Vermont.

—The regular meeting of General Hull Lodge, A. O. U. W., will hold its regular meeting in Dennison hall this evening.

—Rev. Dr. J. H. Mansfield, presiding elder of the Cambridge district, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

—A successful candy sale was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss Brown, Walnut street, under the auspices of the Junior Guild of St. John's Episcopal society.

—A meeting of the Newton Associated Charities was held in the rooms of the association Thursday afternoon. Deacon R. V. C. Emerson was appointed collector for the society.

—An interesting meeting was held by the Newtonville Woman's Guild Tuesday afternoon at the New church parlors, Highland avenue. Current events occupied the time until 3.30. Short addresses were made by Mrs. D. C. Heath and Mrs. Irving C. Palmer. They touched on the leading events of the day, dwelling more particularly upon the recent wars. Mrs. Mary R. Martin gave an interesting talk on "Friendly Visiting Among the Poor." She urged the more extensive friendly visiting among the poor, not to go as almsgivers but as friends; to win the confidence of the families and help and encourage them with comfort and advice. If help is needed allow some one else to bestow the gifts, for all the good done by the friendly visiting may be spoiled by the bestowing of alms at such times. Much tact is often needed to win the confidence of the worthy poor, and when once won much care must be exercised not to destroy it. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed at the close of the business session. Several pleasing vocal solos were rendered, and refreshments were served.

Newton Congregational Club.

The regular meeting of the Newton Congregational Club was held Monday evening at the Central Congregational church. Supper was preceeded by a pleasant social hour. The business session was called to order by the President, Prof. Taylor. He introduced Prof. William G. Frost, president of Berea College, Kentucky. Prof. Frost gave a graphic description of the lives and characters of the mountain whites of Kentucky.

Dr. E. E. Strong presented the report of the outlook committee, referring principally to the great loss recently sustained by the club in the death of Dr. Furber.

Prof. Taylor then introduced Hon. Edgar James Banks, Ph. D., late United States consul at Bagdad, who delivered an instructive and interesting lecture on "Light Upon the Bible from the Ruins of Babylonia." He said that no prophecy of Scripture was ever more accurately fulfilled than the closing words of the 13th chapter of Isaiah, "Babylon the glory of kingdoms, the beauty of the Chaldees excellency, shall be as when Sodom and Gomorrah. It shall never be inhabitated, neither shall it be dwelt in from generation to generation, neither shall the Arabian pitch tent there, neither shall shepherds make their folds there. But wild beasts of the desert shall lie there, and their houses shall be full of doleful creatures, and owls shall dwell there, and Satyrs shall dance there, and the wild beasts of the islands shall cry in their desolate houses, and dragons in their pleasant palaces."

For more than two thousand years Babylon has been in ruins, so barren and desolate that the shepherds pass by, and no wandering Arab will pitch his tent there.

The plains of Turkish Arabia or Mesopotamia, along the shores of the Tigris and Euphrates, are the scenes of the earliest recorded history of the world. The once fruitful plain is now a desert. The beds of canals which made this country the richest in the world may yet be traced. Mounds uncounted, mark the remains of ancient cities, even the names of which have been forgotten.

Bagdad may be reached in three ways from Constantinople; the first is by horseback from Alexandretta, and down the Euphrates river on a raft. The second route is across the desert by camel. The third is through the Suez Canal, down the Red Sea, through the Indian ocean, up the Persian Gulf and the Tigris river, directly through the heart of the Arabian desert. Here one may see Arabic life in its simplicity. If you would know how Abraham looked and lived, you will here see some Arab sheik living the same life over again. Life in Arabia is the same as it was 5000 years ago; the same character, dress, houses and language. The influence from the outside world has been slight.

Prof. Banks compared the work of the Arab and the European excavators, showing the more systematic method of the latter.

The striking feature of the Arabian desert are the high artificial mounds towering sometimes hundreds of feet above the plain. A century ago one of them was found to be the ruins of Babylon. In 1820, two mounds on the Tigris were identified as the ruins of Nineveh. Every one of the mounds on the Arabian desert represents some ancient palace, temple or city.

In 1842, Mr. Bolta was stationed by the French government at Mosul, to excavate in the ruins of Nineveh. He succeeded in excavating the magnificent palace of Sargon, King of Assyria, who ruled from 722 to 705, B. C. In 1848, Sir Henry Layard excavated Nineveh, and in one of the rooms of the palace of Assurbanipal, the last Assyrian king, was found the great national library of over one hundred thousand volumes, which may now be seen in the British Museum. Here were books on every subject, history, botany, astronomy, mathematics, mythology and religion, records of all kinds of law cases, wills, divorces, sales of slaves, houses and land. There was the Babylonian account of the flood, and also two Assyrian accounts of the creation of the world, and are somewhat similar to the Biblical account.

A short distance from the ruins of Babylon are the remains of the ancient tower of Babel reaching 235 feet above the plain. It seems to have had seven stories, each smaller than the one beneath it, and the summit seems never to have been completed. Two thousand five hundred years ago, Nebuchadnezzar restored it and we read an inscription from his palace to this effect. The Assyrian inscriptions not only explain and throw light upon the Bible in story, but frequently give new knowledge of some Biblical character not found in the Bible.

There was excavated at Nineveh the history of the Assyrian King Shalmaneser, and includes the record of his war with Jehu, King of Israel. It also gives the account of the capture of Samaria in the year 722, B. C., by the Assyrian king.

A few years ago, one of the great religious controversies was if Moses could write or not. In 1887, about 200 beautiful tablets were found among the ruins in upper Egypt. Most of them were written at cities in Palestine 1600 years B. C., at the very time when Moses lived. In that remote age, Assyrian art, culture and language had spread over Palestine to Egypt. Assyrian was the diplomatic language of the ancient world.

The origin of the Sabbath or Sunday is a point now being discussed, and its answer is found on a tablet from the Assyrian library. An old calendar used in Babylon long before the Bible was written, tells us that every seventh day was holy, and tells us how strictly the day was kept sacred. Here we may have the origin of the Christian Sabbath.

The ancient city of Ur, the early home of Abraham, is still waiting to tell us its wonderful secrets. No one knows how much the world's knowledge will be increased when the records of this old city are read.

The palaces of at least ten of the Assyrian and Babylonian kings mentioned in the Bible have been discovered, but few have been excavated.

Our schools teach us that our civilization came from Rome and Greece, but the Assyrian scholar can now say that Greece and Rome borrowed their civilization from Babylonia.

The tomb of Jonah has been discovered and upon an Assyrian bas-relief is portrayed such a lion's den as is told of in the story of Daniel. If we would find new light to shed upon the Bible, the Hebrew people, and upon the early history of mankind, we must seek it beneath the soil of Arabia.

Prof. Banks spoke of a book which will soon appear entitled, "Bible Witnesses from Babylonia, which will give interesting accounts of the work accomplished.

He also displayed a number of curiosities which have been excavated, and which are known to have been in use from four to six thousand years B. C.

Vocal solos were rendered by Mr. Stanley Fisher and Dr. D. E. Baker.

A committee was appointed to nominate the officers for the coming year.

The Nonantum Boy's Club.

Over a hundred boys were enrolled when the club opened November the sixth and there is at present a waiting list of boys anxious to be admitted to the privileges of the club. This enlargement in the membership has made necessary the employment of two superintendents, besides the industrial teachers. A larger number of volunteer helpers than ever before, have indicated a personal interest in the work of the club by agreeing to visit it one evening each week, and still more are needed.

A series of talks by Mr. Maynard of Newtonville on Natural History, regular monthly entertainments and a debating club organized from the older members are among the new features of this years program.

An attempt is also being made this year for the first time, to organize a reading room separated from the general game room. Almost all of the older boys and many of the younger ones have expressed a wish to have a well equipped and comparatively quiet room where the books loaned by the Newton free library and the current magazines can be rea and enjoyed

For this purpose copies, and if possible duplicate copies of Harper's Weekly, Collier's Weekly, Scribner's Magazine, Harper's Magazine the McClure and Munsey Magazines and the St. Nicholas, are urgently needed. The expenses, incident to fitting up the reading room, make it impossible for the committee in charge of the club to subscribe for these periodicals. This appeal is made to all residents of Newton interested in the work of the club, who have made no other arrangements for the disposition of their magazines, regularly to undertake to send them to Nonantum as soon as read for the use of the boys during the winter months. Those who can contribute one or several of the periodicals mentioned will do the club a real service if they will communicate with the undersigned, stating the name of the magazine and the date on which it will be sent. —The students of Lasell seminary listened to an interesting lecture Wednesday evening, given by Chaplain D. H. Tribou of the U. S. Navy. His subject was "The U. S. Navy—the Old and the New." Chaplain Tribou's remarks were descriptive of the men who made up the navy and of the vessels and their armament.

—Mr. Clarence Ashenden of this place, whose splendid baritone voice has been heard with so much pleasure on various private and public occasions and at a number of the clubs' Sunday afternoon musicales, left on Thursday of last week, with his wife for the latter's home in Texas, where they will live for the present. Mr. Ashenden intends to teach there and also to do concert and oratorio work, as he has done here. As Mrs. Ashenden belongs to one of the oldest families in Texas, there will be the best social influence to help the young artist in his work, and his friends are wishing him every success in this new field.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.—ADOLPH L. MILLETT, Manchester, N. H. For sale by A. Hudson, Newton; E. F. Partridge, Newtonville; B. Billings, Newton Upper Falls; J. H. Green, Newton Highlands.

Lasell Notes.

The Gebhard concert of last week, and the usual Saturday evening symphony concert were attended by certain of the music lovers among the students, Fraulein Stuven accompanying them.

Chaplain D. H. Tribou, U. S. A., lectured at Lasell on Wednesday evening. His subject was "The American Navy, the Old and the New." The lecture was illustrated and full of entertainment and instruction.

On Sunday evening the services at the Congregational church of the village were conducted by a band of the workers of the Boston Union Rescue Mission, and were illustrative and explanatory of that work, one of the noblest now doing in the city. This service a considerable number of the students attended, and found it of unusual interest. The girls of the seminary have frequently visited the mission in small parties, have contributed to its needs, and aided sometimes in its services by their singing.

At the last meeting of the Lasell Missionary Society, Miss Annie Downie, recently returned from India, gave a talk upon the condition of the Indian women, and their crying needs. Miss Downie is the daughter of a missionary, the Rev. David Downie, and has for the last five years been engaged actively in this work in southern India, near Madras. She attired herself for the occasion in a costume such as is worn by the women of that part of the country, and had with her a collection of interesting photographs, illustrating the manners and customs of the people. The picture she drew of the hard and hopeless lot of the poor child-widows in India was most moving.

High School Notes.

The Tau Delta Sigma, '02, met at Mr. Cheney's, Newtonville, Friday. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing hearts, Mr. Merchant and Miss Lovell winning the prizes.

The Gilbert Memorial lecture on "Cambridge and Her Poets" will be given Saturday evening, Dec. 2nd, in the Assembly hall The proceeds of this lecture will be used in conjunction with the class of '94 for a memorial alcove in the library. Admission 50 cts. Tickets may be procured from the scholars or at the door.

The score of the second league game, between Newton High and Chelsea High, that was played Wednesday, was 0 to 0. As Newton had beaten in the other league games and Chelsea had been defeated by Malden, our team is the champion of the northern division Junior League and will be obliged to play the champion of the southern division, which is Hyde Park. Newton was defeated once this year by Hyde Park by a score of 11 to 0, and it is very doubtful if we can beat them in the next game, but, nevertheless, if Newton High plays as well as it has there is no doubt that it will make Hyde Park hustle. All those interested in the success of the team should be thankful that Skelton is a member of it, for without him the team would not have been able to have accomplished what it has. He is the backbone of the team and has done some excellent playing. The Athletic association ought to reward him by electing him captain of next year's team. He has a great deal of good judgment and plenty of "sand," which is very essential to a captain.

The School Committee has granted the police department the use of the drill shed for drill. Tuesday afternoon, the night patrolmen, under command of Lieut. Mitchell, were instructed in the marching movements.

Grain-O! Grain-O!

Remember that name when you want a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it. Grain-O is made of pure grain, it aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant but a health builder and the children as well as the adults can drink it with great benefit. Costs about 1-4 as much as coffee. 15c. and 25c. per package. Ask your grocer for Grain-O.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

Militarism.

(From the Boston Saturday Gazette.)

The imperialist newspapers make a mistake when they believe or pretend to believe that those who are opposed to the system of militarism are opposed to the soldiers who so bravely fight their country's battles. To attack a bad law is not to attack those whose duty it is to see that the law is obeyed, and to argue that the bad law should be repealed is far removed from arguing that those who carry out the law should be degraded. In the present day nothing can be said in favor of militarism, except that the world is not as yet sufficiently civilized and sufficiently moral to do without it. Like the rudimentary tail in the unborn being it is a survival from the barbarous past, and no amount of glowing rhetoric can make of it a thing to be admired on its own account. History is indignantly eloquent over the evils that have resulted from militarism in former days, and France and Germany are examples of the evils produced by militarism in the present day. French soldiers are brave, German soldiers are brave, and both are patriotic, but at the same time militarism broods like a destroying epidemic over both the countries referred to.

The tendency of the age is opposed to militarism, and every step in the direction of progress is a step further away from militarism. To glorify the thing is undoubtedly to win vulgar, uncritical approval, but not the assent of the educated, thinking man or woman. Those who believe in militarism are justified in defending it, but they are not justified in misrepresenting their opponents by dealing out statements that they know to be false.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of the atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

Two Newton Cases at Superior Court.

At the Middlesex superior court in Cambridge this week Wilbur S. Lyman, who was remanded by the Newton police court on the charge of larceny of a horse, two carriages and harnesses from Dr. James F. Bothfeld, was given two years in the house of correction with one day solitary confinement.

Charles H. Peck, for assault on a little girl at Auburndale, was sentenced to three years in the house of correction and three days' solitary confinement.

The Lyman case attracted widespread attention, and the work of Chief Tarbox and several other members of the department is worthy of no little praise.

SUNDAY READING.

REJOICING IN OTHER PEOPLE'S WORK.

It takes a long time for any religious man to be able to reach St. Paul's position with respect to those who preach Christ of contention. It takes a long time before a man can put aside the feeling of personal soreness and bitterness, and say, "In this I rejoice, yea, and will rejoice," Christ is preached whether by truth or contention. The acrimonious controversialist is most often the active propagator of the truth which he tries to destroy. And those who are not reached by the activities of the Gospel are attracted to the truth by the bitterness of the opposition which denounces it. God labours to make us remember that His work is vast, and has many departments in it. His Body has many members, and yet it is but one body. As long as the work of the Lord is being done, we ought to rejoice that it is going forward, even if it be not done by ourselves. He is a bad workman who uses the material given him by his Master for his own advantage. He is a bad workman who deflects all the work and makes it centre upon himself, producing only a self-conscious, unharmonious deformity, whose very individuality strikes a blow at proportion. CANON NEWBOLT.

HOPING GOOD THINGS OF EACH OTHER.

We are ready on the smallest provocation to call each other traitors, disloyal, unclean, dishonest, ambitious. It is hard to make the best of those whom God has given us to mould and influence; to remember that the angel lurks somewhere in that rough block of marble, if there were only the sculptor's hand to bring it out; to remember that the apostle and the devil are struggling in the man, and that we can help and soothe in the combat; to remember that Ananias, after all, was quite wrong, and must needs be shown his error. Surely, he would say, it could not be right for him to have anything to do with a man like Saul, who was the victim of the most retrograde superstitions, red with the martyrs' blood. Surely there must be some mistake. But Saul became the great apostle of the Gentiles, and Ananias, good and simple man as he was, is, after all, but a name to us. CANON NEWBOLT.

CORRECTING THE FAULTS OF OTHERS

It is not the duty that any tender hearted person ever can like. There are people without tenderness who never stop to consider the pain they occasion as they would remedy what they think amiss in others. To combine tenderness and faithfulness is a hard task, and yet some have accomplished it. There is a tomb in one of the most beautiful of French cathedrals, in which reposes the remains of one of her great bishops. And in the Latin inscription which sets forth his goodness and his patience, it is recorded that, while he was like a lamb to the gentle, and a lion to the unruly, he acted as a file to the haughty. He knew, that is, how to take down the high looks of the proud, how to file down the facets until he got to a brighter and purer surface a better self. There have been with many whom God has thrown us amongst who have acted like this file to grind down our faults, and bring out our better self. It is not only the friends we have chosen, whose judgment has formed our taste, and guided our actions; it is not only the teachers we have had, who, at different turning points of our life, have formed and moulded our plastic character. These are obvious, almost common-place influences. But there are also those whom, if left to ourselves, we should have avoided. They were the files whose work was to remove the points of character that were over protruberant. It was harder perhaps for those who used the file than for us.

KEEPING ONE'S WORD TO THE LETTER.

It was acute pain to St. Paul to be accused of having broken his word. The people were saying at Corinth that he had promised to come to them, but that he had not kept his promise. With him it was, "Yea, yea," and then "Nay, nay," and St. Paul laboriously and painfully explained the circumstances which had retarded his coming. But it grieved him to the very heart that people should be able even to imagine that having made a promise he would not strictly keep it. It is part of a Christian to be a man of his word. People have the right to expect us to live up to what we say. It is a disgrace to a Christian to be suspected of the slightest disposition to be untruthful in speech or act. He should be the embodiment of truth, so that every one may rely upon him implicitly.

WHEN IS IT RIGHT TO TELL A LIE?

Canon Gore says: Twice in my life to such a question I heard a very good answer given. was by the late Mr. Jowett. Twice I heard him asked the question by different people whether he would not tell a lie in order to save somebody's life; and twice he gave the same answer. I do not think you would find a better—he said, "I suppose I should do it, but I would rather not think about it beforehand or justify it afterwards." For, in fact, there is nothing less wholesome than meditating upon the extreme dilemma which may sometimes be presented to us by moral circumstances—say, once or twice in a lifetime. Practically for us the command always is "Thou shalt not bear false witness."

Dooley after Roosevelt.

The only truthful description of the battle of San Juan thus drips from Dooley's pen:

"Who ar-re ye?" says they. "Col. Rosenfelt," says I. "Oh, excuse me," says the Gin'ral in command (if me mim'ry serves me thrue it was Miles). r-risin' to his knees and salutin'. This showed me 'twud be impossible f'r to carry th' war to a successful conclusion unless I was free, so I sint th' ar rmy home an' attacked San Juan hill. Ar-rmed on'y with a small 32, which I used in th' West to shoot th' fleet prairie-dog, I climbed that precipitous ascent in th' face iv th' most galling fire I iver knew or heard iv. But I had a few r-rounds iv garrl mesilf, an' what cared I? I dashed madly on, cheerin' as I wint. Th' Spanish troops was dhrawn up in a long line in th' formation known among military men as a long line. I fired at th' man nearest me, an' I knew be th' expression in his face that th' thrusty bullet wint home. It passed through his frame, he fell, an' wan little home in far-off Catalonia was made happy be th' thought that their riprisintative had been kilt be th' future governor of New York. Th' bullet sped on in its mad flight an' passed through th' intire line, fin'lly imbeddin' itself in th' abdomen iv th' ar-rchbishop iv Sandago eight miles away. This inded th' war.

Six Frightful Failures.

Six terrible failures of six different doctors nearly sent Wm. H. Mullen of Lockland, O., to an early grave. All said he had a fatal lung trouble and that he must soon die. But he was urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. After taking five bottles he was entirely cured. It is positively guaranteed to cure all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs, including Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup, Whooping Cough, 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at all drug stores.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

TREMONT THEATRE—With the introduction of several new scenes and a number of new songs, and important changes in the cast, Mr. Barnet's bright and merry musical comedy, "Three Little Lambs," now in its second month at the Tremont Theatre, presents a great deal of novelty—so much, in fact, that it seems almost like a new piece. Mr. Barnet has put some of his best work into his share of the interpolations, and the new musical numbers are of the same melodious, catchy character as the original score by Mr. Corliss. Of the changes in the distribution of parts, the most notable is the transfer of the principal female role to Miss Adele Ritchie an accomplished vocalist and clever comedienne, whose successes in light opera are well remembered. Miss Clara Palmer now appears as Patience More, the bank cashier, and there are a number of changes among the less important roles. The result of these changes is a material improvement in the performance, which is attracting and delighting large audiences. The production at the Tremont Theatre on Dec. 4 of "Arizona," the latest play by Augustus Thomas, the author of "Alabama," "In Mizzoura," etc., which had a marvellously successful summer run of four months in Chicago, will be one of the most notable events of the theatrical season in Boston. The new work has been enthusiastically received as the typical American play for which critics and public have been waiting so long. The scenes and incidents are, as the title of the piece indicates, borrowed from the picturesque territory on the Southwest frontier, and the story is as vividly colored as the lives of the sturdy, independent and courageous people who have followed the advance of civilization into that former haunt of renegades and Apaches. The dashing soldiers of the cavalry, the nervy, fun-loving cowboys of the plains, the wives, sisters and sweethearts of the army officers and ranchmen, are the characters in a thrilling story of love, revenge, loyalty and adventure. The play is interpreted by an excellent company, and the scenic investiture has been painted from sketches of actual localities from the pencil of that master painter of western life, Frederic Remington.

PARK THEATRE—"Sag-Harbor," James A. Herne's new play, is now in the fifth week of a run at the Park Theatre, Boston, which shows every indication of turning out to be the record theatrical engagement, both in point of duration and receipts that Boston has ever experienced. On Saturday night last a great body of students went over from Cambridge after the big match game of football between Harvard and Yale and filled the auditorium. On Miss Julie Herne's entrance as Martha Reese wearing the crimson ribbon about her head the students rose in a body and cheered the charming young actress for several minutes, interrupting the action of the play. On Tuesday, Nov. 21st, the long-talked-of and much anticipated professional matinee of "Sag Harbor" was given. The boxes were occupied by several stage notabilities, chief among them being Sir Henry Irving, who watched with great interest the progress of this beautiful play of typical New England life. James O'Neill occupied another box with Miss Maud Odell, his leading lady. A special holiday matinee of "Sag-Harbor" will be given on Thanksgiving Day, and Mr. Herne's management are making preparations to render this occasion unique, in some way characteristic of the famous old New England holiday. Preceding the Thanksgiving Day matinee an affair altogether unusual and extraordinary will be given at the Park Theatre. Mr. Herne, an intense lover of children and a man noted throughout his profession as one of large heart and many quiet and beautiful charities, is to entertain 2000 poor children of Boston with a long program of enjoyable amusements and serve them as well with a collation such as will realize all childish desires in the eating line to the utmost. Many famous artists have volunteered their services to Mr. Herne to assist in their amusement. All of Mr. Herne's company will do something and the famous author-star will speak to the children. The fiftieth performance of "Sag-Harbor" in Boston will occur on the night of Dec. 4th, and Liebler & Co., Mr. Herne's managers, have contracted with one of the famous silversmiths of the country for a souvenir that will probably be the finest and most expensive ever presented to mark a notable theatrical event.

Going to bed to tumble and toss and dream; to pursue in vain the phantom sleep through long weary hours and rise to a new day unrested and unrefreshed. That is the way with many a woman, who is tormented by the aches and pains resulting from female weakness, and other diseases of the delicate organs of woman. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was made to cure just such cases and it does what it was made for. It heals ulceration and inflammation, dries debilitating drains, cures female weakness, strengthens the body, soothes the nerves and enriches the blood. It gives lasting strength for the day and sound sleep for the night.

"For three years I suffered continually," writes Mrs. L. J. Dennis, of 823 East College St., Jacksonville, Ills. "I sought relief among the medical profession and found none, until induced to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When I commenced taking this medicine I weighed ninety-five pounds. It built me up until now I weigh one hundred and fifty-six pounds—more than I ever weighed before. I was so bad I would lie from day to day and long for death to come and relieve my suffering. I had internal inflammation, a disagreeable drain, bearing down pains and such distress every month. But now I never have a pain—do all my own work and am a strong and healthy woman. Thanks to your medicine."

Biliousness is banished by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

MIDDLESEX, ss.

At the Police Court of Newton in the district of Newton, in the County of Middlesex holden at said Newton on the thirteenth day of October, A. D., 1899, Mary Weidemann and Adam Schmaelzle, both of Orange, in the County of New Haven and state of Connecticut, co-partners under the name of M. Weidemann & Co. Plaintiffs, Mary Knoeland, alias Mrs. Frank King, and Frank King, both of said Newton, defendants.

This is an action of contract to recover the sum of $300, alleged to be due to the plaintiffs from the defendants, on the 8th day of September, A. D., 1899, as set forth in the plaintiff's writ of that date. And it appearing to the court, by the suggestion of the plaintiff, and on inspection of the officer's return on the plaintiff's writ, that the defendant is not an inhabitant of this Commonwealth, nor was resident therein at the time of the service of said writ, and that he has no last and usual place of abode, tenant, agent or attorney in this Commonwealth known to the plaintiff or to said officer, and that no personal service of said writ has been made upon the defendant. It is ordered by the court, here, that the plaintiff give notice to the defendants of the pendency of this action, and to appear before said court to be held at Newton in said County on the 2d day of December next, at 9 of the clock in the forenoon, to answer to the same, by causing an attested copy of this order to be published in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper printed in Newton, in said County, once a week, three weeks successively, the last publication to be at least seven days before the said 2nd. day of December next, and that said action be continued until notice shall be given to said defendants agreeably to this order.

—The statement that the five boys who were charged with setting fire to a barn on Oak Hill, on July 4th, were fined $10 each is not true, as the cases were thrown out of court when they came up at East Cambridge last week.

—The active workers in the Epworth League settlement of the Italian quarter in Boston were given a reception, Wednesday evening, by the members of the Epworth League, of the Newton Centre Methodist Episcopal church.

—Mrs. Alvah Hovey was among the large company of guests who attended the reception given by Mrs. Henry F. Durant in Wellesley last week Thursday in honor of Miss Caroline Hazard, the new president of Wellesley College.

—Following is the list of letters remaining in the post office: F. A. Andrews, Frank Clark, Willow street, Geo. N. Clarke, Elsie Cobb, Mrs. William Fessenden, Miss A. Z. Mudon, (or Muelon), Edwin L. Sprague, G. F. Wilcox, attorney at law.

—There was a large gathering of the members of the Unitarian church of this place at the reception given to Rev. and Mrs C. W. Wendte in the church parlors last Monday evening. Rev. and Mrs. Wendte received informally and a collation was served.

—A concert will be given on Tuesday evening at the Methodist church by the Central church choir of Boston, under the direction of Mr. George A. Burnett, assisted by Caroline Gardner Clarke, Katherine M. Ricker, Herbert A. Thayer and Arthur W. Wellington.

—There will be a memorial service at the First church next Sunday morning, in honor of the late pastor emeritus, Dr. D. L. Furber. The pastor will deliver a memorial discourse. The evening service will be the annual Thanksgiving concert with brief addresses and special vocal and instrumental music.

—At the lecture given last Wednesday evening by Rev. E. H Hugnes of Malden, at the Methodist church, Post 62, G. A. R., attended in a body. This was the second of a series of concerts and lectures that are held by the Methodist society. It was largely attended by the people of this village and the Newtons.

—The Newton & Watertown gas light company has lodged a number of complaints with Chief of Police Fred A. Tarbox against the depredations of small boys who persist in breaking the globes of arc and incandescent lights. The chief has instructed his patrolmen to keep a sharp watch and it is probable that summonses will be issued and a number of boys brought before the police court.

—There will be a Thanksgiving service in the First Congregational church, next Sunday evening at half past seven, when the following selections will be given:

Traumerei. Schumann
Violin and Organ.
"The Lost Chord." Sullivan
Cornet, Piano and Organ.
"Ave Maria." Gounod
Soprano, Violin Obligato.
"A Dream of Heaven." Treharne
Alto, Violin Obligato.

Congregational Hymns.

Miss Gonyon and Miss Beale of the choir will be assisted by Mrs. Allan Hubbard, violin, Ralph McLellan, cornet and Wm. Cobb, piano. Wm. I. Howell, organist and director.

—Miss Anna B. Tierney and Mr. James Edward Farrell were married Wednesday afternoon at the rectory of the Church of the Sacred Heart. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George McDermott in the presence of a small company of friends. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Tierney of 1054 Beacon street. She was gowned in white satin trimmed with duchesse lace. Her attendant was Miss Julia Tierney, who wore white organdie over pink. Mr. Joseph Costello was best man. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, where a large number of guests were entertained.

NEWTON HIGHLANDS.

—Miss Virginia Mellen, from college, is at her home on Fisher avenue.

—The Monday club will hold its next meeting with Mrs. Estabrook, Lakewood road.

—Mr. and Mrs. George L. Forristall of Bowdoin street, who have been on a trip to California, have returned.

—The West End Literary Club will meet Monday afternoon, Nov. 27, with Mrs. Blanchard of Dickerman road.

—Rev. Osora Davis of Vermont will occupy the pulpit at the Congregational church next Sunday morning.

—Lawyer Parker, who has occupied a house on Bradford road belonging to Mrs. Holmes, has removed to Longwood.

—Secure your tickets early for the concert by Herbert Johnson's Quintet club, Dec. 14. See advertisement in another column.

—Rev. O. S. Davis of Springfield, Vt., will preach in the Congregational church, next Sunday, at both morning and evening services.

—There will be a union Thanksgiving Day service at the Episcopal church at 10.45. Sermon by the rector, Rev. Clifford G. Twombly.

—The C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. W. S. Richards Monday, Nov. 27. Subject for the afternoon, "National and Municipal Official Life in Paris."

—Mr. Arthur Tarbell, who started for Africa to be a reporter of war news, was not permitted to go farther than England and has now arrived home.

—Rev. T. W. Bishop will preach at the Methodist church next Sunday, both morning and evening. Subject for the evening, "Fooling with the Conscience."

—Mr. F. W. Sweatt, who has occupied a house on Boylston street belonging to Mrs. Edmands, has moved to the double tenement house opposite the postoffice.

—Mr. McCabe, the builder, who bought a house lot of Mr. Draper on Oak terrace, has a house being erected on same, to be completed by early winter, which will be for sale or to let —Mr. C. F. Johnson has moved into the house lately purchased by him of Mr. Frank C. Hyde on Erie avenue, which was formerly the home of the late Mrs. Forristall.

—Mr. Oliver J. Hall, who resides at Newton Centre, and was a clerk at Knapp's, has entered the employ of the S. S. Pierce Co. at Brookline and has taken an apartment in Mr. George Monroe's house on Floral avenue.

—Mr. Charles Clifford Metcalf, who bought the fine new house at "Rockledge," fronting on Centre street, which was owned by the Bass River Savings Bank, has had the grounds graded and the house finishings completed and now occupies it.

—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Winsor, who have been the guests of Mrs. E. Thompson, of Hartford street, a sister of Mrs. Winsor, and have been residing at Auburndale the past year, will soon return to their missionary field in India, where they have been for 30 years.

At the housewarming given recently by Miss E. E. Page, in her new studio, 384a Boylston street she received many congratulations not only for her attractive studio, but for the fine location, which is very accessible. All lines of cars not only pass but stop at the door, which is the second station south of the subway. Among the many pieces of choice china, perhaps the most admired were two large punch bowls on standards which were orders for wedding gifts, and decorated with grapes in their rich colorings. The edges of the bowls being finished with gold in a rococo design. Miss Page goes this next week to Keramic Club exhibition of N. Y., at Waldorf hotel.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—The young people of the village are actively planning for an entertainment to be held in Wade hall, Thursday, Dec. 7. It will be given for the benefit of the Wade school picture fund and will undoubtedly be liberally patronized.

—For greater convenience to my patrons I desire to announce that all calls for my services may be left with Mr. John W. Howe, High street, who will forward them to me with the greatest possible dispatch. Respectfully, HENRY F. CATE.

—The Pierian Club met this week with Mrs. L. P. Everett. Ten members were present, and a very enjoyable hour was spent with papers on Rome, the Forum, Colosseum, Palatine Hills and St. Peter's. Next week being Thanksgiving week, the club meeting will be omitted.

—There was a well attended public meeting held last evening, of those interested in the new free reading room in this village. The matter was informally discussed, after which the membership fee of $1 was received from a large number. The finance committee will hold an important meeting Dec. 6, after which the plans for new quarters will be announced.

Hunnewell Club.

The first "ladies matinee", of the winter social season at the Hunnewell Club took place yesterday afternoon and was attended by about 200 prominent Newton women. The affair took the form of a piano recital given by Mr. Heinrich Gebhard whose artistic playing was enthusiastically received.

The assembly hall was tastefully decorated with a profusion of chrysanthemums, palms and potted plants. The hostessess were Mrs. C. W. Loring, Mrs. H. G. Downing, Mrs. W. L. Lowell and Mrs. A. B. Turner. The recital was followed by a Russian tea.

The bowling tournament has opened and the bowling alleys are now the centre of attraction. Wednesday night the first matches were played. Team 6 won over team 5 by a total score of 2131 to 2001. Team 8 beat team 7 by score of 2033 to 1914. Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights are reserved for the team matches.

NEWTON.

—Mr. A. G. Sargent has returned from an extended stay at Sargentville, Me.

—Mr. William E. McDonald of Howes market is ill this week at his home on Boyd street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Plympton Spaulding have sent out cards for a series of at homes on Thursdays, Nov. 23d, Dec. 7th and 14th, from 4 to 7 o'clock, at "The Westland," Westland avenue, Boston.

—Mr. Frederick Sanford Calhoun of New Haven, Conn., died early yesterday morning at the home of Mr. A. F. Weed on Park street, where he was visiting. Mr. Calhoun was 37 years old, and a native of New Haven. In that city he was a successful merchant, but had been in poor health for some months.

—Armory hall was well filled Wednesday evening, by prominent Newton and Watertown people at a vaudeville entertainment and dance, given under the auspices of the Ladies' Charity Club. The proceeds, which were unusually satisfactory, will be added to funds for the help of the sick poor of Newton, and will also be contributed in part to the support of the free home for consumptives in Dorchester. The performance was of a pleasing character, and the large number of entertainers who contributed to the program were heartily applauded.

Built for Four.

Mr. Stanley has come out this week with a two-seated motor wagon, to carry four people, the first one made by the Locomobile company. It is fitted up with the same engine as the more familiar one seated wagor, but the power is ample for any of the hills about Newton even when filled with four heavy men, as it was on one of the trial trips. The engine perhaps puffed a little more than usual, but that was the only difference perceived from running on the level. There is possibly more evenness than in the smaller wagons, as the two seater is heavier and built to carry greater weight, but the speed the wagon is capable of is the same, and there is the same perfect control in turning corners or descending hills. Some fifty of these two seaters are now being built to fill orders and the one that has appeared on the street has attracted much attention from those who wish a family carriage.

whose funeral services Friday, Nov. 10th, were held at Grace church, was born in Boston, Nov. 4, 1835, and died at Newton, Nov. 8, 1899.

Mr. Page came with his parents to Newton, now Newtonville, at 7 years of age, 1842. This was several years previous to that section of the town attaining the dignity of a village. "Hull's Crossing," where Walnut street crosses the railroad, remained a flag station until 1848 or 9.

When the writer entered the model department of the State Normal school as its principal, April 12, 1848, he was met by 18 pupils, boys and girls, ranging in age from 8 to 16 years. Among these was Edward Page, a handsome lad twelve and a half years old, who, with his brother George, walked from their home on Watertown street, corner of Crafts, to and from school during the four or five years of his attendance. Edward's frank, cheery countenance was then as it continued to the last, a recommendation and a welcome introduction to all with whom he came in contact.

It has never been the writer's experience to have a more truthful lad among the thousands of his pupils, or one who more despised deception or meanness in any form than Edward. At once it was seen that whoever transgressed in the above, Edward was not involved. As with the boy, so with his maturity, "The child was father to the man." Edward came of noble parentage. Those few now among us, who remember the elder Edward Page and his wife, will testify to the "Royal Twain" whose high character and influence were for the good and true. They formed the nucleus and united in founding Newton's first Unitarian society at West Newton. Thus Edward came into a rich inheritance and of the quality which endures, high character.

He continued under the same instructor during the remainder of his school going years, developing uncommon ability in mathematics. This was recognized at once, which, with his excellent character, caused rapid promotion when he entered upon a mercantile career. He was a member of his teacher's Sunday school class. His enquiring mind and love of the absolute truth, caused him to question certain historical legends in the old testament, "Jonah and the Whale," "The Herculean doings of Sampson" and others, which the "New Theology" renders more amenable to reason. Few of those who have merely seen this almost totally blind man as he was led about the streets of Newton, could fail to recognize the gentleman, while those who spoke with him and listened to his pleasant, kindly, yet slightly plaintive tones of voice, needed no further evidence of his manly, Christian character. I deem myself fortunate in counting Edward Page among my honored friends during the past half century. His life was a continued influence for good in this community, among all with whom he came in contact. He is removed from earthly vision, but his spirit remains to cheer, comfort and bless his friends, and above all his loved and loving children. NATH'L T. ALLEN.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

To G. Fred Crosby, the supposed owner of the equity, and any and all persons interested in the property herein described:

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by said G. Fred Crosby to Willard W. Estabrook, dated October 11th, 1898, and recorded in Middlesex (So. Dist.) Registry of Deeds, book 2690, page 529, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction the premises hereinafter described (being the mortgaged premises) on Saturday, December 23d, A. D., 1899, at 10 o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage, namely: A certain parcel of land situated on Woodward street in that part of Newton, in the County of Middlesex, being lot marked "B," on E. S. Smilie's plan of land belonging to Selena Crosby, dated April 7th, 1898, recorded with said Middlesex (So. Dist.) Deeds end of Libro 2646, and bounded:—Beginning at a point in the northeasterly line of said Woodward street at land now or late of Robertson, thence running northeasterly by said land now or late of Robertson by a fence ninety-two (92) feet to land now or late of Colburn, thence nearly northerly by said land now or late of Colburn ten (10) feet, thence northwesterly by lot marked "A" on said plan fifty-six and 77,100 (56,77) feet, thence nearly westerly by said lot "A" fifty one and 5-10 (51.5) feet to said Woodward street, thence southeasterly by said Woodward street fifty-three (73) feet to the point of beginning, containing 3611 square feet more or less. With all the rights, privileges and appurtenances belonging to said estate, and being the same premises described in said mortgage deed.

The said premises will be sold subject to a first mortgage of $300, held by the Boston Five Cent Saving Bank, to all unpaid taxes and assessments and restrictions of record.
